Germany Extends the Embargo to American Dried Apples.

FIGHT AGAINST MEAT PRODUCTS

Clearly Explained by the Agricultural Department.

WASHINGTON, March 1 .- Consul Warner eports to the state department that an order has just been issued by the authorities of Cologne and published in the local papers warning the people against the eating of American dried apple slices. It says that large quantities of such ap-ple slices, chiefly of American origin, are offered for sale which contain a larger or smaller amount of zinc. Of 13 samples, 11 contained zinc. The order further says that the Americans dry their fruit on zinc netting, instead of on wooden racks as in Continuing, the mayor's proclamation says: "I therefore feel obliged to give strict warning against the sale and eating of American dried apple slices, and make notice to those offering such article for sale that they will be proceeded against in accordance with the imperial law regula-ting the trade in food and food products." According to German statistics, there were imported from the United States in 893 2968 tons, and in 1894 2133 tons of

Export American beef is of such a high quality that a parliamentary committee in England, in the year 1893, reported that in ome of the most fashionable and aristo cratic markets of London it was frequently sold as "prime Scotch and English meat." In fact, the committee said that in some of the large meat selling establishments in the aristocratic West End of London there was practically no other than American meat sold. Yet it was called "English"

The prices of American dressed beef per 100 pounds at the central meat markét of London on Dec. 31, 1894, were as follows: American beef, killed in England, $10.121/2 to $10.871/2; refrigerated American beef, $11.121/2 to $12.121/2 for hind quarters; for fore quarters, $7.50 to $8.

The United Kingdom of Great Britain 1894 305,910 beef cattle from the United States, and paid $26,500,000 for the same. During the same year Great Britain took 243,824,000 pounds of bacon from the United States at a valuation of $25,800,000. For the nine months ending Sept. 30, 1894, the United States exported into the Kingdom of Great Britain 222,676,000 pounds of bacon, as against 179,000,000 pounds during the corresponding months of 1893. Thus it is observed that the acon trade between the United States and Great Britain was increased about 45,-

000,000 pounds during the year 1894. But during the year 1894 Germany took from the United States, altogether, of live cattle up to the close of Dec. 31, only 6198 lead. Belgium took during the same period of live cattle 4633 head, while France consumed of American cattle, in the same period, 13,441 head. From Jan. 1, 1895, to Feb. 19, 1895, the date of the last report made to the United States department of agriculture, France had taken 1335 head of American live

During the calendar year 1894 France ook of American beef, salted and canned, .763.379 pounds, at a valuation of $621.682. During the same period, of the same kind f beef, Germany took $992,757 worth. During the six months ending Dec. 31 Germany took of pork products 9,431,535 pounds, and France received from the United States of the same products in the same time 8,903,704 pounds. Can't Be Beat. The meat producers of the United States send only the very best grades of live cattle and dressed and cured meats to the European market. American dealers expect to hold the market against all comers by offering the best, most wholesome and desirable meats which careful feeding, skilled slaughtering and scientific preserving can produce.

It is claimed by the United States international dealers in meats that all the hue and cry against the edibleness of American meats, and all the charges against the sanitary conditions of American live cattle sent abroad, are inspired by the landowning protectionists of Germany and

They desire, it is said, to make cattle and meat higher in the German and after three weeks' endeavor to do so. French markets by making cattle and beef scarcer. The scarcity is brought about by excluding, for alleged sanitary reasons, the American cattle and meat products. It is not claimed, however, by protectionists in Germany, as it is by protectionists in the United States, that making things scarcer will make them cheaper.

The herds of cattle and swine, in fact all the domestic animals of the United States, are in splendid sanitary condition. There has not been a case of pleuro-pneumonia in any of the United States or territories during the last three years. There is no contagious, infectious or communi cable disease now prevalent among the domestic animals in any state or territory of the American Union. There has not been, and there will not be, shipped to any European port any animal, or the product of any animal, which | winds. has not been inspected and declared healthy, wholesome and edible. The United States will continue to furnish all meatless Europe with the best and cheap-est pork and beef in the world.

Marquis and Marquise de Castellane, Miss Gould, Miss Anna Gould and Mrs. Kingdon recognized the arrival of the Lenten season by attending church. With the exception of the dinner to be given by Mrs. George J. Gould and a "dove" luncheon for the bridesmaids there are no social functions before the wedding day.

This, in itself, however, would be enough to drive three or four families frantic. It is estimated that the wedding will cost something like $40,000 for flowers and the luncheon alone, and Tiffany already has about $70,000 worth of orders for wedding gifts.

One thing has been defin'tely settled, and that is that despite the much younted

LONDON, March 1 .- The correspondent of The Daily Graphic at Tiffis has gathered and sent to that paper full details of the recent massacre of Armenians by Turks and Kurds. His story, which was ob-tained from Armenian refugees, confirms the worst details of the outrages, incluiing the statement concerning the pit in the village of Djellegoozan.

The correspondent declares that 100 men, women and children were bayoneted by the Turks and their bodies thrown into the pit. Many of the victims were still alive when they were cast in, but they were buried with the dead. The correspondent then tells of the later attempt to destroy the damnable evidence of the pit; how the Turks poured petroleum o the festering mass and then set fire to it, and how when this failed they diverted a mountain stream to wash away the traces of their crime.

"SENATORIAL COURTESY."

Hill, Chandler and Martin Chief Actors In a Sensational Scene,

WASHINGTON, March 1. - The senate chamber was the scene of an extraordinary demonstration at the night session last night, beginning with sensational speeches and ending with an exchange of personal epithets almost without parallel in the nistory of the senate.

Mr. Chandler personally arraigned many Democratic senators. Mr. Hill responded, characterizing Mr. Chandler as a hyena for having dug up the private records of Senator Roach.

Mr. Martin, who had been attacked by Mr. Chandler, replied with intense bitterness, characterizing Mr. Chandler as a buzzard, and declaring that if half wa true that was said against him he should be in the penitentiary instead of the United States senate.

At times there were great confusion and excitement in the galleries. The mingled confusion, debate and excitement on the floor of the senate and in the galleries lasted until 12:25 this morning, when the senate adjourned after passing the diplomatic, legislative and judicial appropria-

The house, by a vote of 115 to 150, de cided to further insist on its disagreement to the senate amendment to the consular and diplomatic appropriation providing for the Hawaiian cables.

Wide Field Before Him. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 1 .- John L Sullivan and the members of his party have left for New York after having been in Jacksonville a week. His "True American" company has disbanded and his trunks are in possession of the sheriff Sullivan has no definite plans for the future. He has received numerous propo sitions, ranging from posing as a dreadfu example in temperance lectures to steer ing an air ship.

A Protracted Voyage. NEW YORK, March 1 .- Schooner Garrett P. Wright sailed originally from Jaemel on Nov. 21. On Dec. 1 the vessel sprung leak and was obliged to put into Fortune island, where the cargo was discharged The vessel then proceeded to Nassau, and after making the necessary repairs returned to Fortune island, reloaded her cargo and resumed the voyage to this port, arriving yesterday.

Grant Statue Rejected, WASHINGTON, March 1 .- The joint li

brary committee of the house and senate decided by unanimous vote to reject the statue of General Grant presented some weeks ago to the government by the Grand Army. It was decided that the statue was not a correct representation of General Grant. It was proposed to place the statue in the main hall of the Capitol building.

Show That They Are Not Altogether Unpopular.

SAVANNAH, March 1 .- Yesterday was another day of intense excitement in Saunders, was totally blind. Savannah. Feeling seems to run high, but there were no hostilities of any kind. In the afternoon Mrs. Slattery lectured to 600 women in Odd Fellows' hall. She and her husband were escorted to the hall by officers. Many of the ladies at the lecture were escorted to the hall by their husbands. Police were stationed in the square on which the hall fronts and the treets. No one was allowed to loiter about the building.

Toward the close of the lecture crowds collected in the streets, and Slattery and his wife were followed to their hotel by bank. The men were without known relhundreds.

Last night Odd Fellows' hall was crowded to its limit, and many were turned away. It is said that a large proportion were armed. Outside men were heard saying that they were ready for a mob. The entire police force, with the exception of a few men scattered through the audience, were distributed so as to command the entire vicinity of the hall. The police kept continually on the move, and no crowd was allowed to congregate near the building.

An Ovation Tendered Slattery. Inside the hall there was a scene of enthusiasm. Slattery received an ovation. and throughout his lecture was applauded and cheered when he declared that the riot of Tuesday night had shown the necessity of Protestant organizations. Th wild cheering lasted several minutes, and was vigorously resumed when he said: "Get the A. P. A. or the Junior Order of will have no more such demonstrations against free speech. MOON'S PHASES. Parist 4 7:40 | G Third 18 0:32 Full 10 10:38 New 26 5:25 moon 26 a.m. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 3. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-Spiritual death and spiritual life.v. iii, 1-3, 7-13, 20-22.

Spiritual death and spiritual life are actually represented in the references from God's word to illustrate the topic. The importance of the topic as well as its solemnity can be clearly seen. Spiritual death! What a solemn thought that there can be such a thing; that the soul may die to the duties it owes to God and to the blessings that it receives from God in Christ! Spiritual life! What a joyous, happy thought that the soul may live in vital connection with Jesus Christ, as the branch to the vine, and may receive life from Him. Spiritnal death should be earnestly shunned, while spiritual life should be anxiously desired and sought.

1. Spiritual death (Rev. iii, 1.3). Death is here represented in the church of Sardis. "Thou hast a name to live, but thou art dead." Sardis was one of the churches that received unmixed reproof. It received no praise at all. It was spiritually dead. It had not always been so, for Christ reminds it of a better condition in times past. Nor was it necessary at this time. Spiritual death in church or individual is a sad condition. It is unnecessary, unnatural, is dishonoring to Christ and to ourselves, fell in with the disabled four-masted bark and a stumbling block in the way of many who might by a better example be led to a better life. But there is pointed out in connection with Sardis the things that may be done to bring us back again to a state of life. 1. Be watchful. Guard carefully against continuing further into the state of deadness. 2. Strengthen hopeless. Some even in Sardis had not succumbed to the general spiritual apathy, and some works were not entirely dead. These men to be strengthened and others would rise around them. 3. Remember the past. Recall better days that you may earnestly covet them again. 4. Repent. Turn from evil. Turn back to God. But Sardis disregarded these injunctions, and her candlestick was removed. Let us be warned by her fate against her example.

2. Spiritual life (Rev. iii, 7-13). This phia. We know less of the church of Philadelphia than some of the other seven, and yet we love it. It was alive. It did its duty faithfully and well. Christ had no reproof for it at all. It had strength. It was trusty. It had been faithful. It had not denied the name of Christ. It had trouble with those who claimed to be Jews, and yet were not, but it had been patient and loyal to Christ. It was abundantly fewarded. Its enemies were to be humiliated before them. It was to be kept in time of temptation, and these promises were crowned by one of the noblest pledges to him that overcometh in verse 12. These are the characteristics of spiritual life, ecclesiastical or personal, and some of their rewards. They are open to all and free to all. No one need be spiritually dead. Life is offered to all. "Behold I stand at the door and knock, and if any man hear My voice and open the door I will come in and sup with him, and I will come in and sup with him, and he with Me" (verse 20). If we let Christ in the church or heart, we may have life. To exclude Him means spiritual

The Christian's Hope.

The imagination will sometimes fly up to God with such a power that eagle's wings cannot match it. It some times has such might that it can all most see the King in His beauty and the land which is very far off. But if it is potent one way it is another, for imagi nation has taken us down to the lowest planes of earth. But I rejoice and think of one thing-that I can cry out when this imagination comes upon me. So it is with the Christian. If he cries out, there is hope. Can you chain your imagination? No, but the power of the Holy Ghost can. - Christian Work.

A degree of importance is to be at tached to Endeavor methods. The plans under which Endeavor work is conduct ed are not all equally wise and effi cient. Some effort should be made to become acquainted with and to adop the best methods. But more important than this, more essential to success, i the possession of the Endeavor spirit If we are animated by the affection and motives of the true Endeavorer. the ordinary methods will be invested with great efficiency, and a great work will be accomplished. - National Presbyterian.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address, F. J. Ghosts.

When the brilliant hues of the sunset fade Into amber and pale gold, When the wren and the robin sleep in the glade And the shepherd shuts his fold, When the lamps are lit in the deep blue skies
And toil of the day is done—
Pale, haunting ghosts of the past arise
From the shadows one by one.

The ghost of the words we did not say In the days forever fled Comes out of the shadows dim and gray, And the ghost of the words we said of the cruel word, of the bitter word, Of the word of blame or scorn, That was keen as the point of a warrior's sword On a fatefel battle morn

The ghosts of the woes of age and youth That we passed unheeding by; Of the griefs we did not ask to soothe, Of the tears we did not dry; Of the ills of which we took no heed, Of the grievous wrongs unfought-

Come with that of many a churlish deed

Or of good deed left unwrought. They cluster round us, these phantom shades These ghosts of the days of old, As the cheerful glow of the daylight fades
In the twilight dim and cold.
And in vain we mean, and in vain we weep, And we may not from them hide:

Closer and closer these shadows creep
In the twilights to our side.

AGREED TO DISAGEEE

The General Disposition Shown by the Senate and House.

A REVIEW OF WHAT WAS DONE

At the Session of Congress Now About to Close.

WASHINGTON, March 2.- A review of the work of this last session of the Fiftythird congress must necessarily deal more with what was attempted to be done than that which was accomplished, since most of the important business considered has been relegated to the first class. The term has been particularly marked by the inability of the senate and the house to agree upon many of the most important problems presented to them.

Much more legislation was passed by the house of representatives than by the senate, because the rules of the house provide machinery for compelling a vote which disposes of bills in one way or another, while the traditions of the senate as a deliberate body permit interminable disussion and delay.

While the Democratic party mustered a large working majority in the house, its majority in the senate was, in the beginning, a very narrow margin, and gradually was overcome by the election of Republicans from four western states which had been represented by but one senator each on account of deadlocked legislatures two years before, and the seating of other Republicans to succeed Democrats. Congressmen met on Dec. 4 last, with one imperative and perennial task, to frame and enact the various appropriation bills without which the wheels of the government would be somewhat in the plight of the earth if the sun were to be extinguished. Next in importance was the financial question, for which no definite plan of settlement, beyond many free silver bills and various individual schemes, was then in view.

The Hold-Overs. Several important bills came over as a heritage from the preceding session, each backed by earnest advocates, which were in expectation to be inevitably voted upon. Fore nost among them were, in the house, the Nicaragua canal bill, the railroad pooling bill and the bill for a settle-ment of the indebtedness of the Union Pacific railroads, known as the Reilly bill. Several important bills were placed on the calendar of the senate at the beginning of the term, handed down from the ong session, when they had been passed by the house. Prominent among them was the bill to establish a uniform system of bankruptcy, but it was finally sidetracked. Another unsuccessful measure was the anti-option bill. There were also on the senate calendar taken at haphazard, and certainly can the four bills which the house had sent improve a homely one if bought with over on the day before the preceding adtaste and skill. Black, brown, white journment, when it accepted the senate and navy blue veils are all worn, but amendments to the tariff act-the bills to place on the free list sugar, coal, iron and barbed wire-but they have all passed into oblivion.

Of the three bills to confer statehood on the territories of New Mexico, Arizona with faint colored eyes and hair. Black and Oklahoma, neither of them have been goes with all hats and is very fashion- advanced beyond their positions at the be-

The most interesting chapter of the hiswearer has a modicum of color she can tory of the session is made by the attempts New York, New Haven get along with it, provided she uses at financial legislation in both houses. When congress met it was known that | other class Secretary Carlisle had been consulting with the president upon a scheme for reforming the currency and the national banking system. On Dec. 11 Representative Springer introduced a bill which contained the secretary's plan and which of New Orleans is made up of colored came to be known as the "administra-women, who have thus banded themselves together for the purpose of im- vote, for after a warm debate the house, proving the condition of the sisters of on Jan. 9, by a vote of 162 to 135, declined their race. The membership already in. to adopt a rule proposed by the committee cludes 45 women, who are very intelli- on rules to fix a time for a vote, and the hill was withdrawn.

Its withdrawal was followed by a message from the president explaining the dangers which beset the treasury, and asking congress to authorize the secretary of recommendations of the message. The sentative Reed offered a substitute and to train young colored girls for teachers. lisle bill, received the support of a large faction of the Democrats. The Springer bill was defeated on a motion for its third reading-162 to 135.

The Bond Issue.

Next came the president's message detailing the contract made with a syndicate for a bond issue and asking the authority of congress to make the bonds payable in gold instead of coin. Representative Wilson assumed the financial leadership. The ways and means committee reported a resolution to authorize an issue of $65,116,-275 3 per cent gold bonds payable in 30 years, with the stipulation that the proceeds of the issue should not be used to de-Feb. 18 she spoke the five-masted schooner fray current expenses of the government, Governor Ames, and hove to. The Ames but this resolution, after one day of debate had lost her foresail, and she was under in the house, was beaten Feb. 14 by a vote storm sails, but otherwise appeared all of 167 to 120, almost one-half of the Demright, as she made no signals for assist- ocrats and one-third of the Republicans, in round numbers, voting for a third read-

Subsequent dealings with the financial question are matters of very recent history. No financial legislation had yet reduring the session with more or less weight of authority behind them. The ouse committee on coinage, of which Representative Bland, the free silver advocate, was chairman, was nearly equally divided on the financial question, so that killing of two railroad men in this city last it reported but one bill to the house, that to provide for coinage at the branch mint at Denver, which became a law.

Appropriation Bills.

The principal class of legislation accomplished by the short session was that making appropriations for the support of the government. Not a little general legislation was incorporated into the appro-priation bills, and the efforts to engraft amendments upon them increased as the threatened. These bills, in the order in which they were passed by the house, were: For the tion and many measures to change the consular, District of Columbia, pestal, agricultural, Indian, sundry civil, legislative, executive and judicial, naval and general deficiency. When the last week of cangress began, the house had passed all except the general deficiency, and the senate had the last four yet to consider.

The pension bill, as enacted, contained provisions that pensions shall not be paid to non-residents who are not citizens of the United States, except for actual disabilities incurred in the service, directing examining surgeons to state the ratings to which they think the applicants are entitled, and fixing the lowest rate of pension at $6 a month.

The diplomatic and consular bill increased the salaries of several foreign representatives, and the senate placed in it an amendment authorizing the president to contract for laying a cable between the Hawaiian Islands and the United States, on amendment which the house refused to scept and which brought on a deadlock between the conferrees of the two bodies. The postal bill was so amended by the senate that it practically nullified a recent order by the postmaster general that railway mail clerks should reside on the line of the route to which they were assigned. Cattle Inspection.

The agricultural bill empowered the secretary of agriculture to enforce rules for the inspection of live cattle whose meat is intended for shipment abroad in any form, and regulations to prevent the shipment of condemned carcasses abroad or from one state to another, and fixed heavy penalties for violation of such regulations. It also authorized the president to direct correspondence with Great Britain to secure the abrogation of regulations compelling the slaughter at the ports of entry of all cattle shipped to that

The Indian bill provided for opening the lands of the Wichita Indians in Oklahoma to settlement, and directed that the claims of the Choctaw and Chickasaw Indians to the lands be submitted to the court of claims within 90 days.

Considerable legislation was included in the sundry civil bill. The completion of several public buildings was provided for in the bill. Provision was included for several new lighthouses; for a revenue steamer, to cost $125,000, for use on the Pacific coast, and for a payment of $5000 to the heirs of each of the 21 victims of the Ford's theater disaster. A senate amendment to the bill, which is not likely to succeed, authorizes the secretary of the treasury to issue certificates of indebtedness to meet current expenditures to the all bonds shall be offered to the public and sold to the highest bidder.

The principal legislative provisions in the legislative bill were for securing uniformity and safety in the bonds of United States officials.

The New Navy. The naval bill was notable because of the "new navy" provision for three battleships and 12 torpedo boats, and the increase of the enlisted force by the addition of 2000 men. The general deficiency bill reported to the house amounted to $6,519,589. An amendment requested by the secretary of state to pay the claims of Great Britain in Behring sea was voted down by the Three other deficiency bills were passed in this session—a printing bill for $100,000, enacted Dec. 24; a bill for $400,000 for completing the 11th census. Dec. 24, and one for general deficiencies, enacted Jan. 25.

The most conspicuous personal legisla-tion passed was the revival of she grade of lieutenant general of the army that Major the rank as a recognition of his services. Perhaps more bills pertaining to public land laws were introduced than of any

The house adopted a joint resolution or an amendment to the constitution providing for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people of the states, but the resolution was reported adversely by a senate committee. Among other house bills that were not acted upon by the senate was one to define the crimes it seems that when a tenement house is of murder in the first and second degrees, manslaughter, rape, mutiny and desertion, the present laws, kept in good repair and to abolish the death penalty for other crimes. There were several ineffectual efforts in both houses to amend the last tariff act for the correction of errors and to change rates, but the only legislation affecting the tariff act was a resolution to extend to April 15 the time for making returns to the inter-rogatories regarding liability under the ncome tax sections, and modifying the questions required to be answered.

HELL'S OWN ACRES.

THEM ARE THE TENEMENT HOUSES OF NEW YORK.

A District the Most Densely Populated I the World-Ramshackle Property That Pays Nine Per Cent-Items From the Report of the Commission.

The tenement house commission found that New York, below the Harlem, has a greater density per acre than any city in the world-namely, 143.2 an acre. Paris comes next with 125.2 an acre. The district bounded by Second, Columbia, Rivington and Clinton streets and Avenue B had on June 1, 1894, 476 6 persons to every one of its 32 acres.

The evils of overcrowding, the report says, are such as keeping children up and out of doors until midnight in the warm weather, making cleanliness difficult, filling the air with unwholesome emanations and foul odors, producing a condition of nervous tension, interfering with the separateness and sacredness of home life, leading to the promiscuous mixing of all ages and sexes in a single room, thus breaking down the barriers of modesty and conducing to the corruption of the young and occa sionally to revolting crimes.

The "double decker" tenement is call ed "the one hopeless form of tenemen house construction." It cannot be well lighted, it cannot be well ventilated, and even the High street houses in Edinburgh, constructed centuries ago, are not so bad. Under the head of danger from fires the report says:

"In the year ending June 30, 1894, there were 2,415 tenement house fires, involving a loss of $608, 784, and in that time 15 occupants were killed outright and 72 injured. It is a startling fact that while less than one-third of the buildings in New York are tenement houses among them occur annually more than one-half of the fires."

The report says nothing about Trinity's tenements, but the description in this passage seems to fit them closely.

"It is a well known fact that hur an dwellings, by prolonged occupation, become so saturated with the bodily emaamount of $100,000,000, and provides that nations of those who have lived in them. sick and well, as to be less healthy than newer houses. This result of prolonged human occupancy is made worse in this city by the rapidity with which the character of the population in the lower parts of the city has changed, and the fact that houses built as private dwellings are not fitted to serve as tenements, either in respect to light, ventilation, water supply, privacy or facilities for cleanliness.

As to rear tenements the report says: "The most cursory examination shows that the death rates are very high where there are rear tenements, running up to for $425,000 damages for seizures of sealers 61.97-an enormous death rate-in the old First ward, and being 27.66 for the entire city against 22.21 for the single tenements. If we take the death rate of children as a test, the rear tenements show themselves to be veritable slaughter houses."

After referring to the necessity of parks the report says: "It is evident that an emergency exists which must be General Schofield might be promoted to met by prompt and thorough action. The St. John's Cemetery park contains 1.72 acres, the Mulberry Bend park, 2.74 acres, and the East River Exten sion park 8.6 acres, altogether 13.06 acres. "There is an area in this same district containing 711 acres, which is 750 feet distant from either river and 500 feet from any existing, constructing or proposed park. Yet it is the home of about 324.000 people.

"This is nearly one-sixth of the total estimated population of New York on signal and beacon on the Kennebec river July 1, 1894 and much more than the in Maine. American registers were granted to the steamers Claribel, Athos of either Cincinnati or San Francisco and Empress, the barks Linda and Archer as given by the census of 1890. roach of the close of the congress mani-sted itself Saturday in crowded senate to do, since it had authorized further nego-tiations. The absence of the United States fested itself Saturday in crowded senate galleries, eager claimants about the corridors and the bustle and confusion of important measures hurriedly handled. The senate worked industriously throughout the day, and although the naval appropriation bill invited flights of oratory on our new navy, the demands of time reduced this to a minimum and made rapid progréss possible. It was kept steadily before the senate throughout the day and again at the night session, with

At the outset of the naval bill an effort was made to defeat the plan of reduction made by the appropriation committee, by which the house bill was cut about $2,600,000 and the number of battleships reduced from three to two.

After a sharp debate, in which the needs of a strong navy were discussed, the navy was sustained. The speech of Mr. Hill was notable in urging that the United States had won her greatest achievements without a navy aid-usually by diplomacy and reason instead of "cannon balls and

To Long Terms of Imprisonment and Heavy Fines.

Honolulu, Feb. 23 .- While the govern ment has easily put down the revolt, i does not take the most hopeful view o the situation. This is due, to some extent, to the excitement of the moment. President Dole and his cabinet are disposed to adopt a most lenient policy toward those captured in arms and those suspected of sympathy with them.

But they are urged by those who have much at stake here and desire to remain to use severe measures in order to prevent another revolt. The natives have shown no fighting qualities. Of the 700 men called out by Nowlein, the military leader of the revolt, only about 125 responded. It now appears that the revolt was planned by white men-Gulick, Seward and Rickard; that the money for guns was furnished by white men in San Francisco; that the vessel which brought then was owned by white men; that white men went out in a steamer and landed the guns, and that two half-whites were the chief commanders of the insurrection. Even the absolute abdication of the exqueen does not settle matters. The natives are thriftless, and in the present commercial depression are suffering to some extent, as they have no earnings

Guilt Clearly Established.

It was not difficult to show knowledge of the revolt on the ex-queen's part. In her majesty's diary, now in possession of cided to ask the cortes for an unlimited the government, is to be found very curious and definite information about the revolution of Jan. 9, 1893.

The attitude of the British sioner, Hawes, toward the British subjects who were involved in the revolt is very satisfactory to the government, as he tells them that if they have got them selves into trouble he will not help them? and he knows they are having a fair trial Mr. Willis, the American minister, is also disposed to aid the government. The evidence in the treason case is clear.

A number of sentences were and today. Among them were those of Robert Wilcox, W. T. Seward, W. H. Rickard and Charles T. Gulick. They were the four leading ploters. Each man is sentenced to serve 35 years and to pay a fine of $10,000. These four mer the Transvaal and Great Britain. This means that no capital punishment will be inflicted on the leaders of the rebellion It appears that the president has been of posed to excutions, and his feelings wer shared by members of the cabinet. The other sentences are: Thomas Walk er, 30 years and a fine of $5000; Car Japanese lost 98 killed or wounded and two were fined $10,000 each. James C. on the Japanese lines at Hai-Cheng was $5000; Samuel Nowlein and Henry Bertle man, two of the prominent leaders, have been allowed their liberty. A TOTAL WRECK.

Steamer Tenetian Split In Two on Ledge In Boston Harbor.

Boston, March 4 - The British steamer Venetian, of the Furness line, Captain Farrington, from Boston to Liverpool, which struck on "Lower Middle" ledge Saturday afternoon, broke her back yes terday and is a total wreck. Two of her erew were badly burned by the bursting of a steampipe as a result of the force of the blow when the steamer struck, and 21 head of cattle and a number of sheep were scalded to death in the same way.

The financial loss is estimated at $500,-000. The Venetian left her dock at Charlestown Saturday afternoon with 643 head of cattle, 883 sheep and 16,000 bushels of grain, besides a large quantity of beef, hay, bacon and lard as cargo.

She was in charge of Captain George Lawler of pilot boat No. 5. At 5 o'clock, while proceeding in a heavy fog and snow storm, the steamer struck with tremendous force on State ledge, at that point known as "Lower Middle," which is situated between buoys 8 and 10 in the upper harbor. The Venetian has been abandoned to the underwriters. Her cost when built was $300,000. The value of the cargo is estimated at nearly $15,000. Result of a Drunken Brawl.

LYNN, March 4.-William Gaffney, who was assaulted in a barber shop here Saturday night, is in a precarious condition. His assailant, William Trainer, was arrested. The men were both under the influence of liquor. Gaffney struck Trainer over the head with a bottle and ran into the street. Trainer followed with a razor. The two men met again in the street and clinched. Gaffney threw Trainer and fell on top of him. Trainer used the razor with terrible effect.

Two Against One, Boston, March 4.-Michaelo Salerno was probably fatally stabbed by Vittorio Descia and Berrardini di Nardi, both Italians, Saturday. All three had been drink-ing and quarrelled. Descia held Salerno's hands behind his back while Di Nardi inflicted two serious knife wounds in the abdomen. Both Di Nardi and Descia were arrested.

Farmers Will Shoot. ROWLEY, Mass., March 4.-A gang of ramps have caused a reign of terror among the farmers in this vicinity by bold raids on sheep folds and chicken coops. The gang have been encamped in an old barn on the Georgetown road. The farmers are arming themselves, and say they will shoot to kill if the depredations continue. Grows Worse and Worse. CITY OF MEXICO, March 4.—The railway accident is far worse than first reports indicated. At least 130 bodies have been recovered from the wreck and many still remain embedded in the debris. In nu-

The recent agitation over the enforcement of the liquor laws caused a rousing rally at East Weymouth on Sunday night. There were addresses by Rev. John H. MacDonald, Rev. M. E. Bagley, Rev. Daniel Evans, and H. H. Faxon. Mr. Faxon's remarks are given in full:

"The importance of stirring up public sentiment occasionally has been fully demonstrated by the results secured through the recent agitation in your midst, and in which Rev. Mr. MacDonald was the leading spirit. Let us briefly consider some of the things that have been accomplished by this movement?

First,-Mr. MacDonald has gained experience that could not have been obtained in any other way.

Second,-It has been an educator to Third,-The judge bas received fresh light upon several matters through this instrumentality. Fourth,-Janitor Furnald has been reminded that the court records are not his personal property, although he thought he knew it all.

Fifth,-The editor of the Weymouth Gazette has been given the opportunity to let the public know he is neither dead nor sleeping,

Sixth,-Selectman Gardner has awak-

ned from his Rip Van Winkle slumber, and is struggling for a new lease of life. Seventh,-I have secured many points of interest which I did not possess before. And last, but not least, the citizens of Weymouth have been so aroused from the redemption of the place."

THE HORRORS OF PRISON LIFE.

(Copyrighted, 1895.)

LONDON, March 4.-The correspondent who was sent to Armenia with instructions to thoroughly investigate stories told of Turkish atrocities in that country, under date of Tiflis, Jan. 25, forwards the following interview with the father of all the Armenians, Mgr. Khrimiran:

Mgr. Khrimiran's home is at Etzchmiadzin, Russia, within a short distance of the Turkish frontier. But he is for the present at Tiflis. In an outer house, the correspondent met a monk in a black habit, and at the further end of the room was a man, dressed entirely in red, holding a long mace.

The sanguinary appearance of this man contrasted strangely with the peace and quiet of the house. Sometimes four of these red garmented men are in attendance. Mgr. Khrimiran talked fluently and eloquently of the wrongs of his people.

Among other things he said:
"The massacre in the mountains was the result of a long period of Turkish misgovernment. In the Armenian provinces of Turkey a policy of cruelty and oppression has continued for a long time. Twenty or 30 years ago the Armenians did not understand the cause of all the calamities which befell them. They thought their troubles were sent by heaven as punishment for their sins. Such is always the belief of the people deprived of education and the printing press. But, later, when the people began to think and to understand the wicked acts of their oppressors, there came a change, and they saw clearly the real cause of their troubles. "The Armenians suffered from the misgovernment of the Turks much more than the Bulgarians, who lived in the neighborhood of the western European powers, whereas the Armenians were at such a remote distance from the civilized world that their cries could not be heard.

Pleaded For Armenians In Vain. "At the close of the Russo-Turkish war the Armenians, encouraged by the improved condition of Bulgaria, demanded the same guarantees which were given to tor of the Lake View Baptist church, that country. In the meantime the Euro-Chicago, has conducted services very pean powers were compelled to sign the successfully for several Sundays in the Berlin treaty. At this period I was sent with another delegate to western Europe was called away on business; so, rather to plead the cause of the Armenians, but my mission did not produce satisfactory

"I presented to the Berlin congress a memoir, giving details of the Turkish atrocities in Turkish Armenia. With reference to the Armenian question the Bered knowledge and strength for the work | lin congress adopted what is known as the 61st article of the Berlin treaty, and, although the treaty was signed, it had no influence in lessening the persecution of the Armenians. Our hopes were in vain. The cruelty of Turkish misgovernment did not cease. It merely took a new form. "But, keeping in view that there was commissioner. Mme. "Here lies the cause. Why should a people who have not only a sufficient quantity of land, even too much, and of a very fertile and well irrigated land, leave may be able to pay the taxes which the Turkish government impose upon them. In the whole Turkish empire, including Asia, there are about 3,000,000 Armenians. Regarding the Sassoun massacre, the priest said that what he knew of the affair was gathered from eye-witnesses and newspaper reports. His story was "Many Armenians are confined in pris-

substantially as previously reported in these dispatches. Continuing, he said: ons for 'political matters.' The number of the prisoners must be more than 2000. All, or nearly all, are inn cent. The state of the Turkish prisons is simply dreadful. For instance, the chief monk of a monastery was fastened to a wall with nails driven through his hands, and was delivered from that awful position only on admitting that he had acted wrongfully, although he was really innocent.

Prisoners Brutally Treated. "On the hands and feet of several prisoners were fastened iron chains and heavy shackles of wood, while on their heads were placed instruments resembling copper pots, which were heated to a high temperature. "In the Sassoun district there were about 114 villages and hamlets. I believe that the Kurdish and Turkish troops have habitants of Newfoundland arrived here last night on the steamer Halifax from mate that the number of men, women and children killed in the Sassoun district amounts to 11,000

"These villages are Shenyk, with 1600 inhabitants; Semal, with 1400 inhabitants; Cleicangan, with 2400 inhabitants." With reference to the Turkish commission of inquiry, Mgr. Khrimiran said: "The chief interest at present centers in the Turkish commission of inquiry, but I look for no results from the investiga-

First Which Has Stained the City's Record In Fifteen Years. MANCHESTER, N. H., March 4.-The first murder in this city in 15 years was committed late Saturday night, when James Welch inflicted injuries on John O'Brien, from which the latter died a few hours later. Both men have criminal records in this c'+y. Welch, O'Brien and another man named Clark D. Thompson had been drinking together when the fight began. It is alleged that Welch figured as principal, and that during the fracas he struck O'Brien, knocking him down a flight of stairs, then jumped on him in a brutal manner, stabbing him several times with an old case knife.

O'Brien was taken to the station, where he died about 3 a. m. Sunday. Welch was locked up. O'Brien was a native of Milford, to which place his body was taken last night.

Town In Danger.

BALTIMORE, March 4.-Water in the Susquehanna river continued to rise steadily all Saturday, and by Sunday was over the wharves and had risen nearly to the tracks of the Columbia and Fort Deposit railroad. MRS. CHARLOTTE EMERSON BROWN. 1 Woman of High Character Whose Death Is Deeply Deplored.

A pang of sincerest sorrow has entered many hearts at the announcement of the death at Orange, on Feb. 5, of Mrs. Charlotte Emerson Brown. Every woman who knew her knows that in her person existed one of the best friends to her sex that ever lived. Mrs. Brown was emphatically a woman's woman. She loved her kind, and she lived to elevate and make them happy. She knew not the meaning of envy or jealthe foundation of character. On these RIDGE, Millersville, Ill. she herself had reared a remarkable intellectual development, and she desired | where. all women to do the same.

The ordinary statistics of Mrs. Brown's life have often been given. She was the daughter of the Rev. Professor Joseph Emerson of Andover, was born in 1833, and was graduated in her early womanhood from the well known Abbott academy of Andover. She had been a teacher of many different branches and had traveled extensively, when in 1880 she married the Rev. Mr. Brown of Or-

Mrs. Brown believed devoutly in the woman's club movement, and to her efforts, as much perhaps as to any one woman, the success of the great Federation of Woman's Clubs is due. After a thorough training in club work in the large and flourishing Orange club, she was able to accept the presidency of the federation with a full knowledge of its responsibilities and was exactly fitted to give to the organization the prestige and leadership which were necessary.

The mere presence of Mrs. Brown in meeting gave it dignity and charm. Her fine face, on which love and charity were beautifully expressed, shed a spirit of fraternity all about her. No one who saw her at the great federation meeting at Philadelphia will ever forget her.

Mrs. Brown possessed a fund of learning which her modesty in society and her desire for bringing out the good points of others to the neglect of her own allowed few, except her intimate friends, to suspect. She was familiar with seven languages, understood art and music thoroughly and could discuss history, literature, philosophy, science and theology with great intelligence. Few men or women have possessed in so high a degree the New England passion to know.

The labor which she did for women undoubtedly shortened her life. Few know how she worked to establish the cause so dear to her. Others sometimes doubted whether it would prove of much benefit to women. She never did, and no monument will more honor her than that her friends and followers shall have her faith and zeal. - New York Times

The Ohio Law.

The Ohio law granting school suffrage to women has been declared constitutional by the circuit court of Columbus.

Total Rlade says:

decision was written by Judge Shauck, who has since become a supreme judge and will be one of the six judges to pas upon the question when it comes before that tribunal. Judge Shauck holds that the legislature has full power over the whole subject of organizing and regulating the schools of the state and cites decisions to prove this. The point that women are not qualified electors under the constitution is held not to interfere with their right to vote on school matters, as the offices to be filled in such elections are unknown to the constitu tion. It now looks very much as if th women will have clear legal sailing un der the new law.

Outdoor Costumes.

A report from the French capital is to the effect that the abbreviated costume which the Parisienne calls her bi cycle dress has been found so comfortacycle dress has been found so comfortable that several women who love to hunt and fish wear it habitually on their country estates in the daytime. They country estates in the daytime. They rejoice in the sharp contrasts of silken, lace beflecked tea gown and the smart est of dinner frocks in the evening, but bicycles seem to have succeeded in introducing in a few months what dress reformers have been vainly trying to inaugurate for years-i. e., a sensible outdoor costume for women. In even the most conservative of countries as to dress, the United States, it is now con sidered the proper thing to wear a very short tailor made skirt, with knickerbockers and leather leggings, for country tramps or sports.

New York Women Interested. Miss Ella M. Powell, the daughter of physician of Atlanta, is the chairman of the New York committee of woman's work in connection with the Atlanta exposition. Through her efforts the women of this city have been interested in this great fair of the cotton states, and it is expected that when the Woman's building opens next September, with the rest of the splendid ones which will make up the group of exposition buildings, the room allotted to New York women will finely represent its owners. Some of the ladies already interested are Mrs. Egbert Juernsey, Mrs. Russell Sage, Mrs. Margaret Sangster, Miss Jordan, Mrs. John Sherwood and Mrs. G. H. T. Collis. - New York Herald.

Chicago Women.

Chicago women want further enfranchisement. Two suffrage bills with that end in view will be urged before the so lons at Springfield. One is named the "township suffrage bill;" the other is the "municipal suffrage bill." The first measure is backed by fair political enthusiasts who say that small favors from the legislature will be thankfully received-that is, until more is wanted. As one of the leaders declared a few days ago, "It is hoped to gain franchise a step at a time and prove women worthy of the trust."-Chicago Tribune.

George and Helen Gould, Attorney Gardner and about half a dozen of the guests were all who witnessed it. The bridesmaids and ushers were not present. All present cordially wished the highest realization of brighest hopes and longest life for exemplary usefulness. The first to congratulate the couple after the cere-mony was over, and the archbishop had shaken hands with them, were Mr. and Mrs. George Gould, followed by Mr. and Mrs. Elwin Gould, and for a few moments the Count and Countess de Castellane were surrounded by the guests of the occasion, all of whom were desirous of offering their congratulations.

The Bride's Costume, The bride wore a gown of heavy, ivor white satin, high in the neck and surpliced in effect, with one side of shirred satin and the other of rare old thread lace, in Duchesse pattern, falling over the right shoulder and meeting the folded belt on the left side. The sleeves were very full at the shoulder and fastened at the wrist with four small satin buttons. The skirt was circular in shape and falling in deep folds from the belt. The train formed a double box plait at the waist line and flared with graceful folds. It measured three yards in length. at the belt, and at intervals on the lace garniture of the corsage and on the skirt. The bridal veil was fastened with a magnificent diamond pin, the gift of the loom of the family.

The bridesmaids wore costumes cream-white cloth trimmed with sable. The bodice of these costumes was made in blouse effect. The sleeves were very full. and the flare skirt of walking length was trimmed with sable. A broad sash of moire, with loops and ends fastened at the Another Massacre May Follow Retireback, completed the costume.

While the guests were inspecting the countess' beautiful gifts on the second floor of the Gould mansion, where, in the library, on a table between the windows and on the book-cases along the walls, the presents were displayed, a veritable army of waiters were setting forth a num ber of tables, each large enough to seat from six to eight guests. In the center of each table was a large center piece of silver filled with orchids, and before each guest was the heliotrope menu card with the gilt crown of De Castellanes.

The wedding breakfast was brought to a conclusion by Creighton Webb, who proposed a toast to the couple. Each of the ladies present received in addition to the corsage bouquets of roses or violets, large basket of flowers, a heliotrope sating box, on which was painted the crest of D. Castellanes, containing a heart-shaped box of gold, with wedding cake.

The men found white boutonnieres for their coat lapels in their dressing room, and as souvenirs of the occasion carries home pieces of wedding cake in polishe tellane. The wedding took place at the home of George Jay Gould, Fifth avenue monogram "G de C" stamped thereon. The Countess de Castellane, for her go could not be held in the cathedral, owing ing away costume, wore a light tan skirt, a black velvet jacket, trimmed with chir chilla, and a large black hat. The guest who remained after the bridal couple has driven to the railroad depot en route to Lakewood, where they are to stay until to morrow, enjoyed the remainder of the afternoon in an impromptu dance.

HAS REACHED WASHINGTON.

Beautiful Tale of Three Women Who Bared Their Heads at the Theater.

Three ladies walked down the center isle in the National theater Monday night. They were hats-hats of a florid style of architecture and covered with luxuriant vegetation. Strong men shuddered and grew pale with anxiety as to where those hats would eventually locate themselves, and as the ladies slowly moved to the front the feelings of the audience verged upon the stormy and tumultuous. At last they were seated well down toward the orchestra, and at least 100 persons-those directly in the Houghs Neck and the season promises to line of sight-turned wan and ghastly with despair. In a moment, however, nimble fingers were at work, and before the watchers could gulp down their first wild anguish the hats disappeared, and three sleek, shapely and inoffensive heads appeared in place of them.

So the fashion has reached Washington. We have among us, then, the pioneers of the propaganda of mercy, consideration and gentleness. A new standard of morality has been erected. Women are showing their thoughtless sisters how to be kind as well as beautiful, gentle as well as fair, how to bless as well as to adorn the world. Here is a fashion which recognizes humanity, a manifestation of female loveliness that makes allowance for the comfort of others. It is a new philosophy, a gospel of sweetness and light, a dispensation of true ecstasy.

Why cannot the superior set make common cause in this? Why, if they must have their hats wherewith to paralvze the vestibule and fill the aisles with pageantry as they come and gowhy can they not at least follow the divine example we have chronicled and uncover when they take their seats?-Washington Post.

THE NEW WOMAN IN GEORGIA.

She Cycled Through the Streets of Atlanta and Horrifled the Natives.

A few days ago, before the snow came, there was an amusing little happening on one of the principal streets of the city which bears relating. Two men from away up in North Georgia who chanced to be down here attending the United States court as witnesses in some moonshine cases were walking along talking enthusiastically about a proposition to go in and get an ovster stew for dinner. The matter of dispute seemed to be as to who should pay for the stews. They were somewhat excited and pay ing little attention to the rest of the world when all of a sudden a woman on a bicycle swept up behind them very close to their backs and gave the bell of her wheel a sharp whirl of a ring. "Whoop! Don't do that again!" screamed one of them, and they both shot away up in the air and landed many feet away. Turning around, they saw the lady tisement can be made at any tim dashing on down the street, unconcernedly bobbing up serenely over the Bel gian block.

"Gol darn my buttons," said one of the visitors to the other, "hit's one uv dem votin women dat's come down her fum de north. Dey'll be doin uv ev'y thing fust thing you know."-Atlanta Constitution.

Differing Opinions on This and Other Sub jects Connected With Her Highness.

Queen Victoria has been in London recently, according to The Court Circular, but if it had not been for the official chroniclers the inhabitants of the metropolis would probably not have been aware of their sovereign's presence among them, for, save for her drives to and from the railway stations, her majesty has only shown herself in public once, and then muffled up to the eyes against the cold weather. On the strength of that solitary peep courtly

but mendacious reporters have ventured to descant upon the queen's good health and lively spirits. The fact is that she never looked so aged and wan and worn as at present. She is less able than ever to walk even the shortest distance without assistance, and she is bent almost double. Nevertheless the renewed talk of her abdicating in favor of the Prince of Wales may be dismissed as pure invention, for, if physically feeble, Queen Victoria is mentally a thoroughly sound woman. and she is said to retain to the fullest degree her marvelously clear percep tion of the most intricate affairs o state. She will start for the south of France in about a week. - London Let-

Faure's Popularity.

President Faure's campaign of popularity is being carried on with unabated skill and persistence. He has just paid a bill of $20,000 for a quarter of a bottle of wine supplied to every sold er in the army, with which to drink his health. He continued his long round of visits to the hospitals of Paris, going through all the wards, including those where there are cases of infectious diseases. He visits the kitchens of public institutions and eats and drinks the regulation food and wine supplied there. The Parisians now recognize the president on these tours and cheer him wildly in the street. - Paris Letter.

Cold Weather

There are seven million pores in the ordinary sized man, which act as sewers in cleansing the system of impurities. When they become clogged, perspiration ceases or is less than normal in quantity. Cold weather restricts the amount of perspiration, and in nature's struggle to free the system of waste matter the Kidneys become overworked. Buker's Kidney Pills counteract the effects of overwork, prevent disease, and cure the Backache incidental to Kidney troubles. When the back aches, try the pills. Druggists sell them for 50 cents. then passed as was also several other minor amendments. Councilman Rice moved that the Mayor be authorized to ask the legislature for the passage of the bill with amendments adopted by the Council. President Bass said the purport of this motion was that the Council presented the oill as one approved by the Council.

The motion was then passed. The order granting a location to the Electric Light & Power Co., to erect one pole on Chestnut street, was passed to be ordained under suspension of the rules. Adjourned at 10.05.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

It was a cold, blustery day in January, one of those dreary winter days that make one feel so melancholy and blue, the wind shrieking about the building and the snow falling thickly in great white flakes, which seemed to be vying with each other for a comfortable spot on which to fall when reaching the friendly bosom of The only business at the Braintree town meeting was the election of officers, and a smile all day, but had sulkily hidden the regular citizens' nominees were all such is face behind the gray restless clouds.

One Woman's Work. "Who having little yet hath all."

A narrow sphere! How can you call it so? Three pairs of baby eyes look up in mine And seem the gates through which a light Transfigures all my life with tenderest glow,

Because I cannot paint with artist skill The changing colors of the sea or sky; Because I cannot write of visions high And move you all with pain or joy at will; Because to learning's shrine no gifts I bring, Nor take a foremost stand for woman's ca Because I trust unquestioning the laws

You think my life is circumscribed and cold In what should make it helpful, rich and strong.

Ah, friend! these happy days are none too

That bring us snow in winter, birds in spring

For all the loving duties that they hold. Nor has the art you love been all denied, For loveliest pictures every day I see

In childhood's careless grace and movements From waking morn till dreamy eventide. My Edith's braids, now brown, now golden bright

Imprison tints no artist's brush has known. The baby's deep blue eyes that meet my own In living beauty mock all painted light. Nor do you know, my friend, the critics bold We story tellers in the children find— What store of wisdom and of wit combined

We need to point a moral new or old. And in reforms are we not learning late? A still, small voice need not be all in vain.

These childish hands may bring the greater gain
If 1 am willing now to simply wait.

and what in science or philosophy Can pass in interest the baby heart, Seeking in untried ways to take its part For good or ill in life's great mystery?

God help us mothers all to live aright. And may our homes all truth and love infold, Since life for us no loftier aims can hold Than leading little children in the light.

Americans had been arrested in Cuba, and in the course of his remarks quoted from an interview published a few days ago with Manuel de Cespeder Quesada, son of the revolutionary leader who was killed in the last insurrection in Cuba. Senor Groizard replied that advices received by the government showed that three Americans had been arrested at Havana and that the American consu general had made application regarding them to the authorities Senor Groizard further said that the government supported the attitude of Captain General Calleja. It considered that the Spanish-American portfolio of 1877 affirmed no WOLLASTON-Ross' news stand and protection to Americans who conspired against the government of Cuba. # FLAGS ARE LOWERED

And the Fifty-Third Congress Has Become a Matter of History.

NEWSPAPER MEN MADE HAPPY.

Sung the Doxology In the House Press Gallery.

WASHINGTON, March 5 .- At noon yes terday, after a continuous session of 48 hours, interrupted by an occasional recess, the flags above the Capitol were lowered and the Fifty-third congress had passed into history.

In the house the end was not marked or marred by any unpleasant incident. All the appropriation bills were out of the way when the house reconvened at 8 in the morning, and the time was dawdled away until 11 o'clock, the only feature be ing a rather brisk but brief debate on the results from the projected monetary conference. The usual committee was sent to the president to inform him that congress was ready to adjourn, and the other formalties of the end of a congress were gone through with.

The concluding minutes were in the nature of a love feast. The best feeling prevailed. The resolution of thanks to the speaker, which usually comes from a member of the majority, was offered by Mr. Cannon in a very graceful speech bearing testimony to the high appreciation, in which the presiding officer was held by the Republican minority. Mr. Wilson responded in behalf of the majority, and Mr. Simpson, representing the Populists, joined in the expression of thanks for the kindnesses exended by the speaker. All the kindly sentiments were applauded, and when Mr. Crisp himself ascended the rostrum to return his thanks and deliver his parting words the demonstration was terrific.

At the conclusion of his speech, just before declaring the house adjourned, he appointed Mr. Culberson of Texas, Mr. Hitt of Illinois and himself as members of the monetary commission. His own appointment was by resolution. As the Fiftythird congress came to its end, the doxology was sung by the correspondents in the press gallery.

The Senate Wind-Up. The United States senate closed its final session amid crowded galleries, congratulatory resolutions, a parting word from tory from the vice president. The wonted dignity of the senate was preserved to the end, except for the rush of business incidental to the last hours of a session. The senators were at work by 9 o'clock, after having remained in the chamber until 4 a. m. They clearly showed the fatigue of the long session, lasting from Saturday noon, and their ranks were too thin up to 11 o'clock for the transaction of anything beyond formal business. By that time there were a few vacant seats on the floor of the senate, and the at Roby, Ind., in 1898. The contest was galleries were literally packed, the crowds filling the senate, pushing into the aisles suffered very much. Costello made the and overflowing into and down the corridors and stairways. Many members of the diplomatic corps occupied the gallery reserved for them. By 10 o'clock the last formalities on the two remaining appropriation bills-naval and deficiency-were concluded, and the measures started to the executive mansion. There was no disposition to take up siness and two efforts to cor questions affecting the Behring sea were cut off by objections. A feature of the last moments of the session was the tumultuous laughter which greeted the announcement of Mr. the National Cash Register company was | Voorhees, of the committee to wait on the Sustained in the supreme court of the United States. The judgment of the United States court for Massachusetts the latter tendered his congratulations to congress on the close of their labors. Vice President Stevenson closed the session with a few well-chosen words, and, as he stated, the work of the Fifty-third ongress passed into history.

Appropriation Bills All Signed.

All the appropriation bills have become laws, the president yesterday having affixed his signature to the last of them to reach him, viz.: the naval and general deficiency appropriation bills. The list of bills approved by the president yesterday was very large, among them being:

Pierrot sits dejected on a chair. His elbows rest on the table, and his face is hidden in his hands. In front of him the empty bottle and the big knife. The tallow drips from the flickering candle.

He had drunk himself into a state of unconsciosness several nights of late. He would go to sleep, but not in yonder had! Horrible! Here on the old chest he sinks down and leans with his back against the

His head falls forward on his breast, his eyes close. His arm hanging down by his side swings to and fro once or twice. Then it becomes stiff. Sleep; forgetfulness; death.

Knock, knock, knock on the door, first gently and then louder. Closely wrapped in a cloak covered with snow a woman slips in on her tiptoes. She throws off the dark cloak, and in dazzling beauty and dressed in gold and diamonds she stands there-Columbine!

"Ha, Pierrot!" She approaches him and gazes searchingly upon his face. "How old he has grown! How wretch ed he looks!

"Supposing he were to strike me again and throw me out into the street!" Then her eye falls upon the big knife lying beside the bread, and she starts.

The permanent annual appropriations exceed $100,000,000, so that the aggregate of the bills of the session just closed will not be far from $500,000,000, including the permanent appropriations. The aggregate of the several acts of the first session of the Fifty-third congress was in excess of $491,000,000.

The indications are that when the treas ury department issues its digest of the appropriations made at the session just closed, it will be found that the Fifty-third congress will have a sum total of not far from $1,000,000,000 to its credit. The Bi-Metallists.

But Beoks of the American Missionary

Society Show a Shortage. NEW YORK, March 6 .- There is a shortage in the accounts of the American Church Missionary society, and the books of the organization have been found to be in such a confused condition that the experts are not as yet in a position to make a detailed statement. The secretary of the society is Rev. William A. Newbold of Montclair, N. J., and the treasurer,

Henry A. Oakley of New York city.

Bishop Peterkin of West Virginia said last night, relative to the action of the executive committee: "The irregularities alluded to in this statement are such as warrant the removal of the secretary and treasurer from office. The society's expenditures are between $25,000 and $30,000 a year, and the money is paid out mostly in small sums, making the auditing of the ecounts extremely difficult.

"The society has not been entirely crippled by these irregularities, but as they extend over five or six years it is impos sible to make a detailed statement. I would not like to call it a defalcation, but I will say that hereafter the society would like to have its money handled in a different manner.'

Mountain Made of Mole-Hills. TAMPA, Fla., March 6.-Major J. W. Howard of New York, who has been traveling all over Cuba during the past two weeks, arrived here from Havana last night. He ridicules the stories of any serious engagement having taken place between government troops and rebels. The question for discussion was especially ludicrous, namely, 'Is life worth the living?"

To look into the happy faces of these pupils and to apply that question to them seems most incongruous, and then to hear a disputant chosen to conduct the negative side who was perhaps the personification of an intense love of life, was just "too funny for anything," as we hear it sometimes expressed. But the discussion was bright and tended to sharpen the wits, and drunkenness at Quincy. the intellectual pyrotechnics not only served to illuminate but to interest.

The pupils will be heard in often under hard conditions. The more I estrumental and vocal selections, the know them the more I admire their pluck, atter embracing solo, quartette, double courage and enthusiasm. Where would quartette, glee club, and chorus work. our schools be today without these true teachers? How poorly many of them are teachers? How poorly many of them are quartette, glee club, and chorus work. our schools be today without these true paid! The primary schools, and teachers especially, have not been considered as they should be. The most experienced and high Scituate and Stoneham elected women est salaried teachers should be here, for on the school board, and Medway and the characters and habits of the child are Topsfield placed them on the public library formed very young. Criticism in this respect of school officials is not intended, rather would I like to strengthen the hands Scituate, Duxbury and Marshfield will of present and future boards. Does not iointly employ a superintendent of schools. | the blame rest upon the taxpayers and citizens, who so often cry out against school taxation, not realizing how large expenditures in the rudimentary training of the children of the State, will save later in

THE NEW TEACHER. SHE MUST INTEREST.

A little girl whose school was about to be changed, said the other day: "I do hope the new teacher will be like Miss -," mentioning the name of one of the teachers in the school she was to leave. "Why?" was asked. "Oh, because Miss - made everything so interesting. There isn't any use of my studying arithmetic unless the teacher likes arithmetic." The child had struck the very heart of education. It is an impossible thing for bating society, composed of the classes '95 any teacher to teach who is not interesting, and to be interesting she must love he work. It is rather difficult for a teacher to continue interesting if the public accepts ness the intellectual ability which the young because of the attitude of that public, that her business is to sit in a chair and hear children recite. But if the teacher is made him, the prime factor in education; that character as well as book-knowledge has a place in the school-room; that personal appearance is not a matter of indifference; hat manners have a legitimate field, that they are, in fact, object lessons to the ten, twenty, or sixty children in the classroom, the teacher is forced to a new understanding of the public relations of a teacher.-The Outlook.

The groom, evidently a brave man, was not as nervous as the justice, who fumbled to get from his pocket a paper upon which he had written the words of a simple marriage ceremony. The door was shut softly behind the party, and the wedding was screened from curious eves.

The justice was getting along fairly well and had just reached that part in the ceremos where he asked the conple to join hands when something happened. One of the clerks had slipped to the switchboard and turned off the lights in the vault. Everything was as black as darkest midnight. The bride and groom could not see each other. WORST DURING THIS GENERATION.

Cold Weather Occasioned Unusual Hardships and Sickness In Great Britain. The misery caused by the severity of the weather throughout Great Britain and all European countries has been unprecedented in the present generation. Even well to do Londoners have been compelled to endure extraordinary annoyances. The gas and water pipes of the city are laid only 2 to 21/2 feet deep, which is beyond the reach of an ordinary frost. This time the icy visitor did not relax his hold till he had closed nearly half of them. The departing frost left a worse evil in its train. The influenza became epidemic. If private inquiries furnish an accurate indication of its extent, then fully 15 per cent of the population have been stricken. Its type is severe, but not so persistent as five years ago. The attack is usually sudden and often accompanied by such complete collapse that the patient falls in a fainting fit. Recovery, however, in many cases is rapid. I met two or three victims who felt able to venture out, although they were carried home utterly helpless when first attacked five or six days before. The sudden outbreak declared itself es pecially in the house of commons, where a large number of members fell victims, and in several of the great schools, some of which, it is feared, will have to be disbanded for the term .-New York Sun's London Letter.

and then went up to the capitol. And, according to Tim, here is what was said at the White House:

" 'How's your babby,' says Mr. Cleveland to me. 'Foine,' says I. 'Me girl walks around the libr'y now and looks at all the books. " 'Surely that's foine, ' says the president. 'My babbies are doing well, but they don't do that. But it's a great thing,' says he to me, 'for us old folks to have the babbies around us.' " 'Faith and it is,' says I to him; 'it we have to accept the inevitable." "-Washington Post.

Imported Politeness. A man walking along a street in Rockland one of the cold days last week was surprised when a stranger stepped up to him, grabbed his shoulder with one hand, and with the other began to vigorously rub his nose with a handful of snow. Was he offended? On the contrary, he was profuse in his thanks as soon as he recovered his breath and his wits from the attack, for the assailant quickly explained that he was a native of Russia, and, noticing that the man's nose was freezing, had only attended to what was a matter of course and of eti-

Millionaires Who Will Try to Enjoy Their Riches In the Metropolis.

Three large western cities-Chicago, Denver and Helena-have recently lost three citizens to New York, citizens whose combined fortunes are estimated to be quite $100,000,000. The three men who have already bought property in this city are Charles T. Yerkes, the Chicago cable king; W. A. Clarke, the silver mine Crœsus of Montana, and D. H. Moffat, the owner of the famous Creede mine of Colorado.

These three money monarchs may be expected to do something startling in the building way. Mr. Yerkes has alhas practically completed his $100,000 palace on Fifth avenue, at the southeast corner of Sixty-eighth street. It nue and 125 feet on Sixty-eighth street. long and 25 feet wide, in which will be old masters, valued at over $2,000,000. gallery in this country. The mansion will be five stories high, of pure classical design and built of very dark American brownstone. The carving on the exterior will cost a good sized fortune. The stoop 000.

Another one of the new citizens of New York, Mr. David H. Moffat, whose fortune is variously estimated from $20, 000,000 to $50,000,000, has had a varied career.

When a boy, he was a messenger in the New York Exchange bank, and he now owns several banks in Colorado, mines, stocks and gold galore. He practically owns all of the Creede mine. He took hold of the property which Creede discovered and built a railroad to it. He developed the mines so thoroughly that Creede is one of the largest shipping points in the United States.

He left New York for Iowa a score of more years ago to take a place as teller in a bank in Des Moines. While there he attracted the attention of a capitalist who wanted to start a bank in Omaha. Mr. Moffat was made the cashier of that bank. He was in Omaha when the Pike's peak excitement began, and at that time he went to Colorado. He speculated in groceries and other staples which were needed for shipment to the mines, and he soon owned a bank. W. A. Clarke, the third money king from the west who will settle down in New York to enjoy his millions, has purchased from School Commissioner Guggenheimer the northeast corner of Fifth avenue and Seventy-seventh street, nine blocks away from Mr. Yerkes, for $225,000. The lot has a 50 foot front on Fifth avenue and runs back 150 feet on Seventh-seventh street. The Fifth avenue frontage of Mr Clarke's lot is 11 feet less than Mr.

Yerkes', but it is 25 feet longer on the side street. Mr. Guggenheimer bought it about a year ago for $180,000, so he has made $45,000 by the transaction. It is Mr. Clarke's intention to build a mansion He owns three gold mines in the neighborhood of Butte City, Mon., and a couple of paying silver mines and is president of a bank in Denver and one in Butte City. Despite his riches he has been twice prevented from being United States senator. Mr. Clarke arrived in Montana 30 years ago at the head of a mule train with a pick over his shoulder. He opened a general store at Butte City and then bought mining claims, which he and his wife worked with their own hands. He is so proud of the hard work he did in those days that the checks of the banks of which he is president bear pictures of himself in his rough miner's dress. - New York World.

NEW YORK IS PERISHING.

A Chicago Paper Says That Gangrene Is Eating Out the Vitals of Gotham. New York is perishing of gangrene. The phlegm of some of the Dutch, the greed of some of the British and the purchase money of some of the mercenary Hessians of the Revolutionary time Tim Campbell called at the White all contribute to the witches' compound House just before congress adjourned that found way into the veins of the community on Manhattan. New York gangrene became rancorous when it perceived out upon the prairies, growing steadfastly at the foot of the great lakes, a community, simple, vigorous, persistent, industrious and patriotic. Today Chicago is at her shoulders with no feeling but kindness light, sweet, white, wholesome shoulders with no feeling but kindness, but without return except in jealousy and meanness. Because Chicago has got a new postoffice building and New York has failed to get one New York is livid toward is a great thing. But.' says I, 'we have Chicago. Because Chicago retains the to accept the inevitable, Mr. President, Indian warehouse, when its transfer was promised to New York, more mortification sets in in new glands. Because Chicago journalism refuses to accept dictation from New York, New York scolds like a beldame. - Chicago Herald.

Selling Daughters. The Indian is uncouth in his ways, but he has learned a thing or two from the white man. One near Tacoma has tried to sell his daughters as the result of a game of chance, and of course the east is duly shocked. Why? He has the precedent of society-"cultivated" so ciety. Daughters are sold almost every day in New York and Europe, and even in Chicago. > Going to Sleep. The light is fading down the sky. The shadows grow and multiply. I hear the thrush's evening song, But I have borne with toil and wrong, So long, so long!

Dim dreams my drowsy senses drown. So, darling, kiss my eyelids down. My life's brief spring went wasted by. ners ended fruitlessly. I learned to hunger, strive and wait.

I found you, love, oh, happy fate,

Now all my fields are turning brown. So, darling, kiss my eyelids down. Oh, blessed sleep of perfect rest, Thus pillowed on your faithful breast, Nor life nor death is wholly drear,

O tender heart, since you are here, So dear, so dear! Sweet love, my soul's sufficient crown! Now, darling, kiss my eyelids down.

Bank Robbers Scooped All the Loose Cash in Sight.

CASHIER MADE A BRAVE STAND.

Thieves Finally Fell Into the Hands of Pursuers.

ADEL, Ia., March 7 .- A desperais and partly successful attempt was made to rob the Adel State bank yesterday. Two strangers stepped into the bank just as Cashier Leach had taken from the vault the currency for the day's business. C. D. Bailey, a merchant, was writing at a desk the lobby. They were the only occupants of the bank.

One of the strangers said he wanted to deposit some money. Almost the same instant the other robber shot at Leach, the charge taking effect in the shoulder. He then ordered the cashier to hand over the money. The latter handed over a mail sack of silver, and, then, though badly wounded, seized a drawer containing about $3000 in gold and currency, and staggering to the vault, he pitched the noney in and shut and locked the door. Weak from loss of blood, he then fell to

One of the robbers sprang over the counter and began shovelling all the money in sight into a sack, and the one with the gun fired a shot at Bailey, woundng him in the neck. By this time a growd had gathered outside, and the two robbers made a rush for their buggy. none apparently took effect. They coolly got into their buggy and drove rapidly Several men sprang upon horses and followed, and a running fight ensued. About four miles south of the town the They abandoned their rig, and one hid be hind a bank, where he was soon captured, and the other, with the gun, ran into a barn near by. After a parley the crowd partially untied the captured robber and advancing flames finally forced his con ederate to come out, but he still refused surrender, and the crowd of citizens fired a voiley at him, and he fell dead.

The dead rober is O. P. Wilkins, and he was rele . To only a few weeks ago from Minnesota penitentiary at Stillwater, where he served three years for robbery. Crawford claims to have been coerced into

IN NORFOLK county where but two or three small towns grant liquor licenses, it time. matters little from a financial point whether the bill to divide the liquor fees with the county becomes a law or not, but it is the best temperance measure before the present Legislature, and should pass, as the crimes from liquor cause a large increase in county expenses. At present the city or town receives three-quarters and the State one-quarter. It is now proposed to divide the city's portion equally with the county, both receiving threeeighths. The revenue received from licenses is in many cities the sole reason for a license vote. The House has passed the bill to a third reading, Representatives Hammond and Flint voting with the majority.

British Parliament to Be Asked if the United States Intends to Settle. LONDON, March 7 .- Exceptional interest attaches to the question that Sir Richard Webster, one of the British counsel before the Behring sea tribunal of arbitration, will put to the government today in regard to the negotiations for a settlement with the United States of the British sealers' claims for seizures prior to the arbitration proceedings. Sir Richard will point out that th award of the tribunal was adverse to the United States, the only point settled being the amount of compensation, and that Canada had agreed to the amount she was willing to accept in full settlement of her claims. Therefore, he will ask whether, in view of the great and growing discontent in Canada, the government proposes to take any, and if so, what steps to settle the dispute, either by obtaining the payment by the United States of the agreed amount, or, if necessary, by arbitration. THAT BROTHER.

My name's George. George Timbs, I have a brother, Reginald. I dare say yon've heard of him. He's a terrible trial to me. He's got himself talked about a good deal lately by appearing in print in a well known weekly-that is, he confides his misfortunes to an indulgent editor by way of a warning to the public. I don't believe that's the real reason. I think it's nothing but conceit and a desire to see his name in print. At any rate, I've put a stop to it. No more of his plaintive tales bringing me in as the callous and hard hearted brother. I've had to put my foot down He wanted to spin a long yarn about his most recent experience. I said. "No." .He took a solemn oath in my presence after that disgraceful affair with the same expression on his face. that he would never put pen to paper in that way again, and I mean to see that he keeps his word.

Besides, to my mind, he's more or less off his head now and not in a fit state to appeal to his friend the editor's all embracing public. I don't pretend to be able to string sentences together can always speak to the point. It is millions of sheep and cattle and vast more to pacify him than anything else acres, wealth pouring in on every that induces me to make this thing pub- hand, then the desire for home, the reentire line of Columbia Bicycles. You may remember the idiotic way in which he allowed himself to be swindled out of most of our belongings by a common thief got up as a detective from days. Prices ranging from $50.00 to Scotland Yard. He was very bad after that, and no wonder. All my cricket and football cups gone for ever all when I think of it. But it had at least one result-it made him exceedingly cautious and suspicious. Suspicious wasn't the word for it. He gave Mrs. Plages instructions not to allow a soul inside the house on any pretext whatever unless he or I were at home. Then he began to suspect the friends who occasionally dropped in to see us of an evening. He imagined they were detect ives or thieves "made ap" to represent Jickseys or Snibs, as the case might be, and he put all sorts of artful questions to these young men, thinking to catch them napping. The Widows' Section.

"Where is the widows' section?" asked a visitor to the government printing office the other day. He was prowling around on an upper floor where hundreds of women are employed in the task of folding papers and documents. "I want to see the widows." the stranger added facetiously.

"Well, you can look at me." replied the woman addressed. "I'm a widow." The "New Woman." The brave "new woman" scorns to sigh And count it such a grievous thing That year on year should hurry by And no gay suitor bring. In labor's ranks she takes her place. With skillful hands and cultured mind, Not always foremost in the race,

But never far behind. And not less lightly fall her feet Because they tread the busy ways. She is no whit less fair and sweet Than maids of olden days Who, gowned in samite or brocade, Looked charming in their dainty guise,

But dwelt like violets in the shade, With shy, half opened eyes. Of life she takes a clearer view And through the press serenely moves Unfettered, free, with judgment true,

Avoiding narrow grooves.

She reasons, and she understands,
And sometimes 'tis her joy and crown To lift with strong yet tender hands The burdens men lay down.

The Bond Syndicate Furnishing All the Gold Agreed Upon.

McGovern Bros.' Periodical Store, Han- Is Not Likely to Suffer Reproach In the Future.

> WASHINGTON, March 7 .- The seeming falling off since Tuesday of $2,000,000 in the gold reserve, as shown by yesterday's treasury statement, was the subject of anxious telegraphic inquiries sent by the treasury officials to the sub-treasury at New York.

The replies received were to the effect that there had been no loss of gold either for export or otherwise, and that the seeming loss was occasioned by an error in bookkeeping, by which gold received on account of bonds had been credited to the general gold account. Mr. Jordan, the sub-treasurer at New York, and the superintendent of the assay office, are both temporarily absent, and it is explained that some one unfamiliar with the complicated details of the bookkeeping department BOSTON-Old Colony News Stand after had made a wrong entry. The matter will be straightened out at once.

The treasury officials repudiate the published statement that they were dissatisfied with the rate with which gold was being deposited under the recent bond contract. On the contrary, they say that the syndicate has more than complied with the requirements of the contract in this particular, and as a matter of fact the government prefers that the gold should come in slowly. The contract calls for a deposit by foreign bidders of not less than 800,000 ounces per month, and this limit had been considerably exceeded from the first. Congressional Appropriations, Chairman Sayers and Dockery, representing the Democrats, and Henderson and Cannon, representing the Republicans of the house appropriation committee, are preparing statements which will show the extent and character of the appropriations made by the Fifty-third congress. Similar statements are being prepared by Senators Cockerell and Allison of the senate appropriation committee. The statement will show in detail the appropriations made by both sessions by the Fifty-third, compared with those made by the three previous congresses. They will be ready for publication in a day or two. It is more than probable that henceforth in the history of the country the $1,000,-000,000 congress will be the rule rather than the exception, and the party in power will gain more in credit than it will suffer in reproach for bravely assuming the responsibility of this high range of expendi-

The Republican party suffered considerably when the $1,000,000,000 label was first attached to the Fifty-first congress. A billion dollars was then regarded as a good deal of money, and the Republican party suffered in consequence.

Strange as it may seem, however, the people recovered from their amazement, and this colossal object lesson of Republican extravagance rapidly passed out of mind, so that when the Fifty-second congress closed its doors an expense account was was murdered not at the Grange, as is recorded against it of $27,000,000 above the generally supposed, but at- Hang it $1,000,000,000 mark. No national convul-Why, I've haunted the wrong sion ensued, nor were the great political parties particularly affected by it one way or the other. The people, it is claimed, are raising no clamor as to the amount of money spent by this congress. It is the character of some of the work done, and the fact that much of importance was left undone, that provokes the adverse judgment and criticism of the country.

Jean Feret's face shone with pleasure as he took his place in a third class carriage of the Paris train. He was in his Sunday best; his blue blouse was stiff and clean; his leather belt was brightly polished; he wore shoes. The occasion was too great for sabots. He was going to Paris. He waved a cheery "goodby" to the bent old peasant, his father, who stood on the platform. "God keep you, my son," murmured the old man as the train moved off. Jean sighed happily, for in three short hours he would be at Paris. And Paris to Jean meant seeing his beloved Suzette, who had gone there two years before to be a milliner's apprentice. Suzette and Jean were betrothed. She had gone to Paris to earn some money of her own to go toward the home which was to be theirs as soon as Jean made money enough to build a cottage on his little plo of ground. He had worked hard and been very saving. Now the house was in readiness. He was going to fetch Suzette How delighted she would be with the pret ty thatched cottage that was to be all their own, thought Jean, and how glad sh would be to leave the bustling, crowded city for the pure, clean air of the country He had written her frequently while the little house was being built, telling of all its perfections, but there was so much more than he could well describe on paper How happy she would be to see it all for herself, and how her big black eyes would snap with joy!

Jean smiled dreamily as he thought how she looked two years ago when they had said "goodby" and took from it a map of Paris; then with a straw, he carefully traced over i the way to Suzette's house. The noise and confusion of the great streets were so bewildering to Jean, in Paris for the first time, that he was force to consult his map several times before h reached the Rue Blene. Suzette was not in, and he was told she would not be at home until 6. Jean stood staring stupidly at the con cierge who gave him this information Surely there was some mistake. He had written he would come. "Mademoiselle will not be home till 6 repeated the woman. Jean turned away. His heart was heavy. Such a disappointment! Suzette had not received his letter, else she cer tainly would have been there to receiv him. And now he must wait so long, for it was barely 11 o'clock. He wandered aimlessly about. The gay streets and the shops did not attract him. At 1 o'clock he sat down on a bench i the Champs Elysees and ate a roll he had bought at one of the booths. He was very tired. The gendarmes had pushed his roughly across the streets. Jean had always been sorry he had been barefoot that morning, for the painter wouldn't give him time to run home for his shoes. He took out his map and studied the way to the Salon, which he found to be France is afraid of colonial sugars with unaccountably short. If he went to see the pictures, the time of waiting would not seem so long. That was a comfort. The beautiful rooms, lined with pic tures, took his breath away. He had never seen anything so wonderful. He forgot Suzette—he forgot everything. He met many old friends. Here was the old Chateau Silleron, with the gardens, to the life. There was the beach at St. Aubin, and when he came upon the church at Sotteville it looked so natural Jean bowed his head and made the sign of the cross. Then there were some horrid pictures of surgical operations, the details rendered with an exactitude that made Jean shud-

He went into one room where a group of men were excitedly discussing one of the pictures. He caught scraps of their conversation.

"It is she in the flesh!" "Ah, you know her that way, old man?" "Marvelous! Look at those eyes, that arm, that coloring! Superb! Marcelin's fortune is made!'

Jean pushed nearer. He wanted to see this wonderful picture. Suddenly he stop-ped, his face colorless, his eyes riveted on the canvas from which Suzette looked out. An injunction was granted to restrain Lynn labor leaders from interfering with employes of Faunce & Spinney.

of the third class carriages. His head was bent forward on his breast. On his knee he still held the pot of violets. They were faded, but what did it matter now?-From the French For Argonaut.

Flour and Water. One of the reasons why the uneducated cook sometimes has good bread and cakes and other dishes in which flour is used born in Bordentown, N. J., where his and at other times most dismal failures is that she knows so little about flour that she does not realize, as does the trained cook, that one kind of flour will absort more moisture than another, so that the quantity of water or milk used in mixing cannot be unalterably determined in a recipe. So well is this fact known by teachlibraries. The state gives each town $100 toward the project, provided the township fore they are graduated.—New York Post.

Which May Have Led to an Attack of Insanity.

GRAFTON, Mass., March 8 .- "I would stake my immortal soul that H. F. Wing, whom I have known from childhood, has not gone wrong in his accounts," said Nicholas Brigham.

Calmly, premeditately, Harry Wing, 69 years old, walked into the barn to the rear of his house Wednesday night and shot himself through the head. The cashier of the Grafton National bank, a man who had held every responsible office his native town could offer—selectman, representative in the general court, assessor, collector of revenue tax during the war, and recently municipal treasurer, besides having carte blanche in all collections and imbursements of moneys belonging to the local Congregational church and many estates upon which widows and orphans depended, destroyed himself with a pistol for no reasonable excuse.

of European Powers.

LONDON, March 8 .- The following has been received from a well-known European resident at Beyroot, Syria: "After 1860, when the Druses massacred so many thousands of Christians in Syria, there was created by the powers a specially or-ganized government, with a Christian as pasha. This has been a grand success; the population has increased, land has been thoroughly cultivated, and the Manuel Garcia is denied. Garcia's band proverb is, 'Blessed is the man who has a on the day he was reported to have been place in Lebanon sufficient for a goat to lie down upon.'

"The turbulent and criminal part of the Druses have moved gradually to Howran, where they maintain a defiant and lawless attitude. Lately the government has came upon the party. In the encounter shown a great desire to conciliate them, Peepel Ileno was killed by the acolyte, rather than to subdue them. The Druses, who in turn was killed, being literally cut a few years ago, killed about 70 of the to pieces. This occurred on the evening | Mohammedans of Howran and were not of Feb. 24. Last June the Druses atin the vicinity, there was quite an incentacked a village of Circassian refugees and depredations, which were accompanied by countless acts of robbery and plunder, they became bolder. Some Bedouin Arabs have been killed by them, and now their attention is turned to the Christians. One of them, well known to me, was walking upon a highway near five villages, wholly inhabited by Christians, when he was set upon by Druses and murdered, after being robbed of £60.

"The government greatly fears interna dissension. Why, on the one hand, a brutal massacre of those who indulge in harmless dreams of liberty and independence, and, on the other, a timid indulgence of outlaws? ### EDITORIAL COMMENT.

How LARGE was the appropriation for the rebuilding of the Central fire station, is a question that is going the rounds. The facts are that no special appropriation has been made. If the expense was large it could not be easily charged to appropriation for repair of public buildings or miscellaneous city expenses. Perhaps the building was not in such an awful condition after all.

It is agreed generally that City Hall Court should have new quarters, but there 50 ohms. seems to be an opposition to mixing the two together. City Hall with the addition would be none too large, they say, for the explained. city's need. For the court room to enseparate offices in the building.

least four small rooms in addition to the ing. court room, and that there should be at least two entrances. The addition 28x44 would not provide a room any larger than at present, and certainly four rooms cannot be spared from City Hall.

There is an opposition also to mixing up the city and the county officials. And there is no certainty how long the county might continue a tenant. No agreement, it is said for more than one year would be binding.

The talk was confined to currents produced by chemical means, the effects of A Local Budget Which Contains which could be shown in five ways physiologically, medically, chemically, by heat and by magnetics. The first was illustrated by one of the audience taking a current through his body, the third by the decomposition of water, the fourth by heating a wire, also lighting an incandescent lamp, and the last by putting a magnetic current through the coils of an electric magnet and lifting nearly a pound of nails.

The analogy between a pump forcing water through an iron pipe and a wire carrying electric current, were explained. In both cases force is required to overcome resistance offered by the conduction and the strength of current of both water and electricity is greater as the force is greater REDUCED NOBILITY. The Count Plunged, Lost, Was Ruined, and His Daughter Became a Thief.

The case of a ruined noble family was made public last week, says a Paris correspondent. Count Stozzi hazardeo the whole of his fortune in big land building speculations in Rome a few weeks was seemingly an assured winner of millions. But a crash came while his operations were still open, and he went as ancient and as reckless.

The count's young daughter was engaged to be married at the time, but her lover proved as fickle as fortune, and the ruined family retired to Bo logna. The young countess, in order to support her parents, took a place as chambermaid and recently, under stress of poverty, stole some of her mistress' was mercifully sentenced to only 12 days' imprisonment, the judge admitting as extenuating circumstances the sad change in her family's fortunes The publicity thus given to the case may possibly prove the salvation of the family. The young countess is now 28 vears of age.

Proposed Legislation For Sleeping Cars. In New York, for example, a uniform rate of 80 cents for a berth, withou regard to distance, is called for; is Pennsylvania the rate demanded is $1 or the first 100 miles and 50 cents for each additional 100 miles. The legislators of Illinois want a rate of $1 for 24 bours or less; the Hoosiers are near to passing a bill fixing a rate of 75 cents for the first 100 miles and 50 cents for and all persons indebted to exhibit the same, and all persons indebted to exhibit the same. each additional ten miles; in Kansas the purpose is to fix sleeping car rates at nothing higher than $1.50 per night and as low as 25 cents per day. A bil is almost certain to pass in Arkansa limiting the rate to half a cent a mile and the legislators of Texas are minde to fix the rate at $1 a night, etc. - New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A Sail on the Clouds. There's a beautiful cloud fleet passing by, With white sails all unfurled. Let's take a sail o'er the blue expanse

And visit the mystery world. We'll sail and sail o'er the spacious sea With the pilot Breeze to steer,

And never come back to the earthland sweet For a day and a month and a year.

We'll visit the place where the little dame Plucks wool from the fleecy clouds

And weaves it into the snow white robes That are sent for the winter shrouds. We'll sail to the west when the day is done
And watch while the artist's hand Is painting the glow in the sunset sky

And we'll see how he fills his treasure jars With pigments of brilliant dye, Where red and yellow and crimson tints With the royal colors vie.

For these he must use when the harvest moon Looks down on the ripened sheaves And the time has come to brighten the earth

By painting the forest leaves. We'll watch the sun as his chariot rolls Far down the horizon's rim, And he carries the beautiful day along, And earthland is growing dim.

Then we'll sail to the north, where the Major

As he empties it over the plain.

We'll explore the place where the comet And brushes her hair of gold, Or plays coquette with the polar star. Or dances with meteors bold. Then we'll skim the cream from the Milky

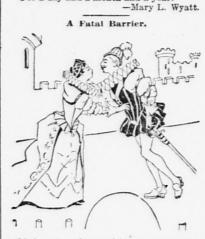

And make us a choice repast

And lay us to sleep upon downy beds And dream while the night shall last

Then waking we'll sail to the reddening east, Where morning comes in at the gate, And watch the sun with his prancing steeds Ride up to the door in state. Then again o'er the boundless blue we'll float. Far off in the ether clear,

And never come back to the earthland sweet

For a day and a month and a year.

Malbonia-Come, kiss me, sweet coz, and I'll be gone. (In an agitated whisper) How on earth are we going to manage this? We haven't rehearsed in these collars.

The Paily Ledger. CANNON'S ESTIMATES

Show Appropriations and Authorizations of $1,015,000,000.

DELEGATES NOT YET SELECTED

To Represent America In the Monetary Conference.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Representative Cannon, on behalf of the Republican minority of the house committee on appropriations, has prepared a summary showing the total expenditure of the Fiftythird congress and comparing it with the expenditures of the so-called "billion dollar congress," in which Mr. Cannon was at the general secretary, and directed the latthe head of the appropriations committee. The statement is published today as a part

It says: "A statement of the aggregate of appropriations made by this congressthe first half of Cleveland's administration-as compared with the aggregate of the appropriations for the Fifty-first and Fifty-second congresses, respectively, un-der Harrison's administration follows: For this purpose a comparative statement, which has been carefully compiled and is correct, is inserted: "From this statement it appears that the appropriations of the Fifty-first con-gress, when Mr. Reed was speaker of the house, and the present house and senate were Republican, were, in round numbers, $988,000,000, while the appropriations for the Fifty-second congress, when the house was Democratic and Mr. Crisp was speaker, were, in round numbers, $1,027,-000,000, and the appropriations for this congress, with president, house and senate | foreign office.

all Democratic, are, in round numbers, $990,000,000. "Moreover, the late sale of 30 year 4 per cent United States bonds-the payment of Is holding his dipper of rain, interest upon which is permanent—swells

And we'll listen to hear how the flowers laugh the total appropriation for this and the next year by $2,900,000, making the grand total actually appropriated by this congress in round numbers $993 000,000. This exceeds the appropriations made by the Fifty-first congress, called by our Democratic friends "the billion dollar congress," in round numbers, by $5,000,000. "This congress, furthermore, in addition to the actual increase of appropriations, has authorized public works to be congress to make appropriations therefor as follows: By fortification act, $525,000; by sundry civil act, $6,385,000; by District of Columbia act, $261,764; by naval appropriation act, $14,715,000; total. $21,686,764. Thus the appropriations and authorizations of this congress are seen to be in round numbers $1,015,000,000." The Monetary Conference, The members of the monetary com have a conference with the secretaries of state and treasury before they leave Wash-The recent movements in Europe favorable to an international conference furnish encouragement for the belief that such a conference will be convened and something practical and beneficial may result from its investigations and labors. The three commissioners to be selected by the president will not be named for several weeks. An impression prevails that the president will select those who are in favor of the gold standard and who are opposed to bi-metallism To select three pronounced gold standard representatives, remarked a cabinet minister yesterday, would retard rather than promote a solution of the question and might result in a conflict between the American delegates. It has come to be the fashion of the silver advocates to speak of the president as the champion of the single standard, and to assume that any action of his in connection with this subject will ver coinage. Therefore, it is assumed by these people that he is likely to send as delegates to the conference men who will antagonize bi-metallism. No one has the right to assert, remarked this cabinet officer, that allism. He has never said that he was, head, and so he brought suit against the | nor has he had ever done anything to war-

Every effort is being made here to bring the silver question prominently to the front, and make it figure as the one great issue in the next campaign. The men who make their living by agitating this question are very much disappointed with the provision made for having this country at another international conference, should one be held.

There is some talk now of the sound money men organizing in a similar way that the silver men are doing, to educate the people in behalf of sound money. It is the belief of influential southern representatives who are opposed to the free coinage craze that if the campaign could be carried on in the proper way in the south and west it would no doubt change the prevailing feeling.

NEWBOLD'S ACCOUNTS Appear to Have Caused the Church Missionary Society to Lose Money.

NEW YORK, March 8.-George C. White, chairman of the finance committee of the American Church Missionary society, has "I given out the following statement: am a comparatively new member of the executive board of the society. At the January meeting I was made chairman of the finance committee. Immediately upon looking into the duties of my new office I found that the books called for a large cash balance on hand in a trust company, and was informed that the treasurer. H. A. Oakley, claimed that there was an error in the accounts and that there was no such money on hand. I was afterward informed that the general secretary knew that there was a discrepancy in the accounts, but he did not so inform the executive board until the January meet-

"I brought an accountant to our office and introduced him to W. A. Newbold, ter to produce all books, vouchers and papers he might call for in order to make his examination. There appeared to be several items in regard to Mr. Newbold's account which required explanation.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 10. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. Topic.-Everything for God.-Luke riv, 25-

It costs something to be a Christian. Nor did Christ attempt to conceal this fact from His followers. Instead He emphasized the fact and told them plainly that unless they were willing to give up every thing for God they could not be His disciples. He also pointed out to them the importance of counting the cost before they pledged themselves to Him. As a man before building a tower counts the cost of it, as a king before going to war estimates his ability to cope with the enemy, so Christ taught that we should carefully consider the sacrifices embraced in Christian discipleship before we take this discipleship upon ourselves. It is reasonable and just that we should do so, and just as reasonable and just to give up all for God. 1. Everything for God includes our affections (verse 26). "If any man come to Me and hate not his father and mother and wife and children and brethren and sisters, * * * he cannot be My examination showed that Mr. Newbold disciple." This does not mean literally that we are to hate our relatives. The Bible everywhere repudiates such a doctrine. It is simply another way of saying that the first place in our hearts, in our affections, must be reserved for God. We must allow nothing, then, to stand before Him, not even our dearest relatives and loved ones. "Thou shalt have no other gods before Me." If we loved some one more than God in Christ, it would be placing something above Him, and this makes true discipleship impos 2. Everything for God includes life itself. Life is one of our greatest blessings. We prize it very highly and sell it very dearly, and yet even life itself, if necessary, must be given to God. If we are brought into a position when it is a question of life or Christ, there should be no hesitancy in choosing Christ. As Stephen and all the long list of martyrs chose Christ and death, so should all His disciples. We should die daily for Christ, die to sin, selfishness unrighteousness and to the world in all 3. Everything for God includes all that we have (verse 33). "Whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath cannot be My disciple." This is the essence of the whole matter in one word-"all." It must be all for Christ or nothing for Him-loved ones, houses, lands, health, wealth, pleasure, prosper ity. The child of God must stand ready to sacrifice any or all of it for Him. That he should be willing to do so is not unjust or unreasonable. God has a just right to all we have and are. He gives us strength to make sacrifices for Him. He repays us abundantly for all we give up. "Every one that hath for saken houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children or lands, for My name's sake, shall receive a hundredfold and shall inherit everlasting life." Christianity may cost something, but it pays, for it hath the promise both of this life and the life to Bible Readings.—Gen. xxii (1-3, 10-12); I Chron. xxix, 16, 17; Ps. 1, 8-12; Math. iv, 18-20; xix, 28, 29; Mark x, 28-30; Luke v, 11; Acts xv, 25, 26;

Face the World Bravely It is impossible to estimate the power for good in this sad, struggling life of a bright, glad, shining face. Of all the lights you carry in your face. Joy shines farthest out to sea One of the best things any of us can do for this world is to show it ever a victorious life of joy, a face that shine even through tears, a beauty of the Lord which glows with radiance even in the night. That is the life the Master wants every follower of His to live, and we can live it, too, if our life is truly hid with Christ in God. - J. R. Miller, D. D. German Gifts to Missions. The missionary gifts of the German Protestants are $848,170 a year. These gifts support 658 missionaries, 113 or dained natives and 4,717 native associates. In the churches cared for by these missionaries are 101,807 communicants, with 265,881 native Christians. Furthermore, the German Protestants support on mission fields 1,246 schools, with nearly 60,000 scholars.

The Mystery Solved. When a pastor complains that his Christian Endeavor society is acting unworthily, the first question to be asked him is, "Do you attend its meetings regularly yourself?" If he answers, "No, but" - there is no need of further words. The mystery is solved. - Golden Rule.

Christian Endeavor Notes.

The Reformed Church society (German) of Cleveland has taken a share in the stock company that has sent Rev. S. S. Snyder to Japan as a missionary and is supporting him there. Rev. J. E. Newell, the Christian Endeavor superintendent of the South Sea islands, writes that as yet the Samoan societies are not united. In the Tokelau islands, in the South seas, there is a flourishing society on the island of Takaofo. It numbers 56 members, the entire population being only

The Trinity Reformed society, York, Pa., recently raised $50 for mission work in Japan at one meeting. There are 77 societies in Alabama, being juniors. There are now 507 societies in the colony of Victoria, N. S. W., with about 16,038 members. These are divided among ten denominations, the Wesleyans leading with more than twice the number of societies in any other church.

A Methodist Protestant Endeavorer of a certain town in Pennsylvania, being thoroughly in earnest, recently made a gift to his society of the money he had saved by shaving himself.

A number of conferences have been have with the officials of the Japanese legation here, and several phases of the subject are now under negotiation between Tokio and Washington. It is probable that five or six of the most influential and wealthy and perhaps absolutely invisible, but Japanese merchants will be named among the incorporators. France has also been interested, and in the course of the negotiations she has made a significant suggestion to Hawaii better subserved by having the cable go via the United States instead of the Vancouver route, which would be uver route, which would be controlled by Great Britain. The chief interest of France is in securing cable connections with Tahiti and her other Pacific posses sions and with her naval rendezvous, which is now cut off from communication. Russia's interests in the project are regarded as even more important than those of Japan or France. Russia's cable communication with the Western hemisphere is now westward, through London or Paris, and this filtering of all her news and official messages has long been a source of irritation. The Russian imperial family already have a cable from Vladivostok, the westerly point of Siberia, to Japan, so that the new line would-give Russia through cable communication east-

COAL, COAL, COAL, Japan, so that the new line would-give Russia through cable communication eastward instead of through London or Paris. The Military and Strategic Importance this is very great, for should Russia be arrayed against the triple alliance she could not communicate westward to the outer world, but could always maintain communication eastward to the United States and to France. Hawaii is also interested in the enterprise, as she regards it as a practical re-alization of her efforts to communicate with the outer world. The United States congress failed to act and it also declined to vacate the treaty in order to let Great Britain build the cable. Under these circumstances the new enterprise, with Russia, France and Japan joining, has commended itself to Minister Thurston and to other leading men of Hawaii. The foregoing gives the international scope of the enterprise. The American branch is on similarly broad lines. Admiral Irwin, who wrote the notable re-port when in command of our fleet in Hawaii, and General Stone, are principally interested in the enterprise in Washington. With them are associated Messrs. Alvord, Spreckels, Oelrichs and other millionaire capitalists. Besides these there will be several wealthy Japanese capitalists. Negotiations are also in progress, which cannot now be made public, by which a financial house known the world over will be among the projectors. The principal work of organization is being consummated here in Washington. The only question at present is whether the incorporation shall be under the state laws of New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia or California. Their advantages are being compared, and the incorporation will be under the state laws most favor-

Make a Note Of. NEW YORK, March 9 .- Nature's freaks Severe storms, great earthquakes and unusual atmospheric phenomena almost always come insufficiently announced and work damage which might be averted if the exact time and nature of their coming were only subject to precise prediction.

An eclipse of the moon is to take place tomorrow evening, and as this is a phenomenon which can be accurately foretold Raw Cotton Higher and Cotton every one who may have occasion to travel on country roads should remember that for an hour and a half during the evening the moon's rays will be withdrawn, and only the feeble light of the stars will remain to light the way.

Standard time: Dentral .... 8 p. m .....

The accompanying illustrations show quietly, but with such satisfactory results four positions which the moon will take with respect to the earth's shadow. These are exactly an hour apart. NEW YORK, March 9 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade, issued today, says: Congressional adjournment, and proof that though the rate of exchange rises to and even above the shipping point gold does not go out, have produced a much better feeling.
Prices do not improve, and there is some loss in wages, while strikes of 15,000 coal miners near Pittsburg and several thou-sand building workers here, besides strikes in 10 or 12 textile and iron establishments, further lessen purchasing power for the time. But anticipation of improved demand for goods is general, and many are manufacturing and buying beyond present needs on the strength of it.

The state of foreign trade is not reassuring, for while exports decreased $500,000 tance by which Russia, France, Japan and Hawaii will join in an American enterprise for laying a cable from the United States to Hawaii and thence to Japan, with branch cables to the French Japan, with branch cables to the French Land with branch cables to the 000 in February.

The Metal Markets.

Three causes help the iron industry for the time-expectation of another great strike at coke works, reports that besse mer lake ore will advance and a moderate increase in demand for products. Sales of bessemer iron to three great Pittsburg companies, said to aggregate 125,000 tons, protect them against the change in ore, and the output of coke, over 150,000 tons, and shipments larger than ever, seem to prepare for a strike.

The increase in demand is on the whole small, much of it due to new building throughout the country and some to better orders for sheets and wire nails. A PERUVIAN PLOT.

Sinking of the Bark Portland Lloyd Was Brought About by a Mutiny. PHILADELPHIA, March 9.-A letter received in this city yesterday from Charles Jones, steward of the missing American bark Portland Lloyd, which left Junin for New York on Feb. 4, conveys the startling information that the vessel was wrecked during a desperate mutiny on board, in which the captain and most of his crew were killed. Shortly after the hark left Junin with a valuable cargo of nitrate, it was re-ported that she had struck a rock at the entrance to the Bay of Junin and that all hands were drowned. Jones' letter, which was to a relative declares that the affair was a planned at tempt by the revolutionary party in Peru to seize the vessel and cargo for use against the government. While the ship was working out of the harbor, a gang of cut-throat Peruvians appeared on deck; the captain knocked one down with a handspike, the chief mate was shot dead and two of the sailors stabbed. The man at the wheel, seeing that they were at the steered the bark on the rocks.

The steward and A. B. Jellusson, a seaman, were the only ones of the American crew saved. They endured great hardships, and had to lie concealed for some days before they could escape the ruffians. An inquiry will be made into the affair by the American consul at Callao.

The story is borne out by a telegram re ceived by Hager & Co., the agents of the vessel in this city, stating that the wreck had been preceded by a mutiny in which the captain and all hands but two were

WASHINGTON, March 9. - Assistant Secretary Curtis yesterday made public the following statement: "In view of certain statements in the newspapers that treasury officials are embarrassed by an alleged failure in gold deliveries under the recent contract, and other assertions of a similar nature, calculated to mislead and disturb the public mind, I wish to say that the actual withdrawals of gold from the treasury since March 1, 1895, have been $355,847, of which $281,087 have been for the redemption of United States treasury notes and $74,260 for the redemption of United States notes. "These are no more than the ordinary withdrawals which in the past have

"The February figures quoted in som of the newspapers as withdrawn include the heavy withdrawals of the earlier part of that month before the gold purchase contract was made and one single large item withdrawn for export, concerning which there has been considerable newspaper comment.

"The treasury officials who are charged with the responsibility of these transac tions have no anxiety whatever in regard to the method which is and has been pursued by the sellers of the gold coin under the recent contract. They are satisfied to contemplate the fact that for five weeks the withdrawals of gold coin have not exceeded the normal amount, with the exception of the instance quoted above, and that no exports of gold whatever have been made during that time. The fact is that fully $9,000,000 in gold has already been deposited in the foreign account in excess of the contract requirements.

"In regard to the excess of the government expenditures over receipts, it is well known that the latter are rapidly increasing, and that up to this time nothing has been received from the income tax and very little from sugar duty, both of which will be important elements of government receipts in the near future.

"There is plenty of money in the treasury to pay the appropriations, and the statement in some articles 'That if the treasury had the money, the passage on the enormous appropriation bills would trators. lead to the immediate disbursement of immense sums of money,' is totally un-

"The total available cash in the treasury today amounts to $83,371,495, over and above the one hundred millions allowed to cover the gold reserve, which is $89,745,-794.11.

Sayers' Figures. Chairman Sayers of the house commitee on appropriations has made a statement of the appropriations of the Fifty third congress. He presents, with his statement, tables showing appropriations of the past three congresses, as follows: Fifty-first, $1,035,680,109; Fifty-second, $1. 027,104,527; Fifty-third, $990,338,691.

Discussing his report, Mr. Sayers said: 'Notwithstanding the considerable reduction made in the total appropriations at the last session under those of both the preceding congresses, it will be noticed that the appropriations for deficiencies at this session are less than they were at the last session, and even less than the average for the two sessions of the Fifty-first ongress, a result which is to the credit of the present economical administration of the government.

"The sum charged under permanent appropriations, $113,073,956, includes $31,771. 796 to pay interest on the public debt, including Pacific railroad indebtedness, and $49,250,000 to meet the requirements of contracts authorized by laws passed during the Fifty-first and Fifty-second congresses. Appropriations were made by 115; total, $43.641.611.

I was coming home one autumn even-

She was evidently distressed by the weight upon her back, for she puffed and wheezed, and coming up behind her on the grass I could hear her muttering objurgations at every step she took. She was not a very good old woman. 'Glory me!' she kept on saying.
"Oh, my back! To — with the taties!"
I knew her by her voice. It was old Peggy Tregenza.
"Why, Peggy, this is much too heavy

She looked up with a scowl, not seeing at first who it was, but when she recog-nized me the whole expression of her face changed, and she dropped a courtesy, assuring me that she had brought a few potatoes for my acceptance.

"Why, that's very kind of you, Peggy, said, "but you bring me far too many! "Take 'em, doctor; take 'em,' she said magnanimously. What saith the Scripture? Cast thy potatoes on the doctor, and thou shalt find them after many daysmaybe about Christmas time," she added slyly, and, with obvious glee at this ingenious method of insurance against the privations of the winter, old Peggy hobbled off. - Golden Rule.

A Basket Party.

The Merry Mount lodge, No. 55, I. O. G. T., had a very successful basket

After transacting routine business, the various baskets were distributed, and each receiver had to respond by singing, speaking, or in some way contributing to the social features of the occasion, otherwise the gift was forfeited. Needless to say, few of the baskets went begging for takers. Their contents were varied and original, and sometimes the outward appearance was anything but a reliable index of the substantial bulk of the articles within. Some had candy and peanuts, some cake and fruit. The presiding officer Mr. Melville C. Holmes was presented with an attractive looking bundle containing a miniature baby in long clothes. Other equally appropriate gifts were disposed around.

Social diversions such as these, although they are not the primary aim for which the temperance order exists, yet contribute in no small measure to cementing members together in moral intercourse, and are of immense advantage in retaining the watchful interest of all in the more important work of the cause. Even in Quincy there is a wide field for temperance work and the influences that can be exerted through the medium of a society of earnest abstainers are almost incalculable.

He gave many illustrations to show the position of the three schools of theology that respectively maintains the authority of reason; the church and the bible, and history, philosophy and poetry were adduced to exhibit and enforce the truth that the word of God must be the final authority. He introduced Martineau, Newman, and Spurgeon, as representatives of these different systems. He described many of the possibilities as also the puerilities and limitations of reason. Belgian Labor Greatly Aided by the Eslishment of a National Exchange. WASHINGTON, March 11.-United States Consul Murphy at Luxemburg, in a report to the state department, outlines the scheme of a National Labor exchange which has proven very beneficial in that grand duchy in facilitating the employment of labor. It was instituted in 1892, and every postoffice co-operates in the transmission of offers and applications for imployment between wage-payers and wage-earners.

Offers and applications are addressed to the nearest postmaster on special postal cards, and the applications are registered. The lists are publicly posted in all postoffices, in railway stations, hotels and pub-lic houses. The postoffice assumes no re-sponsibility in the business beyond the transmission and posting of applications and offers. The postmaster informs the applicant by postal card when an offer of employment is received.

A statement attached shows that during two years there were received through this system 1904 applications for employment, and 1701 of these applicants se cured places. During the same time 3514 employers applied for help, and engaged 4427.

A Pinch of Profit for Us, the Rest is All for You.

Never in the history of furniture manufacturing have prices been so wonderfully law as now. It is said that women are the slaves to fashion. At this store we are slaves to the furniture market, watching its latest improved devices, for the manufacture of home comforts, and placing in your midst the newest and best the market produces, at prices that set you wondering how the goods can be sold so low.

Yes, this store is both original and progressive in its business methods. We mean that it shall be, and that our customers shall be gainers threeby, we quote these wonderfully rheumatic gout, or any gouty or rheumatic affection whatever, has its surest remedy in the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt. There's nothing so successful in clearing out the excess of uric acid in the blood. That has been proved in hundreds of years and in thousands of cases at Carlsbad. So with any of the ailments brought on by sedentary habits -dyspepsia, indigestion, perverted nutrition, constipation, Carlsbad cures them, and cures them permanently.

But the best way is to prevent them. A little Carlsbad Sprudel Salt taken when you suspect any trouble, will keep your stomach and liver and bowels and kidneys in perfect order.

Take only the genuine imported Carlsbad Salt (solidified and bottled at the Sprudel Spring) with signature of "EISNER & Mendelson Co., Sole Agents, New York," on every bottle.

LOHIER, THE HUNTER

Long years ago when the fairies still used their power there lived a young man named Lohier. He was good looking and not without wit, but the poor fellow had one misfortune. He never near him. He left the brave dog to succeeded when he went out hunting, and yet he obstinately persisted in hunting all the same.

What was a rare thing among common people at that time, Lohier had a pretty home of his own-the gift of a generous lord, whose life he had saved. It was made up of a cottage beside a little pool full of fish, a few acres of land and a moor, where, doubtless there was plenty of game under the broom and the briers. This moorland was the torment of the poor man's life. It was in vain that he set out at the break of day, his rifle on his arm, and his dog, Pataud, at his heels, to beat the bushes until evening. Rabbits and hares slipped away between his feet, while the partridges and the little birds flew up before him without hurrying, as if they knew his ill luck.

There is no need to say that the people of the village laughed loudly when they met Lohier with his empty game sack and Pataud lowering his ears. But when he came home the unfortunate hunter had the same reception. His wife, Paulette, overwhelmed him with

However, one evening he came back in a bad humor, after having spent in vain his whole provision of powder. He found at the cottage his cousin William, who was waiting for him with all his mates to ask him to his wedding. After the first compliments, Paulette brought out a jug of cider which put every one in a good humor. "See here, William," cried Lohier, while they were drinking each other's healths. "What present do you wisb me to make you for your marriage?" His cousin answered, jokingly: "Oh, I'm not hard to please. Just bring me a few fine pieces of game for the wedding breakfast. That will be easy for a hunter like vou.' .This displeased Lohier, who became quite angry as he saw the other smiling. So, striking the table a heavy blow with his fist, he said: "Don't you believe that if I wished to take the trouble

Paris, March 12.-Worth, the famous dressmaker, died yesterday of congestion

CHARLES FREDERICK WORTH Charles Frederick Worth, king of dress makers, was an Englishman by birth, but his fame was made in Paris during the second empire. He was born at Bourn Lincolnshire, and his parents apprentic him to a printer. Worth disliked the busi ness exceedingly, and seven months afte entering it abandoned the printing office and went to London.

He secured employment in a drystore, where he remained six years. Wh there he conceived the idea of becomin dressmaker, and thought of Paris as most eligible place in which to follow of his inclination. He had learned French language before going to Pa where, when he was about 22 years old dull and heavy, it's your liver that's at fault. A sluggish, torpid liver deranges your stomach and kidneys and bowels. It poisons your blood. You feel it "all over."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. *

The best-known remedy in the world is Carlsbad. People go there, not only for a disordered liver, but for all the diseases that follow it, and for jaundice and chronic liver complaint, and every ailment of the kind. There's no need for you to go.

You get precisely the same treatment in the Carlsbad Sprudel Salt (the water solidified at the Spring) or in the imported waters. In catarrh of the stomach, dyspepsia, habitual constipation, diabetes, or any gouty or rheumatic affection, they have been a specific for hundreds of years.

Take only the genuine imported article, with the signature of "EISNER & MENDELSON Co., Sole Agents, New York," and the seal of the city of Carlsbad on every bottle. Beware of the many worthless imitations sold here as "improved" or "artificial" Carlsbad Salt, which consist only of a mixture of common Glauber Salt and Seidlitz Powder, and in no way have the same action as the genuine natural remedy of Carls bad. Insist upon the genuine.

"Within the hour." "Very well, Capoul, I am ready for the game of life and death.' "I, too, am ready," said Monteith, and the two friends sat down. Ten minutes passed, 20, and the game was won by Capoul. The second game, too, was won by him. "Great heaven! Garnet, old fellow, I feel for you from my heart," cried the winner, the tears starting to his eyes.

Garnet pressed his friend's hand as he said quietly: "I was ever a poor, unlucky dog, Capoul; but, my friend, when I am dead, look in my saddle roll, hanging there, and the papers you find please deliver to the proper address, and — and — Capoul, say to—to Miss Mabel I left a farewell for her. Three years had added more dignity to the face and perhaps saddened it, but oth-erwise no change had come over Capoul Monteith's fine features. Upon his right hand, setting back from the road, was a pretty farmhouse, sur rounded by fertile fields, and, the sigh promising well for a night's "lodging fo man and beast," Capoul turned in at the white gateway, rode up to the front door and dismounted.

The owner of the house descended the steps to greet him, and Capoul Monteith stood face to face with Garnet Weston! "Great heaven, has the grave given up its dead?" cried Capoul in dismay.

"No, old fellow, you find me flesh and blood, ready and willing to give you a hearty welcome to this my home, left me by an old bachelor uncle a few months Mexico and nearly broke her heart."

It now transpires that at the end of each month after his election to the presidence of the republic M. Casimir-Perier was in the habit of distributing among the poo whatever remained of his allowance from the state, as he did not wish to retain a single centime of the money provided for the maintenance of his establishment a the Elysee. Indeed it is added that, be-sides this, M. Casimir-Perier gave away upward of £10,000 in charity out of his private income while he was chief of the state, yet all this time he was the object of bitter insults and violent attacks from the so called champions of the poor and needy. - London Telegraph.

FIRE AND ITS TERRORS.

Everybody Should Be Prepared-Hew a Scalded Child was Cured.

(From the Boston Herald.) Every person who works around a fire can save themselves much suffering by keeping at hand a good remely for scalds and burns. When such accidents happen the chances are that something is applied that had better been left off. A person will eften apply cold water to a burn and suffer teafold in consequence. Then there are many remedies recommended for burns and scalds that only give temporary relief; they do not prevent the inflammation, blistering and soreness that follow a burn, and which often prove so dangerous. No better remedy could possibly be recommended than Perry Davis' Pain-Killer. This good old specific, with its record of half a century, has no equal, and it is doubtful if it ever will have. True, when first applied it will bring the tears to your eyes for a moment, but after that the fire leaves, the pain stops, and the trouble is over. Every person who works around a fire is over. A case that came under the notice of Mr. A case that came under the notice of Mr. Charles Carroll, editor and publisher of the Rhode Island Pendulum, at East Greenwich, R. I., is well worth citing. He says:

"I witnessed one application of Pain-Killer in our family which was accompanied with wonderful results. A little child was playing near the kitchen stove, on top of which was a kettle of boiling hot fat. The cook accidentally upset the kettle and the contents were poured down the lew and the contents were poured down the low neck of the little one's dress. It was a time neck of the little one's dress. It was a time of emergency. Whatever was done had to be done quickly.

"Mother always believed in Pain-Killer, and without a moment's hesitation she poured a bottleful of itdown the baby's neck. It was heroic treatment, to be sure, but it proved wise, for the child's life was saved, and what was most wonderful, there was not a scar left as a reminder of the terrible accident. Pain-Killer certainly kills pain."

CHOLLY AND THE INCOME TAX.

The Idea Is Odious to the Dudes, and They Can't "Make Out" the Papers. The income tax fellow has been around to see me.

I was out. So he left his card in the shape of a huge printed document as big as a copy of The Recorder. It is covered with affidavits, and I

A seven shooter, every barrel of which was loaded, was laid in a conspicuous place close to my hand, and I cannot understand yet why I did not shoot myself or some member of my family in my various frantic grabs at the weapon when I heard or thought I heard some one ascending the stairs. I had read somewhere that newspapers spread on the stairs would make such a crackling sound if any one stepped on them that they made the best be glar detectives in the world. I tried it, and my youngest hopeful fel lown stairs in consequence the next morning and sustained a fractured arm. It was then that Jack came upon the scene. Jack was a hunting dog, part bloodhound, handsome to look at, but very ferocious to deal with. Either he was hard of hearing or he could not discriminate between friends and foes, but by the time I had owned Jack a fortnight none of my friends would come near me. So I followed the example of the clown at the circus who owned an elastic dog. I took him in at night and let him out in the morning. Jack had his chair in the sitting room, close to a veranda and a window, from which the side gate could be seen and past which the sidewalk extended for a square or so, ours being the last house on the block.

I sometimes wondered myself if I was not as much afraid of the new dog as of the burglars, but he never moved from his post, and I became used to his low growls WOONSOCKET, March 12 .- The calendar and barks if any one passed, which did room of the Alice Rubber mills started up

We all thoug the window was broken from the casement that perhaps the men would shoot ou only protector and make their way in, but in a moment we were reassured. The noise the dog made prevented us hearing anything, but we saw the two men going away, at first slowly, then faster, and they went back the way they came. Were they burglars? Wait till I finish my story. The next day I took my little family and accompanied my friends to their home in the city. We had each noted the dress, size and general appearance of the two men, one being tall and wearing a derby hat, while the other was short and wore a cap. There was great excitement at our little suburban station, and a crowd of people had gathered about some police officer who had captured two men. We craned our necks and saw our two burglars.

"Who are they?" we asked breathlessly.
"Tramps, I reckon," said the station master. "They nearly murdered an old man up here in Harlem last night because he wouldn't give up his money. The old fellow was plucky and roused the neigh borhood, and the officers are just taking them into the city."

We looked at each other when the sta tion master had finished. "It might have been us," I said, with a shudder, "if it hadn't been for Providence —and Jack."—Detroit Free Press.

NEGROES SHOT DOWN

White Men Precipitate Fatal Riot at New Orleans.

GOVERNMENT WILL NOT INTERFERE

Unless the Situation Gets Beyond State's Control.

NEW ORLEANS, March 13 .- A thick fog vesterday morning was the veil behind which desperate white levee laborers gathered, and which they penetrated with Winchester rifle balls aimed at colored n-union men at work on the ships. The attack was made at points several niles apart, just before the arrival of the olice, and as a result there are half a lozen corpses and a dozen or so wounded a week old, and the miners feel that they nen. The police saw the attack, but no arrests followed, they claiming they were too few to cope with the unexpected out-break. The day before the mayor said all was quiet and the governor saw no grounds for interfering, but now the business men are denouncing both; the militia is in readiness to move; an appeal to the federal government has virtually been made, and even the foreign consuls have decided to join in the movement for peace at any

The causes which led to the troubles ave been of long standing, and grew out of the attempt of ship agents and others interested to reduce rates. The white screwmen claim that the colored men, who were given a share of the work under an agreement, made secret cuts and violated the agreement, and gradually crowded the white men off. The white asociations then severed all ties with the blacks, and refused to work with them or or the min who employed them. The white 'long shoremen joined the screwmen in this

White Laborers Were Obstinate. Since then the steamship lines have been gradually going over to the negroes Lately the white screwmen quit work or the lines still loyal to them, and stated that they would not work until the whole affair was straightened out. Several more lines then took on negroes from necessity. The whites finally determined to retaliate on the stevederes by offering to reduce rates and deal with the ships direct. Ships in haste accepted the offer, but the agents stood by the stevedores. The latter offered to pay more than the screwmen asked, but the screwmen re-fused to deal with them. The agents offered to pay the screwmen their wages superintendents, but the screwmen again declined. Then the stevedores began importing colored screwmen from Galveston, and the whites, growing desperate, broke oose in riot.

The dead are: William Campbell, colred, screwman; Jules Calice Carrabe, shoemaker; two unknown men; Leonard . Mallard, colored, scalesman.

The injured: James A. Bane, white, purser, steamsnip Engineer, dangerous; Henry Brown, colored, will recover; Tim Persten, colored, coal wheeler, may recover: Louis Cast, colored, will recover; Billy Williams, colored, will recover; Frank Lighthall, colored, dangerous; Robert Brooks, white, may recover. Two negroes, names unknown, jumped into the river and it is believed were drowned.

The police, up to 8 o'clock last night, had made but two arrests. Robert Brooks and Mike Fitzpatrick, both white screwmen, were taken into custody early in the evening. Both men were wounded, Brooks in the groin and Fitzpatrick in the wrist, and are said to have been shot by their comrades during the promiscuous firing. The prisoners were charged with inciting a riot and remanded to await a hearing.

As Viewed at Washington. WASHINGTON, March 13 .- The United States will not send troops to New Orleans until it is fully demonstrated that the city and state authorities are no longer able to maintain the peace and protect reached late vesterday afternoon and telegraphed to United States Attorney Farhardt at New Orleans. Earlier in the day Attorney General Olney received a telegram from Mr. Farhardt stating that the city was in the hands of a mob and suggested that United States troops be sent forward at once. The attorney general replied as follows:

Do not understand why state authorities are not called upon to preserve peace and re-press lawless violence. If that were done, na-tional commerce would resume its operations, and application to state authorities ought to be made and be denied or be proved unsuccess ful before the United States interposes.

Mr. Olney, in speaking of the situation, said, so far as he has been able to learn, neither the city nor state authorities had called out the state militia or taken vigorous means to suppress the existing lawlessness. He had no doubt, however, of the ability of the local authorities to handle the mob if they really set about doing it, and in any event the government would not interfere until the situation was clearly beyond the control of the governor of the state, aided by the military force at his command. The war department officials say that the state of Louisiana, with its militia force of 1250 men, well drilled and organized, should be able to cope with the difficulty without outside aid. If it should be necessary to invoke the aid of the federal troops, the department now has two batteries-C and L-of the third artillery stationed at Fort Jackson in the city limits of New Orleans, and this force could easily and quickly be supplemented by troops from the department of Texas.

Secretary of State, Washington, SIR-The American mail steamer Allianca under my command, while on her homeward bound voyage from Colon, R. C., to New York, was on the morning of March 8, off the coast of Cuba. At 6:30 o'clock, a barkentine rigged steamer was sighted under the land, steaming directly for us. At 7:15 she set her colors, proving to be a Spanish gunboat. Immediately ordered the American ensign hoisted on the Allianca and saluted the Span-But in the rush of a resumption of work | iard, which salute was duly returned by her.

matter was at an end. But about five minutes later the Spaniard fired a blank cartridge, and a few moments later another one, followed shortly afterward by three solid shots, all of which fell short of the Allianca, but showing very conclusively that the Spaniard was firing at us. I being fully six miles off shore and on the high seas, I paid no further attention to the Spaniard, NEW YORK, March 13.—The jury inves- but kept my course. The Spaniard kept up dgating the responsibility for the fall of the tenement house on Orchard street, by for fully 25 miles. I desire to know if the Spaniard had any right

I respectfully ask for information on that subject, as I did not and do not propose to terial. Inspector Ormsby was found heave to, thereby losing time on my voyage, to oblige the Spanish gunboats, or any other, ex-

Poem for Founder's Day.

Written by Miss F. C. Lance Recited by Helen H. Claffir

Age after age grows great to die And leave its treasure to the coming age, Which spends with careless hand a heritage Too dear for land or gold to buy: For who can gauge the might of thought. Or bound the radiance of a noble life

Or rate in gold the blood, the years the strife That freedom for a world have wrought? Or what the recompense that we Might bear to him whose gifts have made

The deeps of boundless thought, where mingling flow

The currents of eternity? Nay, death has barred the gate: We cannot pass beyond with love or praise We weave his honored name with golder days In living characters, too late. Too late to him who gave, we give: But lives of ours the richer for his deed. Shall make each talent ten, that other's nea May cease to be, because we live.

Music—"Dear Woodward," (To the tune of "Fair Harvard.")

By the School Dear Woodward, today would we herald thy praise.

As we gratefully, joyfully sing; And thy Founder's best monument herein We'd raise When our tributes of honor we bring. Oh, thy days that are past, tho' they number Yet are many in richness of life.

May the years still to come, with sweet

Like truth, his faith in the Colts, though crushed to earth one season, will fiting others. She says: rise again. Just before starting with his "Lydia E. team for Galveston this Bismarck of base-Pinkham's ball put himself on record thus: "Have I Vegetable Coma good team this year? Young man, you pound has cured should never ask such a foolish question. The team which I am taking with me to me of Kidney Texas to be trained has no superior. It is a cracker jack, with accent on the crack. Just keep your eyes on the Chicago Colts pace that selling platers like the Giants, the Bostons and the Orioles will know they're not in it. Pennant winners? Why, it's all over but the playing!"

Half of what the old man says is chaff, half is hope, and what is left is belief. "What would the great game be without him?" John M. Ward said to me recently. "The old man is half the Chicago team. Then as John Montgomery moved away I gist says the demand for it is very large, it is helping so many sickly women." heard him say to Ned Hanlon in an undertone, "If we old fellows don't stand up for one another, who will?" Inasmuch as the changes in the playing rules will govern the game wherever it be played, whether by professionals or amateurs, a clearly made abstract of each innovation should be of universal interest: First.—The pitcher's plate has been lengthened from 12 inches to 24 inches when the flag drops. They'll set such a and widened from 4 to 6. Second.-The last sentence in rule 14 is struck out. It prohibited the discoloration of a new ball when put in use by the um pire, except in the regular usage of the Smoke Damaged Goods. game. The rule was so frequently broken and worked such a hardship on the pitchers that it was repealed. Now the pitcher or any member of the nine may rub the ball in the dirt or 'dose' it as he sees fit. Third. - Catchers and first basemen may wear gloves or mitts of any size, shape or weight. All other players are restricted exceed ten ounces in weight each nor March 16th, at 5 P. M., to the 20th, we offer measure more than 14 inches around the the goods at greatly reduced prices. Fourth.-When a player is ordered out of the game, he is given one minute instead of five to leave the diamond.

Fifth.—If a batted or thrown ball here-after merely touches an outsider, it becomes a block. Sixth.-Either a grounder or a fly ball which strikes fair ground but rolls outside the foul line before it passes first or third hase is a foul. Heretofore the grounder was foul and the fly ball fair, but in some cases the line between grounder and fly was so hard to draw that trouble arose. Seventh .- A bunt hit is defined as a deliberate attempt by the batsman to hit a ball slowly within the infield.

Eighth.—A foul tip caught by the catcher while "up under the bat" become strike. If he does not catch it, the ball is Ninth.-The batsman is out on an infield fly when first and second bases, or first, second and third bases, are occupied, and not more than one hand out, whether the ball be caught or not. This is the rule which was adopted last year to kill the trap ball trick for making double plays, and as first adopted it applied also when only first base was occupied. But no double play could be made by trapping when only the first base was occupied; hence the amendment. In these plays the umpire will hereafter be required to call "infield fly" or "outfield fly," so as to warn base runners and fielders.

Tenth. - When a player on a foul or after the call of time fails to return to his proper base before the umpire calls play, he can be put out only before the ball is delivered by the pitcher to the bat. After such delivery the base runner is excused from the penalty. Eleventh.-Hereafter when a coacher offends against the coaching rules the second time he will be removed from the game and the field.

Twelfth.—Fines upon players breaking rules have been raised from a minimum of $5 to $25, and from a maximum of $25 to $100. No fine is legal under $25 nor over $100. That much governs all clubs everywhere unless the association to which they belong modifies the rule by one of its own. Thirteenth.-An offending player here after can be fined and ordered from the field for the same offense. Heretofore it was one or the other. Fourteenth.-The official bat can be 23/4 inches in diameter at its thickest part instead of 21/2. I presume this rule was made to fit Anson's bat—the one which was pronounced illegal by Umpire Lynch at Louisville last year. These are the important rule changes for 1895. The legislation against the trap ball play was aimed chiefly at Second Baseman John A. Mc-Phee, who had reduced the trick to such a science that base runners were at his mercy. If they ran on a fly, he would catch it and put them out. If they hugged their base, he would trap it and force them out. McPhee will play his fourteenth consecutive season with the Cincinnatis this year, which is the longest service of any of the present players with one club, excepting Anson. McPhee removed from Denver to Akron, O., in 1881, where he played with the team which turned out Wise, Mullane and Kemmler. Next year he went to the Cincinnatis and has been there ever since. McPhee is not only a F. H. CRANE & SONS Agents, model player, but a gentleman from the round up.

OLD TREATY KILLED

War Compelled China to Make Many Concessions to Japan.

LATTER NATION GETS FORMOSA

And Privileges at Wei-Hai-Wei and Port Arthur.

WASHINGTON, March 13 .- As a result of the negotiations between Minister Dun in Japan and Minister Denby in China, the with little short of exactness. As understood in high official circles they are as

First-The treaty between Japan and China grant Japan extraterritorial jurisdiction over China, but the latter country will surrender the extraterritorial jurisdiction she formerly held in Japan. Second—There will be no extension of Japan ese territory on the main land of Asia. But the island of Formosa, a Chinese possession, lying off the coast, will be permanently ceded Third-The Japanese will by the treaty be granted the right to continue the occupation of Port Arthur and Wei-Hai-Wei, the two great naval stations leading to the Gulf of Pechili, for a term of years. Fourth—The claims of China that Corea is a dependency of hers shall be relinquished. Fifth—The cash indemnity to be paid by China will not exceed $250,000,000 in gold. Intervention Unnecessary. The foregoing terms give a number of new features which the cable information from Pekin and Tokio has not thus far disclosed. The purpose not to extend Japanese territory on the mainland, but to confine it to the outlying island of Formosa, assures the conclusion of peace without European intervention. The maintenance of Japan's extraterritorial jurisdiction in China, while the country surrenders a similar jurisdiction, leaves China as the only Oriental country submitting to this outer jurisdiction. Until recently all civilized nations have conceded that the courts were so primitive and punishments so barbarous, in both China and Japan, that consular courts should protect foreigners residing in these countries. Japan has recently negotiated a new set of treaties with the United States, Great Britain and other countries, in which her modern court procedure is recognized and consular courts abandoned. In conformity with this new system Japan now terminates China's consular courts in Japan, although Japan's consular courts in China are to be continued. This presents the singular spectacle of China conceding the advance of Japan into modern methods, while at the same time conceding that she is still in the benighted

Just what is to be done with Liliuokalani is a question which the government has not yet anterms of the peace about to be concluded swered. Undoubtedly some proposition between China and Japan are now known | will be received from the ex-queen's representatives whereby she will either take up her residence on one of the other islands land. She has a private pension of $10,000

The restrictions of martial law have passes and the police have discarded their rifles.

The movement for annexation is gaining among the natives, and the formation of an annexation league will doubtless result in monster annexation petitions from all parts of the islands. While the superficial attitude of the English may be friendly, they have shown that they have possibility of the United States controlling this territory.

The stories published in American papers of tortures practiced upon political asks the public to inform it of any at prisoners to bring about confession has tempt to evade the quarantine, to the end caused a feeling of indignation throughout the community. LONDON, March 14.-Sir Albert Kaye THE GOVERNMENT IS POWERLESS tonio Lorenzo, Stanislau Vettari, Francisco Penchetto, Joe Welsby, Pietro Gi. Bollit, president of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, presided last night at the banquet given by that body. Responding for the board of trade, Mr. Bryce referred to the revival of Great Britain's trade with America, and said he ventured to congratulate Mr. Bayard on the energy President Cleveland had displayed on th tariff question. Continuing, he said:

"Our trade with America is distinctly reviving trade. It is especially felt in Yorkshire. There is no reason to hop encouraging.

In reply, Mr. Bayard said that nothing was more welcome to him as an American than to hear the English cheer the pros perity of their country. He dilated upon their victims writhing in their own the exhibition of patriotism in the late debates in the house of commons on questions affecting the Indian empire and the prices: British nation, and upon the approaching resignation of Speaker Peel, whom he declared illustrated perfectly the unsel-

A VETO FOR BRICK.

Wednesday at the meeting of the High Mayor Hodges Has Not Signed the Order for the City Council Monday.

When the order for plans for brick school houses passed the City Council, even though by a bare majority of one on a full vote, it was thought that the brick and wood issue for the new school houses at Norfolk

Downs and the Rail was settled. But the appropriation for the buildings has not been made, and it is said the advocates of wood will refuse to vote money for brick school houses. They realize too that with a united front they can check an appropriation, as a two-thirds votes (fifteen) is required.

Mayor Hodges when seen this morning said the order appropriating money for plans for brick school houses had not been approved by him and that he should return the order without his signature to the council at its next meeting accompanied by message giving his reasons. When asked if his reason for non-approval was on the ground of economy, he replied not wholly, and then turned to inspect some plumbing work that was being done at City Hall.

That wooden buildings can be made nearly as safe for school purposes, there is board are not absolutely wedded to the brick buildings, for a prominent member of the board made the remark Wednesday that he saw no good reason why the city should build the new buildings of brick instead of wood.

Good Advice. [Herald Mar. 13, 1895.]

Mr. Henry H. Faxon is an advocate of the restraint of the sale of liquor who is to be respected for something more than his sincerity. He has given attention earnestly and honestly to the operation of the liquor laws of the state, and there is no citizen who knows more about them. He has the advantage, too, of not mixing his views with politics to a degree that attempts to keep the word of promise to the ear, while it breaks this for practical ends. We commend, therefore, this bit of sound sense from him which appears in his communication to the Herald of Tuesday. If many of our well intending but misguided temperance friends would cease asking for new legislation upon this perplexing question, and bend their energies oward keeping and enforcing what law we Mrs L B Bearce already have on the subject, their long Jerushy,—afflicted with hay fever,

CHALLENGE ACCEPTED.

Duel Thus Far, However, Has Been Verbal One Only. HAVERHILL, March 14.-Walter S. Hale of this city says that Thomas Gilroy, Jr., of New York, son of ex-Mayor Gilroy and Hale's brother-in-law, had, as the result of a quarrel in the cafe of the Parker House, Boston, challenged Hale to fight a duel, and the challenge was accepted. The quarrel occurred through personal charges and counter charges resulting from young Hale's endeavor to have his mother re moved as his guardian. Hale states that he, accompanied by a guardian. She was found at the home of Mayor Gilroy, and her counsel, Mr. Badger, was present at the interview between her and her son, during which the lawyer told Hale that he had better look out for young Gilroy, as the latter had threatened to break every bone in his

Hale and Young reached Boston of their return from New York yesterday, and, repairing at once to the cafe of the Parker House, called for Gilroy, who with his wife, was a guest of the hotel When Gilroy appeared, Hale accused him of living on money from his (Hale's) income. Gilroy replied that he would not have anything to do with Hale, as Hale was his physical superior, but that he would meet him with pistols at any New York hotel. Hale accepted the challenge, but de clared that he would fight no where but in the vicinity of Boston. Gilroy refused IF YOU HAVE to meet Hale except in New York, and an exchange of epithets occurred, during which a crowd gathered and Gilroy escaped to his room. Hale states that he is prepared to fight at any time, but not within 100 miles of New York.

BOSTON, March 14.-Thomas F. Gilroy, Jr., was seen at the Parker House late last night. He deplored the fact that the affair had reached such an exciting stage, and said that Hale was mad because h (Gilroy) was attorney for Hale's mother. As to fighting a duel, he did not propose to do such a thing while he had his senses.

Whether Ebenezer Woodward was the grandfather of Quincy's benefactor, the LEDGER cannot tell, and the excercises at the Woodward Institute on Founder's day did not enlighten the writer:

At Concord, Ebenezer Woodward, A. B. Citizen Bachelor of Hanover, N. H., to the Amiable Miss Robinson. At Longmeadow, Mr. John M. Dunham, Citizen Bachelor and Printer, as aforesaid, to the Amiable Miss Emily Burt. The promptness and decision which the said citizens have shown

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching co'd," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneumonia, pay any attention to a cold. There are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one, get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It will relieve the lungs, aid expectoration, open the secretions and soon effect a permanent cure. 25 and 50 cent

Perhaps Allianca Was Within Spanish Marine Jurisdiction.

OTHER POINTS TO BE CONSIDERED

Before the Matter Assumes Diplomatic Importance.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The letter of Captain Crossman, of the American steamship Allianca, was received at the state department yesterday afternoon. It has already been published in full, and so had come to the notice of the department unofficially before its receipt by mail." Acting Secretary Uhl had already formed his own conclusion as to the course to be pursued. After looking over the letter carefully, he wrote Captain Crossman, asking for more particulars bearing upon the incident. Until these are fur-will be formally brought to the attention of the Spanish government. The point upon which the state department desires further information from Captain Crossman is the exact location of the Allianca when she was first signalled by the Spanish cruiser, and it is probable that the whole case may turn on this point. According to Captain Crossman's own story, he had been in the habit of taking his ship on a course that brought it within a mile of Cape Mays, the eastern extremity of the island of Cuba. He is reported to have said on this occasion—hearing at Colon that there was trouble in Cuba-he kept off the land, so that he was six miles off the cape when the incident occurred. From this statement it appears that the captain was aware that Spanish cruisers were patroling the coast in search of filibusterers and that a rebellion was in progress, but it is not clear that he was outside of the Spanish marine jurisdiction, considering the fact that there are outlying keys or islands belonging to the same nation. That these may be regarded as establishing the boundary of the marine jurisdiction is shown by the act of our own government in laying out the 60-mile exclusive line around the Pribyloff islands last year.

There is another but minor point upon which further information will be demanded, and that is whether the ship's officer can be sure that the shots fired by the Spanish cruiser were directed at the Allianca or across her bows.

Spain Yet to Be Heard. Senor Muragua's visit to the state department yesterday was for the purpose of presenting the position of Spain from the information now at hand on the firing by a Spanish gunboat on the American mail steamer Allianca.

The minister telegraphed for full particulars to the governor general of Cuba, and in reply received a dispatch that the cruiser which presumably figured in the affair had not returned, having prolonged her watch along the Cuban coast. The captain general had no particulars of the

Senor Muragua feels that only one side of the story has yet been told, and that the recital of the other side may present a different aspect to the case. But should it appear that there has been any indison or offense on the part of the Spanish warship, Senor Muragua says that witnessed the improvement from crimp- | Spain will speedily make every apology consistent with the friendship she bears to and architectural designs that mark the the United States. This assurance was product of newer methods and improved given to Acting Secretary of State Uhl, although the latter had taken no steps as yet to protest against the action of the

Taking the version of the affair as given by Captain Crossman of the Allianca, sary to give life and character to the Minister Muragua says it was apparent work, and as the designs are executed that the American ship was in the juristo conform with the many different dictional waters of Cuba and not on the high seas. These waters are measured from the outer keys about Cuba and not from the mainland, the basis of measurements being adopted the world over, and pensive machinery, by the especially recognized by the United States. As the Allianca was in jurisdictional waters of Cuba, the Spanish cruiser probably mistook the ship for one of the yachts

It is evident, the minister says, from the firing of the blank cartridges, that the purpose was to have the merchant ship stop in order that she might be asked as to whether insurgent goods were on board. Had she done this, the detention, he believes, would have been brief and formal and would not have gone beyond a simpl inquiry, as soon as it was disc vered that the ship was an American merchant steamer.

BLACK MEN WORKING

An Armed Guard Preserving the Pear

at New Orleans.

SITUATION IS MUCH IMPROV

The State Risking No Chan:

scenes along the river front of New Orleans have been succeeded by a calm and something approaching the normal condition of affairs restored. Work was resumed on the wharves yesterday, at least partially, but it was only the colored screwmen who took up their tools, and then only under the protection of an armed guard. Where there were no troops there was no work. The white screwmen held aloof, preserving a sullen, threatening silence, but none made a movement which would cause the militia to use force to suppress it. Though still strained, the situation is much improved. Governor Foster is still in the city and has announced his deter mination to remain here until the trouble is finally settled. Negotiations are in progress which may produce this happy result, but the outcome cannot be pre dicted at present.

Meanwhile, the state authorities are on du y all day yesterday slept off their fatigue in order to report this morning, when work on the shipping was resumed An Eventful Day.

By 6 o'clock yesterday morning all were astir in the armory where the troops have been quartered for the last few days. Marching orders were received from headquarters at 11 a. m., and the militia, divided into three sections, were marched to the levee and took up positions at the Harrison line wharf at Third street and sixth street. The entire force numbered the whole side and end of it. None of the Brigadier General Bartand.

Spain Has Bothered American Ships on Many Occasions.

STATE DEPARTMENT GOING SLOW

That It May Carefully Consider the Latest Case.

WASHINGTON, March 15 .- The records BREWER'S CORNER-Emma Lark, Cope of the state department contain many reports and voluminous correspondence with Spain with regard to the seizing of vessels in Cuba, which were sispected of bearing contraband articles, and in every case cited in the book the attitude assumed by the United States resulted in a complete backdown on the part of the Cuban authorities and an apology by Spain.

Indemnity has been paid in several instances, but there seems to be no case where a vessel was overhauled, brought to and searched so near the Cuban coast as the Allianea was reported to have been on March 8 when fired upon by the Span-

The Virginius, flying the American flag, was captured on the high seas on Nov. 3, 1873, by the Spanish cruiser Tornado, taken into Santiago with her crew and passengers, and many of the latter were put to death without trial. The ship was restored and an indemnity paid through Secretary Fish's instrumentality.

The correspondence contained in the foreign relations for the year 1878 discusses fully the cases of three American whaling schooners which were seized by Spanish warships at different times within month. These schooners were all 20 miles off the Cuban coast, and were suspected of carrying contraband articles. In each case indemnity was asked, amounting in all to about $15,000, and of this amount $10,000 was allowed by Spain. New England Vessels Among the Victims. In May, 1877, the schooner Ellen Rizpah, of Newburyport, engaged in whaling 20 miles off the shore of Cuba, was brought to by a blank cartridge from a Spanish guardacosta. On the vessel hoisting her colors, the guard boat having first reloaded her gun with ball, drew under her stern within short range and ordered her captain to come on board. This order he was forced to obey, and he was kept a prisoner four days. At the end of this time a Spanish warship arrived, his papers were examined and he was rudely ordered to go about his business. Scarcely had this outrage occurred when Mr. Lowell was compelled to lay the facts before the Spanish government of the seizure of another whaling schooner-the Rising Sun-of the same port, and engaged also in whaling off Cuba. This vessel was seized, her captain brought on board the Spanish guardacosta and de-board the Spanish guardacosta and detained five days.

Another whaling schooner, the Edward lee of Provincetown was chased by tained five days. Lee, of Provincetown, was chased by a Spanish gunboat, and fired at with solid a Spanish gunboat, and fired at with solid shot, and at last with shell, one of the latter bursting within a few yards of her. She escaped, however, and claimed $6000 damages for the danger the Spaniard had placed her in. Spain declined to allow it, on the ground that the vessel was not on the ground that the vessel was not harmed or detained.

Topic For the Week Beginning March 17. Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle. TOPIC.—Winning others—from what, to what and how?—Acts viii, 26-39.

The topical reference narrates the familiar story of Philip and the Ethiopian. In the providence of God Philip is led So do all cooks; to this man returning from Jerusalem, as he was reading the Scriptures, which, and the puzzle for however, he did not understand. Exevery one of them plaining away the difficulties, Philip has been how to led him to a true knowledge of God in Jesus Christ by preaching Christ as He avoid sodden pasis set forth in the Scriptures and thus try. The problem we have illustrated before us, from has now been others.

1. From what are we to win others? In general we may answer from anything that prevents them from having a true apprehension of God in Jesus Christ. In the case before us it was ignorance that caused the misapprehension. The Ethiopian read the Scriptures concerning Christ, but he did not understand them. He did not know to whom they referred. Philip had to lead him from ignorance. Ignorance keeps many from a true apprehension of God in Jesus Christ. Many, like the Ethiopian, have no one to guide them, and many who have the opportunity to learn will not do so. But there are other things besides ignorance that separate men from Christ. It may be skepticism, or unbelief or false pleasure or worldliness or sin in one form or another. From all these things Christians should seek to win others from whatever keeps them from a saving knowledge of God in Jesus Christ. We should esteem it a pleasure as well as a duty to win all

2. To what are we to win others? To a true apprehension of God in Jesus Christ. The work is only half done when we win them from their errors. Error must not only be removed, but truth must be inculcated in its stead. Skepticism and unbelief must not only be overcome, but a real and true faith must be established in their places. We Office, 4 Chestnut St., Quincy, Mass. must not only turn men from sin, but to God; not only from darkness, but to the light; not only from unrighteousness, but to true holiness. When we Joseph T. French, have despoiled the vessel of its false rudder, it must not be left rudderless, to be tossed aimlessly to and fro by the winds and waves. We must replace the false by the true if our work is the perfect work that it should be. 3. How are we to win others? By preaching Christ. This was Philip's method, for we are told that "Philip opened his mouth and began at the same Scripture and preached unto him Jesus." This was the apostolic method. It should be our method. We should preach Christ as He is set forth in the Scripture—the incarnation, death, resurrection, the atonement of Christ. It is the Scriptural Christ alone that can save men. We should preach Christ per-the ground that the vessel was not harmed or detained.

STORMED A CHURCH.

Chicago Poles Had Objections to Resurrectionist Priests.

PREVENTED SERVING OF MASS

Until Overcome by a Big Squad of Bluecoats.

CHICAGO, March 16 .- About 200 angry Poles stormed St. Hedgwick's Catholic church yesterday morning. Five policemen who were on guard were cowed by the mob, but on the arrival of re-enforcements the rioters were driven off.

There has been trouble in the St. Hedgwick's parish for many weeks. Father Barzinski was driven out three weeks rgo, and being a question of fact, and not law, and at that time the police were called upon to protect the church property.

Father Barzinski belonged to the Order of Resurrectionist Fathers, and it was to this that the objection was made for some reason. Archbishop Feehan sent Father Szydiaczyk to the church, but when it was discovered that he, too, was a Resurrectionist, he was rejected.

The church was closed and locked for of the edifice. Yesterday the Poles began pouring into the church hall, and when about 200 had arrived, the march to the church, three blocks away, was taken up. Four abreast, the excited, chattering body of men and women marched, denouncing the priest and declaring that they would prevent him from serving mass.

A constable had telephoned for the po-few minutes two patrol wagons loaded with officers were driven up to the church on the run. The orders were then given to the police to draw their revolvers and use them if necessary to clear the church. The angry crowd stood for a moment, when 40 policemen with glittering guns in their hands marched into the church. Captain Rehm ordered the intruders to leave the church, and some of the Polish officers informed the mob that the police

NEW TRIAL ORDERED. Supreme Court Renders a Decision In

NEW YORK, March 16.-Judgment has been reversed, and a new trial ordered in the case of the people against Erastus Wiman. The decision was handed down in the general term of the supreme court vesterday afternoon. NOT A "SEA SERPENT STORY."

Allianca's Officers Again Relate Their Experience.

NEW YORK, March 16.-A dispatch from Madrid states that Hannis Taylor, the American minister, yesterday presented to ner in R. G. Dun & Co., had the right to the minister of foreign affairs a demand from his government for apology and reparation from the government of Spain on account of the Allianca affair. Mr. Taylor's action was based on the following dispatch from Mr. Gresham, dated Washington, March 14:

"This department is informed that on the 5th inst. the United States mail steam ship Allianca, on her homeward voyage from Colon to New York, when six miles from the coast of Cuba, off Cape Maysi was repeatedly fired upon by a Spanish gunboat, with solid shot, which, fortunately, fell short.

"The windward passage, where this oc curred, is the natural and usual highway for vessels plying between ports of the United States and the Caribbean sea. Through it several regular lines of American mail and commercial steamers pas weekly within sight of Cape Maysi. They are well known and their voyage embraces no Cuban port of call.

HARD MONEY Comes

Senator Bill Declares it to Be the Unalterable Position of Democrats. ALBANY, March 16.-Senator H.ii lasnight made the first political speech on state issues since his campaign last fail. The occasion was the dinner of the Milliclub. During a long eulogy on Jackson

"Jackson was the conspicuous champion of hard money; the Democratic party be lieves that the government has no constitutional right to make anything except gold and silver a legal tender for the payment of debts. Nothing else can be money. There may be paper currency used for convenience and used by common consent, redeemable in coin, but that is not the money intended by the constitution.

"The Democratic position is that the greenback currency is a debt against the government and should be gradually releemed, paid off and eliminated. There are those, however, professing our faith in some portions of the country, who need to be reminded that the Democratic party is not a greenback party-a money partyand never has been; but, on the contrary especially since Jackson's time, has been a consistent hard money party, a bi-metal-lic party, the party favoring constitu-tional money and no other."

Bay State Legislature.

Boston, March 16 .- In the house there was a spirited discussion over a bili which requires owners of land on private streets in cities, before they shall be allowed to sell, or offer for sale, any house lots, to file a plan showing the lines, width and grades of such private streets, which plan shall be approved by the city authorities. The bill was rejected. In the senate the bill providing for the construction of state highways was ordered to a third reading. Reconsideration of the vote by which the trout bill was on Wednesday passed to a third reading was refused. The bill passed to be engrossed by a vote of 26 to 9. Be fore the legislative committee on metro politan affairs during the hearing on th bills to amend Boston's city charter, Jes-M. Beautiful Things. Beautiful faces as those that wear— It matters little if dark and fair— Whole souled honesty printed there. Beautiful eyes are those that show Like crystal panes where heart fires glow.

Beautiful thoughts that burn below. Beautiful lips are those whose words Leap from the heart like the song of birds, Yet whose utterance prudence girds. autiful hands are those that do

Work that is honest, brave and true, Moment by moment the long day through Beautiful feet are those that go On kindly ministries to and fro, Down lowliest ways, if God wills it so.

Beautiful shoulders are those that bear Ceaseless burdens of homely care With patient grace and daily prayer. Beautiful lives are those that bless-Silent rivers of happiness, Whose hidden fountains but few may guess

Within a week two wills have been probated in this city containing large legacies to our local benevolent and other public institutions. Few realize how vast is the sum yearly bequeathed or given to charitable uses in this country in the course of a year. During the last year the enormous sum of $19,967,-116 was given by well to do people and others to churches, colleges, museums, art galleries, libraries and other educational and helpful institutions. - Phila delphia Ledger.

Fiorida's White Fly.

Speaking of the white fly, Dr. E. C. Pasley of Flemington, Marion county. says: "The white fly is unhurt. The freeze did not exterminate the delicate little pests. They live and thrive on other trees aside from the orange and jasmine. The cold might have destroyed the egg, but they are so nicely enveloped in their strong and protected nests that neither rain nor air can penetrate and freeze them. "-Florida Times-Union.

Trade Conditions Showing a Move In the Right Direction.

HIGHER PRICES FOR PRODUCTS.

Review of the Business Situation In Canada.

NEW YORK, March 16.-R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says: Substantially, all indications of the state of business are rather more favorable. Farm products are a little higher; railroad earnings a shade better; clearing house exchanges a small percentage larger in comparison with two years ago than in February, and most of the industries show somewhat better front, though their gain is not large.

Money markets continue undisturbed, the operations of the syndicate still pre-venting exports of gold, and withdrawals from the treasury have of late practically eased. There is not much enthusiasm about the situation, however, because the gain is slow and business is yet a long way from what was once considered a prosperous condition. Further, the gain is in some cases due to obviously temporary causes and some to causes which do not make for prosperity.

The higher price of cotton, which has risen to 6.06 cents, results from belief that the acreage this year will be greatly reduced.

Higher Prices For Cereals. Wheat has risen 1½ cents because the government reporter 5,000,000 bushels in armers' hands March 1, though practically nobody in the trade thinks the estimate correct, and the accepted estimates are about 60,000,000 bashels higher. Western receipts have again risen above and exports continue below last year's. A partial loss of the cotton and wheat crop, or a great decrease in production, would hardly be a blessing to the country. Corn has risen 1 cent; pork, $1.25 a barrel, and hogs 10 and lard 30 cents per 100 pounds. Metal Market Lower. The output of pig iron March 1 was 156, 979 tons, a decrease since Feb. 1 of 6412 tons weekly, and the increase of unsold stocks was 52,900 tons in February, or 13,-225 weekly. Since Jan. 1 the weekly output has decreased 11,345 tons, and the accumulation of unsold stocks has been 195,-155 tons. Prices do not rise, and, except at Chicago, there seems to be no general

Tin is a shade stronger, but copper is lower at 9.37 cents for lake. Outlook For Boots and Shoes Brighter.

The boot and shoe manufacture is really doing better, not merely in shipments, which show the rapidity with which past orders for spring trade are being filled, 156,176 cases having been moved in two weeks of March, against 163,907 in 1893, but also in obtaining new orders for fall, at somewhat better prices. A further advance in some kinds of leather has led many jobbers to believe that the higher prices asked cannot be escaped by waiting, o that orders taken at some advance have | Church. een more numerous. Most jobbers still refuse, but in women's shoes some are paying part of the rise asked and in boots there is quite a large volume of business, though mostly in the cheaper grades.

Cottons and Woolens Improving. In the cotton manufacture there are signs of improvement, apparently caused by the advance in raw cotton, giving confidence that present values for goods will be maintained, so that the fall in print cloths has been checked, and there is more buying of other goods. In the fine and fancy wool goods there is a moderate business, while agents for low and medium goods are waiting for reorders, though some have already sold enough for the season, if no cancellations. Sales of wool were 4,683,200 pounds against 5,351,700 last year, and markets are quiet without change, though it is easier to sell at quotations, because prices have advanced abroad.

Report of Failures. Failures for the week have been 266 in the United States, against 264 last year.

Trade In the Dominion. Bradstreet's says: Montreal reports a fair volume of business, but slow collections, and the volume of spring orders less than last year. A similar report is made by Toronto, except that a few wholesale lines show gains. There is no change in the condition of trade in Halifax. Wholesale dealers report the volume of sales light and the condition of the country roads very bad. Logging has ceased in New Brunswick, the cut this year being less than usual, owing to the heavy snowfall. Business failures throughout the Do minion this week number 39, against 53

Canadian Protectives Excited Over the Manitoba School Question.

TORONTO, March 16. - The executive committee of the Canadian Protective association have issued a manifestation, in which a solemn protest is entered against Dominion interference in the Manitoba school question. It accuses the Catholic hierarchy, which it says is controlled by Jesuits, of stirring up feelings of discontent in the minds of French half-breeds, who, if let alone, would have accepted the school act without question.

Garrison Officers In Sympathy With Law Breakers.

MADRID, March 18 .- The Sagasta ministry has resigned in consequence of the rouble in the chamber of deputies Saturday, when all the reporters withdrew from the house as a protest against the official defense made by the minister of war of portunity to commit the crime. the officers who attacked and wrecked the offices of El Globo, the organ of Sector

sume the premiership. *
An explanation of the crisis is that according to the military code those who slander the army through the press ought to be tried by court-martial, while according to the press laws such matters ought to be submitted to a jury in the supreme court. Despite this, the minister of war, conforming to the desires expressed by the officers of the garrison, proposed to the cab-inet that a court-martial be summoned to try the cases. A majority of the ministers representing the civil elements opposed this procedure, whereupon Prime Minis-ter Sagasta declared it was impossible to continue longer in office. All the ministers then tendered their resignations.

The spirit of the garrison shows that almost all the officers sympathize with the rioters.

There is great excitement in the city, and no such military conflict has been seen since the restoration of the monarchy. The queen regent is much affected. Senor Sagasta and his colleagues, with the ex- given. ception of the minister of war, decided to resign directly they were apprised of the feeling among the military. ### The Blacksmiths' Bill, Arbitration, Day Labor, Etc.

The final settlement of the blacksmiths' bill on Friday evening, disposes of the working terms for the granite industry in the meantime. Although the blacksmith will receive but 22 cents per extra man instead of 25 as formerly, yet it is felt that the reduction is in some cases more than balanced by the provision that payment he made for stonecutters, who for any reason are absent for less than three days Hitherto it has been the practice in most of the yards to pay blacksmiths for extra men according to the actual time these the pastor, the Rev. ### Mass Meeting for Men.

Presumably the largest audience of men ever gathered in Hancock hall for a religious meeting was that of Sunday afternoon. The hall was well filled and all were abundantly repaid for their attendance. A vigorous song service was first conducted by Mr. T. B. Emery. Secretary Colton then announced the events of the week at the Y. M. C. A. rooms and gave a cordial invitation to all men to visit the rooms and join the association.

Mrs. Walter Bailey of Somerville followed with a solo, "Ninety and Nine," which thrilled every person present. Mr. Robert E. Lewis read the story of Arthur Lumley Describes How the Big Fellow Has Burned His Cash, How He lood of $7,000. Shortly afterward he was Showed His Contempt For Money and How He Happens to Be "Broke" Today.

John L. Sullivan has made and spent more money than any fighter in the history of the world. I have seen him stand on the back of a railroad car after a victory, with his pockets loaded down with greenbacks, firing away money by the handfuls to the crowd that cheered him like a conquering emperor. I have seen him stand before a bar and order $5,000 worth of wine at a clip. It was nothing unusual for him to spend $1,000 in one night. I remember on one occasion in Philadelphia, some few years ago, when

ment. Then the ex-champion spent a couple of hundred dellars over the bar. "John has always been a good son to me," said the ex-champion's mother some years ago. "When he comes home after a fight, he says, Mother, hold your apron out,' and John has thrown a hatful of team of horses for his father, who was a New York Journal. plain, simple, honest, hardworking stonemason. He gave the team of trotters to his father with the instructions that he should spin down the road every afternoon and enjoy himself. But the gladiator's father was not built that way, and when Sullivan returned after a three months' tour he found that the horses had not been out of the stable during that time. John took them out for a spin, and the team ran away, smashing the carriage and the champion in fierce style. The next day he sold them for a mere nothing to a friend To say that John L. has given away $50,-000 or $60,000 in a year to his friends and followers would be no exaggeration. I remember an incident that happened in a swell up town cafe in New York b have any effect on the young sport, for I the first chance he got he rather surprised me by pulling out $500 in new bills and offering them to Sullivan, saying: "Here, John, is the dust. I want you to have it.'

"No; I don't want it, thank you." "But I insist, John. You must. Why, bless your soul, you can't go broke while I'm well beeled!"

Still Sullivan refused. Finally be agreed to accept $50 and slapped it on the bar with a bang and ordered the barkeeper to put up that many dollars' worth of wine for the crowd. This reckless action of Sullivan fairly horrified the swell clubman. He stood speechless, looking the big fellow over. When he recovered later on, he offered Sullivan the remainder of the 'boodle," but the latter refused. "Well," I said, "John, you're the great est puzzle I ever met." Although Sullivan was fairly broke, he explained to me afterward that he simply wanted to show that rich young fellow his contempt for his money. This is a mere incident in the career of the greatest and strangest character the world has ever seen in the prize ring.

It was 12 years ago that the shekels began to flow freely in and out of the big fellow's pocket. The first purse he fought for of any account was $500, at Cincinnati, Dec. 20, 1880, with John Donaldson. The next purse was of $1,000, which he won easily on a barge on the Hudson river, from John Flood, whom he whipped in 16 minutes. Then came his battle for the championship of the world with Paddy Ryan, for $5,000 a side, at Mississippi City, Feb. 7, 1882. After gaining the champion ship the money flowed to him like water. By his defeat of Jimmy Elliot, at Washington park, July 4, 1852, Sullivan divided with his manager about $4,000. By his defeat of Tug Wilson, at Madison Square Garden, over $19,000 was divided among himself, Arthur Chambers and Billy Madden. By defeating Charlie Mitchell at the Garden Sullivan's share was about $4,000. By defeating Herbert Slade at the same place in three short rounds John L. gathered in $4,000 or $5,000 more. His "knocking out" tour of nine months, under the management of Al Smith, through the United States and territories, where he met and put to sleep some 50 big men, was the wonder of the age. His income must have been at least $50,000 during the nine months' pienic.

Then his fights with Captain Dalton at Chicago, and Dick Burns, the Michigan giant, and Jack Stewart brought him in the neighborhood of $6,000 or $8,000. By defeating Fred Robinson at Butte City in January, 1884, he gained at least $3,000. By defeating Alexander Marx at Galveston be received about $2,000. His defeat of John Henry at Hot Springs, William Flemming at Memphis and Enos Phillips at Nashville brought him in the neighbor hood of $8,000. Sullivan's bout with Prowas a winner to John by about $6,000. His besting Alf Greenfield in two rounds at Madison Square Garden and again in Boston in four rounds increased his finances at least $5,000. John's 32 minute match with Paddy Ryan at Madison Square Garden, which was stopped by the police, brought him about $4,000. His de- wars of Napoleon. Miss Russell will ap-netted about $3,000. His exhibitions about the country up to that time certainly made for him about $20,000. Sull van's meeting with Mc-Caffrey at Cincinnati brought him $3,000. With Paddy Hyan at San Francisco John

L. gained about $3,000 or more. With Duncan McDonald and Patsy Cardiff at Minneapolis, where Sullivan broke his arm, he increased his finances about $4,under the influence of liquor, drove down 000. In 1884 Sullivan toured through England, Ireland and Scotland, but he earned only about $5,000. His match with Charlie Mitchell at Chantilly, France, was not a money maker. When he arrived was struck by a freight train, smashing it home in his native city, he was given a quite badly. benefit at the Music hall, Boston, which ceived in salary about $5,000, besides other presents. By his defeat of Jake Kilrain he received the $10,000 put up by his backers and the $10,000 he won. Besides Sullivan got the lion's share of the money taken for the sale of tickets at Richburg, which in all amounted to about $24,000. Sullivan was offered $10,000 to spar at Madison Square Garden after his defeat of Kilrain, but he refused, not caring a snap about money at the time. In 1890 John went on the stage in the play "Honest Hearts and Willing Hands." He received about $10,000 for a short season. After Sullivan's defeat by Jim Corbett he was given a benefit at Madison Square Garden. the receipts of which were $12,000, the Garden people taking half for the use of engaged as the sporting editor of the New

the house. As an actor during the last three years he has probably made something like $40,000. With his book, "The Reminiscences of a Nineteenth Century Gladiator," and his other exhibitions and the privileges he had extended to cigar and liquor men who have named their brands after him, I might readily add $15,000 more. This would bring the grand to request the Grand Lodge at its next total received by Sullivan up to about I really believe, however, that Sullivan or any one else can ever give the exact figures. Fighters of his type do not generally keep books. They make and spend money ad libitum. If I put Sullivan's earnings for the last 12 years at $500,000, I would not be going much out of the way. He has made money in various ways of which there is no record. Sullivan's the past 12 years, and I believe that President Elliot of Harvard college receives but $8,000 per annum, and he is a steady, hardworking man. Sullivan has been a careless, go-as-you-please fighter, who fought whenever he felt that way. While his money came with great rapidity he spent with a very lavish hand. In fact, he lit erally threw it away.—Arthur Lumley in A TRIBUTE OF SCIENCE.

Mile. Bauermeister Is One Opera Singer Who Never Disappoints.

The most popular and in many respects the most interesting of the coterie of grand opera singers now in America is Mile. Bauermeister. ### A Poor Man's Wealth.

3.30 Р. м.

A poor man? Yes, I must confess, No wealth of gold do I possess. No pastures fine, with grazing kine, Nor fields of waving grain are mine; No foot of fat or fallow land Where rightfully my feet may stand The while I claim it as my own, My deed and title, mine alone.

Ah, poor indeed, perhaps you say, But spare me your compassion, pra When I ride not—with you—I walk In nature's company and talk With one who will not slight or slur The child forever dear to her, And one who answers back, be sure, With smile for smile, though I am poor.

And while communing thus I count An inner wealth of large amount, The wealth of honest purpose blent With penury's environment, The wealth of owing naught today
But debts that I would gladly pay
With wealth of thanks still unexpressed With cumulative interest.

A wealth of patience and content For all my ways improvident, A faith still fondly exercised For all my plans unrealized, A wealth of promises that still, Howe'er I fail, I hope to fill, A wealth of charity for those Who pity me my ragged clothes

A poor man? Yes, I must confess, No wealth of gold do I possess. No pastures fine, with grazing kine, Nor fields of waving grain are mine. But, ah, my friend, I've wealth no end, For millionaires might condescend To bend the knee and envy me
This opulence of poverty.

—James Whitcomb Riley.

The Daily Ledger. A QUESTION OF COSTS

America Loses by Her Extradition Treaty With Germany.

KAISER'S RESPECT FOR BISMARCK

Showed In the Honor Conferred Upon His Son.

(Copyrighted, 1895.) BERLIN, March 18.—The revision of the German-American extradition treaty is now under way. The terms of the existing treaty, in some respects, are not satisfactory to either government. It is the question of the costs involved in extradition proceedings which is the main objection on the American side, since the great majority of the extradition proceedings occur in America in the proortion of about 100 to 1, so that the American government, with each side defraying the expenses of the proceedings

within its respective sphere, bears a deal more than its proper share. Consequently, in 1891, the American government made advances to Germany with the view of modifying the treaty pro visions in this and in other respects, in cluding the rates of each government to try extradited persons solely through specific charges under which the extradition was demanded. Germany, however, was not satisfied with the proposed changes, and the negotiations, after a time, were dropped. A recent extradition case at Hamburgthe person involved being a clever adventuress, who passed herself off in Berlin and elsewhere as the Archduchess Theresa d'Este and victimized several persons to the tune of $200,000-is the direct cause of reopening the negotiations for a revision of the German-American extradi tion treaty. This time Germany came forward with certain proposals, and these were sent, a few days ago, through the American embassy here, to Washington.

More to Follow. The appointment of Count William Bismarck, second son of the ex-chancellor, as civil governor of East Prussia, in succession to Count von Stolberg-Wernigerode, came as a surprise to the political world.

Count William is well acquainted with Konigsberg, the seat of the government of East Prussia, as he was prepared there for the service of the state by the chief of the colonial department. As a student, Count William had much the same merry time as his father, and was nearly killed in a

When the great chancellor fell into dis-grace, Count William had the tact to keep in the background, with the result that he continued in the service of the state, while his elder brother, Count Herbert, was obliged to leave office. Count William's appointment is regarded as the first of a series of imperial honors to his father.

The old soldiers will also send a deputation to the bundesrath and to the reich stag with instructions to request additional legislation looking to an increase of the pension fund. It is stated that the emperor, upon the ccasion of the anniversary of the birthday of his grandfather, Emperor William I, on Friday next, will issue a decree, having for its object to aid the widows and orphans of the war of 1870-71.

New Disease Puzzles Doctors.

A mysterious ailment broke out a week ago in Berlin, chiefly in the suburb of Schoenberg. It takes the form of inflammation and pustules in the mouth and throat, accompanied by high fever and thirst. Professor Virchow, who has investigated the outbreak, is of the opinion that it is due to infection by partaking of the milk of diseased cows. Some medical men believe that it is a human form of the foot and mouth disease hitherto peculiar to cattle. Baron von Schorlemer-Alst, the noted

Centrist leader, died yesterday from influenza.

There is no decrease in the spread of the epidemic of influenza. There have been 130 deaths in Berlin alone.

DEATH IN THE AIR.

A changeable climate is the most exciting cause of pneumonia. The mild to-day, cold to-morrow, weather is a prolific breeder of the disease. It is contracted by exposure to wet and inclement weather, from standing ing or sitting with cold feet; by going from hot and over-crowded rooms into the keen night air, and by sitting in draughts. The proper way to treat pneumonia is to prevent its development.

Have a care that you are sufficiently clad to meet inclement and changeable weather. See that the wet feet and exposure to draughts do not result in cold. If a cold is contracted check it at once before pneumonia is developed; for it is a well known fact that a protracted cough may suddenly develop into pneumonia, with a slight addi-tional cold. Don't let the disease make any headway. Fortify the system against it by rich, nutritious, liquid food. This can be accomplished in no other way so well as by the liberal use of Ozomulsio an ozonized preparation of Cod Liver Oil with Guaiacol, prepared by T. A. Slocum

EDITORIAL COMMENT.

THE ESTIMATES of the Mayor for city expenses for 1895 are in excess of last year, and indications are that there will be no reduction in the tax rate, unless the City Council comes to the rescue. The debt mates for the ensuing year which were rematuring this year is considerably less ferred to Committee on Finance : than in 1894, and this being the case there should be some reduction in the gross appropriations. To the grand total of $231,441.96 is to be added the estimates of Books, advertising, binding, postthe School Committee which amount to $81,370. The appropriations for mainte- Miscellaneous expenses, nance of water department, estimated this Clerical services, year at $15,000, and interest on water debt amounting to $28,345, are in excess of all this. ### BUSINESS IS REVIVING.

The West's Future Prosperity, However, Depends Upon the Crops. CHICAGO, March 19.-The business situation throughout the greater part of the west and southwest is beginning to show signs of revival, and merchants and man ufacturers are placing confidence in the future by purchasing goods more freely than at any time within a year. Sales exceed last year's record at this season. The increase in the merchandise trade is an encouraging feature to the railway officials, as they are having a better general traffic in this line. In the north there is a steady revival of the iron ore traffic with indications of a further enlargemen The deliveries of grain here by the lead ing western roads for the week were 2,-156,000 bushels, or 369,000 bushels in excess of the previous week, and a decrease of 1. I was sitting one afternoon trying to find instances of men marrying their mothers-in-law (I never came across one who did yet), under an encyclopedia heading called "Matrimonial Madness, Types of," when Jack suddenly burst into the room with his face all aglow with delight.

I'll tell you all about it." He sat down close to me, breathing very hard, and commenced:

"You must know that Cissy told me last night that she was going down to Devonshire today to stay with her aunt. You can bet I felt cut up. Well, after some hesitation, I asked her whether she would allow me to see her off at Paddington? She demurred a little, and then said, 'Yes.' You can't think what a pretty way she has of saying 'Yes. Well-don't be impatient, I'm coming to it-you may feel pretty sure that l was at Paddington an hour before she drove up. And when she did arrive you can imagine how I looked after her, and got her ticket, and saw that her boxes were labeled, and bought her all the illustrated papers and a luncheon basket, and told the guard to keep an eye on her, and all that sort of thing. "She was so awfully nice that I almost went crazy when I thought of her being away for a month, all among a lot of other beggars. Well, she took her seat, and I tipped the guard to lock the door and not let any one else in. I wanted to have that last five minutes all to myself, you see?

"So she made herself comfortable and told me I looked awfully red, and judging by my feelings I should think I looked quite purple. Well-don't be in a hurry-the guard whistled and called, 'Stand away, please!' and the train began to move slowly out of the station. Just to say 'Goodby' I got on the footboard and put my hand in at the window. I had said 'Goodby' 12 times already, and she looked so pretty and all that that I suddenly screwed up my courage and said:

"Cissy, will you?" "The guard called out, 'Stand away, please, there!' but I kept on the foot board, and Cissy said, 'Oh, get off, please. You'll be hurt.'

"The train was going faster by this time, but I stuck there and yelled out: 'Will you? Will you?' "She looked awfully scared-all the porters and guards and passengers were

Mountain Vegetation In Africa. Mr. Scott Elliott has been investigating the botany of Ruwenzori, the giant mountain of central Africa. Up to 7,000 feet he found grass and cultivation. Then begins the forest, which, up to 8,600 feet, consists of deciduous to 8,600 feet, consists of deciduous nace, etc., etc. Also fine large stable. trees, sometimes with thick undergrowth, sometimes quite open, with a profusion of ferns, mosses and creepers. From 8,600 to 9,600 feet bamboos grow, and the predominant feature is the wetness of everything. Only very few watery plants grow among the roots. Above 9,600 feet tree heather takes the place of bamboo and seems to extend to the snow, which Mr. Elliott could not reach, and even beyond. In one attempt to reach the summit he found what seems to him the Alpine lady's mantle. On the mountain birds and animals are extremely scarce. He saw a sun bird, green, yellow and crimnon, above 10,000 feet, and also saw a cobin and a goldfinch.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but : very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneu-monia, pay any attention to a cold. There or build for responsible parties. Enquire of BENJ. F. CURTIS, 49 Elm St. nonia, pay any attention to a cold. There are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when wanted and the most sensible advice is, when you have one, get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will Take Chamberlain's Cough but we will Take Chamberlain's Cough has made a record for quick settlements of claims and is the largest and most success.

Success.

The stoutest ship may breast the gale And still be driven back. What though to reach the port she fail, Shall we declare she could not sail Because she had to tack?

When storms belate and plagues impede. When aches and ills betide, Ambition's goal may not be won Yet hast thou bravely, nobly done If thou hast bravely tried.

"He nobly does who nobly dares" When trials sore oppress.

Whose perseverance naught can shake,
Though failure follows in his wake, His failure is success.

what it Means to be a Surfman—Hardship and Injury His Chief Reward.

From the Woonsocket (R. I.) Reporter.

One midwinter night, in a blinding snow storm, Captain Arthur L. Nickerson, in command of the gallant little schooner Allen Green, ran out from Vineyard Sound before the theast gale and made for the open sea. 's torm was at its height when the wind shifted so suddenly that before the skipper realized his situation his ears caught the sound of the breakers booming on Point Judith's treacherous shore.

Fifteen minutes after the Allen Green struck, Captain Herbert M. Knowles' crew of hardy life savers had begun the work of rescue. Captain Nickerson, when brought ashore, was in a pitiable condition. As he later stated in his official report of the disaster (see Government Report) made to Superintendent Kimball of the Life Saving Service, "I suffered much from cramps and pains caused by the bruises I received before I went ashore, having been at the wheel fifteen heaves continuously."

The life savers wrapped the brave young sailor in warm blankets and gave him Pain-Killer freely. The famous old remedy accomplished an immediate relief, and Captain Nickerson slept as peacefully as a child that night and awoke next morning in a condition to face another tempest, if necessary. He feels that the prompt use of Pain-Killer after his fearful experience rescued him from unutterable suffering and even saved his life.

Brave Cantain Manued one. The ex-champion was finally led off by his friends. It took Referee Sheppard five minutes to make up his mind what decision to render.

He says the life savers all use Pain-Killer, and consider it the best and most reliable "all-around" remedy they can have by them. Captains Asa Church, of Point Judith sta-tion; Albert Church, of Narragansett Pier; Davis at Watch Hill; Saunders at Quonochontaug—and their gallant crews, endorse Captain Knowles in his unstinted praise of Pain-Killer as an invaluable remedy for smergencies encountered in daily life.

Eight-Round Go at Boston. Boston, March 19.-In the presence of 1800 people Jake Kilrain and Stave O'Donnell, Corbett's sparring partner, fought eight rounds last night, and at the close Referee Patsey Sheppard, amidst shouts of "Kilrain! Kilrain!" declared the contest a draw.

While the referee was making up his mind, John L. Sullivan mounted a chair and demanded a decision. He shouted: "What's the decision, Patsey?" and when a draw was announced, he sprang into the arena and rushed toward O'Donnell's corner. Two of the seconds grabbed him by the arms and turned him aside. Then he clasped hands with Kilrain in apparent congratulation, and, swinging his arms, showed the latter how the fight might have been won. He was ready, he declared, to challenge the winner if the referee had only named one. The ex-cham-

he floored Kilrain, and in the second pushed him to the floor. Yet his blows apparently lacked force, while Kilrain did very effective work.

O'Donnell gained nothing in reputation If you are going to Florida, Europe or California by his work last night, while the stock of Kilrain was rated high after the fight. The weighty condition of Kilrain caused great ent. He was fat and clumsy and had weighed in at 220 pounds in the afternoon. It was apparent that he had had little training, while O'Donnell was in excellent trim and tipped at 172 pounds.

Japan and China Will Probably Reach an Agreement.

FINAL DETAILS OF CONCESSION

Be Acted Upon.

WASHINGTON, March 20. - Li Hung Chang's arrival in Japan is regarded in official circles as one of the most significant international events of recent days. It is the first time in his life that the venerable statesman of China has set foot out-side of Chinese soil. At his advanced age he now journeys to China's traditional foe to offer enormous concessions as a means of securing peace.

It can be stated positively and authoritatively that the general terms of this peace are already understood, and what remains is the arranging of the details within certain specified limits. These general terms have been brought about by the efforts of United States Ministers Denby in China and Dun in Tokio. It was even feared at a late day that Li's solve for the choice of presiding officers of mission might fail, through the vagueness of his authority to treat for the ced-ing of territory. This was arranged, however, through the activity of the United States ministers in showing that the mission would other-wise prove futile. The general terms of Li Hung Chang's authority are to cede territory, pay a cash indemnity, grant the independence of Corea and arrange new treaty relations with Japan by which Japan's extraterritorial jurisdiction in China will be maintained. The exact amount of cash indemnity is not fixed, nor is the kind of metal it is to b paid in agreed on. These and the bounda

THE PROPER drainage of the Town brook valley demands that the culverts be widened and deepened. All waters must pass through the Washington street culvert to reach the Canal and it is not only narrow but obstructed, and the brook occasionally overflows. Combined with the necessity is a chance for a public improvement. The waterway for carriages is scarcely used, yet it is a detriment to the abutting estate and obstruct travels.

we gather that though the chairman of the commission, Lord Aberdare, now deceased, was undoubtedly deaf, he rarely presided at the meetings, owing to ill health, his place being taken by

Lord Playfair, who is remarkably keen of hearing, and that anyhow the Prince

Positively Known That the Reina Regente Was Wrecked.

NOT A SURVIVOR HEARD FROM.

Every Man on Board Probably Went Down.

CADIZ, March 20 .- Cruiser Alfonso XII, which has been cruising in the Mediterranean in search of the missing warship Reina Regente, found the Reina Regente at Bajo Accitunos, near Couil, where she had sunk. Only about 18 inches of her masts were visible above the surface of the water. The Alfonso XII has returned to the scene of the wreck with a company of

Not a single survivor has been reported as having arrived at any port, nor has a body been found that could be identified as that of one of the officers or crew of the lost ship. The Alfonso XII is taking divers and diving appliances for the pur pose of removing the bodies from the sunken ship, and examing the condition of the vessel with a view of ascertaining the possibilities of raising her. Until something further is heard from the Alfonso XII, nothing can be definitely known, but all hands are undoubtedly

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Having sold my West Quincy store, I intend to confine my attention wholly to my store in Quincy Centre for the future. I respectfully ask a continuance of the favor of the patronage of the public.

It will be my aim in the future, as it has been in the past, to cater to the wants of every man, woman or child who enters my store. I would like your trade, if I have it not already, and promise in return courteous treatment, correct prices and above all other things, firstclass goods.

Thanking you for past favors, and soliciting a continuance of the same, I remain

Your humble servant,

CHARLES C. HEARN,

vision 5, A. O. H., but the arrangements made for the comfort of the public were hardly creditable. If a society intends to McIntyre and Miss Bates. reserve the whole hall it should so inform Division 5 did not reserve the whole of the hall as was stated in the above, as there Burns. were over 300 seats for admission and children. Had your informant read the Mr. Marnock. posters, window cards and programmes he would have seen: Reserved seats, 50 cents; admission seats, 35 cents; children, 25 cents. It is true there were quite a number of men standing in the rear of the hall, but they were mostly members of the division who had given up their reserved seats to accommodate those who had admission tickets and could not get a seat. As chairman of the committee I instructed the ushers to provide seats for everybody, if possible. As far as I am aware a seat was provided for everybody that requested

In the Awful Disaster Which Overtook Miners at Red Canon.

MANY BODIES YET UNRECOVERED.

Nearly Ali the Victims Left Large Families.

EVANSTON, Wy., March 22.-The total number now known to have perished in the mine disaster at Red Canon is 60, of which 50 are married and nine are young men and boys. Up to this hour the bodies of the following, out of a total of 53, who met their death in the same mine, have been recovered and turned over to their relatives:

W. B. Clark, John Morris, D. Laurie, G. Hyde, John Licke, W. H. Grievesand, Samuel Clay (single), Samuel Hutchinson, William Morris, Thomas Booth, Benjamin J. Cole, Charles S. Clark, Willard Brown, James Lamb, Fred Morgan, all men of large families.

This leaves 38 unrecovered bodies in the mine. The timbering is largely blown out and the walls and roof of the whole interior are wrecked and shattered so that the volunteer searching party of 18, now seeking the bodies of their comrades, are every moment in danger of being are every moment in danger of being buried. The Manitoba School Wrangle. OTTAWA, March 22.-The long expected order in council, giving the decision of the government on the Manitoba school question, makes a recommendation to the effect that the Dominion government suggest to the Manitoba legislature that it pass an act enabling the Roman Catholic minority to maintain separate schools, and that they shall not be taxed for the maintenance of public schools. Something Worth Remembering.

WASHINGTON, March 22 .- In view of the fact that the entire apple crop is sometimes threatened by the worms that infest the trees, Secretary Morton has had the matter investigated and finds that spraying with a solution of paris green is a simple and effective remedy, which he urges all farmers and horticulturists to try.

Choynski Had the Big End.

CHICAGO, March 22.-The six-round contest between Joe Choynski and Dan Creedon was a draw, the conditions of the match providing that if both men were on their feet at the conclusion of the sixth round, no decision should be given. Choynski had all the better of it, except in one round.

A Nashua Sensation.

NASHUA, March 22 .- The supreme court last evening ordered the arrest of a number of liquor dealers who are under the ironclad oath not to sell. Eight were arrested and warrants are out for others, who could not be found. Several are said to have fled from the city.

THURSTON DEFENDED

Friends Deny That He Is Guilty of Diplomatic Impropriety.

RELATED FACTS FROM HAWAII

Which Did Not Interfere With State Department.

WASHINGTON, March 22.-The suggestion is made here that a movement will be made in the future looking to Hawaiian annexation, and, it is said, that Mr. Thurston, because of his intimate knowledge of affairs in both this country and Hawaii, will have prominent connection with any commission on the part of Hawaii to negotiate for terms of admission into the Union.

Although Mr. Thurston, the Hawaiian dinister, refused to discuss the causes that led to his estrangement with Secretary Gresham, his friends think it only fair to him to refute the published allegation that he has betrayed diplomatic secrets.

Admitting that Mr. Thurston did as is alleged, his friends assert that he did not exceed his diplomatic duties in this respect, in making public the sentences imposed on several of the Hawaiian conspirators by the military courts. The proceedings of the court were conducted openly, and the sentences of the prisoners had been for 10 cts. publicly announced in Honolulu.

All the facts reached San Francisco by the first mail steamer from the islands. Thurston's Friends Stand by Him. Mr. Thurston's friends say that he has trayed any official information contained in the correspondence between his govern-ment or himself and the government of the United States or any of its repre-sentatives. It is admitted that it would have been a manifest impropriety for him to divulge any information received by the secretary of state touching the relations between Hawaii and the United States. At the same time it is claimed for him that he was perfectly free to publish any information he desired in regard to events in the Hawaiian republic that came into his possession entirely independent of the state department, provided he did not comment on the action of the United States government in regard thereto.

Mr. Thurston's defenders say that Senator Hale is right in saying that his recall was justified if he had made public diplo-matic correspondence before submitting it to the state department, but they say the senator is entirely wrong in supposing that Mr. Thurston has been guilty of any such diplomatic impropriety. According to their representations, he merely related a condition of facts within his own country, received from his own government, regarding which he had had no diplomatic intercourse whatever with the representatives of the United States.

"Perhaps you would not think so, but a very large proportion of diseases in New York comes from carelessness about catching cold," says Dr. Cyrus Edson. "It is such a simple thing and so common that very few people, unless it is a case of pneu monia, pay any attention to a cold. There are a great many cases of catarrh and consumption which have their origin in this neglect of the simplest precaution of every day life. The most sensible advice is, when you have one, get rid of it as soon as possible. By all means do not neglect it." Dr. Edson does not tell you how to cure a cold but we will. ### A COMPACT DWELLING.

Design For a Comfortable Home at Moderate Cost.

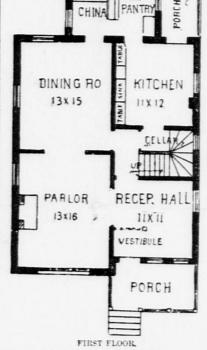

I heard a successful man say at one time that he believed he would sell his house, which was a very grand establishment, build a five room ambition. He is now United States minister to one of the largest European cities. He wished to get himself and his family away from the labor of display than which there is none greater or more exacting. There is nothing more relentless in its demands and nothing which brings so small a return as a large house.

Here is a house into which the owner of a large establishment might retire and live in comparative comfort. The amount of waste space is boiled down to a minithe house, so that any one may go into it from any room of the first floor without passing through another. The kitchen and pantry are as convenient as possible. The cellar is reached from the kitchen in caring for it the ceiling should be plas tered and painted, the walls and floors ce mented and proper divisions made for the arrangement and classification of stores, by hot water, steam or furnace the usual type, though the vestibule is arranged somewhat peculiarly. There is a post, as indicated, which goes to the ceiling, and thence to the wall is a screen varying in elaborateness or complexity of taste of the owner. In case of limited re sources a rod and curtain would form the vestibule, and connecting with the posts which costs, hats, etc., could be hung

The vestibule in a hall or reception room makes that hall a valuable room. If there is no receptacle for the articles which be-single stairway, but as arranged in this quate. plan the stairs are entirely independent windows, balconies, more porch or anything of that kind we add to the labor of housekeeping.

A great many people who build are desire for display and go through life un home is by building only such as he can comfortably pay for and maintain. The mere satisfaction of having a large house is buried in the labor and anxiety of caring

The exterior of this building is somewhat more elaborate than generally goes with these plans. It is suggested by the examples of sixteenth and seventeenth century architecture seen during a recent trip through England and Scotland. To build this house at a moderate expense such a design should not be adopted. This floor plan has been carried out in a frame | 657 Washington St., BOSTON MASS. house, well and substantially built, at a June 8. cost within $2,500.

Braintree School Appropriation.

Before taking any action to carry into effect the vote of the town last Monday, which reduced the appropriations for the schools over four thousand dollars, the school committee deem it best to place beed structure and fore the citizens the following facts :

We asked for an appropriation of $13,200 for salaries of teachers in addition to dog tax and school fund. The latter is estimated at $1,050, making a total for teachers of $14.250, which is somewhat less than last year. The vote of the town cut this to $12,050, a reduction of $2,200.

Under the contracts with the teachers no eduction in their salaries can be made without two weeks' notice, so that during the first three months of this year the full salaries have been or will be paid. This throws the entire reduction on the remainng seven months.

The total pay roll per month at present for teachers is $1,414.75; for seven months tracks. this would be $9,903.25. Deducting the salaries of the three kindergarten teachers from this for seven months ($875), leaves $9,028.25, which would be the salaries of the other teachers for seven months at the

The situation in respect to the kindergarten at the south section would be even worse than at the east, as the lowest grade in the Pond school has now forty-seven

At the north section, as the kindergarten and the lowest grade at the Union school are somewhat smaller they could perhaps as a makeshift be united, but the room would be over-crowded and probably an assistant teacher would be needed at once If the expenses of the kindergartens cannot be saved, then, in order to carry the vote of the town the reduction in each eacher's salary must be 21.2 per cent.

We cannot believe that with the above facts before them the citizens of this town will insist that the school committee take this action.

For text books and supplies, incidentals for schools and incidentals for school houses we asked for 2,250, but only $1,100 were voted. As several months' supply of some of the

for a complete set of double windows for the Pond and Union schools, our expenditures to the present time on these four accounts have been $1,066.54, which leaves long in a vestibule, the entire room is $33.46 to run these departments for the rerendered useless otherwise than as a pas maining seven months of the year, an There are those who would object to the amount which is of course entirely inade-

We, therefore, consider it our duty before making such a radical reduction as the vote will require and which will, in our opinion, result in a complete disorganization of our schools, to state the exact condition of affairs as we should have desire to state it last Monday had we been treated with common courtesy by the appropriation committee, and furnished in time with the proper information.

Neither as a committee nor as individuals have we any intention of calling a town meeting to ask for the additional appropriations needed to obviate the necessity for these reductions. We simply wish to say that unless in the meantime some action in this direction shall have been taken, we shall be obliged to make the necessary reductions on April 1st, be consequences what they may. A NEW CURE FOR LUNACY.

Some Interesting and Successful Experiments by Eminent Specialists of Vienna. mental diseases was expounded by Prodepartment of Vienna university, at a meeting last week. The cure is based upon the fact, frequently experienced, that mental maladies disappear if the patient gets another illness of an entirely different kind, particularly fever. Professor Wagner, following nature's inexplicable cure, has produced fever in | mates should Count von Kanitz's proposthe insane by applying Dr. Koch's tuberculin in grave cases. The effect of this treatment was that, after every tuberculin injection, the insane patient felt easier, the insanity recurring several times, but finally disappearing for

Professor Albert, the well known surgeon of Vienna university, corroborated this testimony by a recent case in his department. A patient who was suffering from melancholia had to go through the operation of transfusion of blood. This caused a high fever, during which the state of the patient's mind was remarkably improved. When the fever ceased, his mental condition was, to the professor's astonishment, entirely normal. - Vienna Letter.

CHRISTIAN ENT JEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Be ginning March 24 Comment by Ret. S. H. Doyle. Topic.—Pure thought, pure words, pure deeds.—Math. xxiii, 25-27; Ps. li, 6-10. (A temperance topic.)

The life of a ms n is made up of his thoughts, words and deeds. These are not separate and distinct one from another, but are n ecessarily interdependent, and each ex presses to a greater or less extent the 'character of the other. To have a true, 'noble and pure life, therefore, these three attributes of the life fountain in which it has its source. flicted. There may be an attempt to have the outward life have the appearance of where. purity when impurity abides within. Many like the Pharisees try to "make clean the outside of the cup and of the platter, but within they are full of extortion and excess." But God knows the heart as well as the words and the outward life, and any attempt to deceive Him is a miserable failure, and He will bring all who thus try to deceive Him into judgment.

Purity of thought is the great necessity to purity of words and deeds. Sin is first conceived in the heart. Then it is expressed in words, and at the last manifests itself in deeds. When David had repented of his sin and desired once more to be upright before God, he did well to pray, "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me." The heart needed first of all to be cleansed before the life could be what he desired. As with David, so it is with all. If the life has been sinful and we have repented of our sin, we should ask God first of all to renew our hearts. If the heart is right with God. the words and deeds of the life will also be right with him. It is well to remember also that God demands and expects entire puritypurity in the heart, in the speech and in the behavior. In fact, he will be satisfied with nothing short of this. In the days of Noah "God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually," and He destroyed the world because of its sinfulness. Time and again Christ denounced the Pharisees for their hypocrisy-for making a show of godliness when the heart was wrong. As with the thoughts, so it is with our words and deeds. But how may the heart be pure so that the words and deeds may be pure? There is but one way. God alone can purify the heart. If He purges us, we shall be clean; if He washes us, we shall be white as snow. Resolutions. reformation will not cleanse the heart. God only can do that.

Bible Readings. - Gen. vi, 5-7; Ps. xv, 1, 2; xxiv, 3, 4; xix, 14; Isa. xxxiii, 15, 16; Jer. xvii, 9; Mal. iii, 3; Eccl. v, 2; Math. v, 8; Mark vii, 20-23; Acts xv, 7-9; Eph. v, 1-5; Phil. iv, 8, 9; I Tim. v, 22; I Pet. i, 15, 16.

Our brethren in the antipodes fully understand the genius of the Christian Endeavor Society, says The Golden Rule. How better could a vital principle of organization be stated than in the following words, delivered before a meeting of the New South Wales union! "The pre-eminent test of our Endeavor is service. Pledged to serve; pledged to serve God; pledged to serve Christ; pledged to serve truth. Blazon it on ev ery banner; weave it in every fiber of your national life; write it in living deeds. Serve, serve. We are among you as those who serve."

Fact Beats Theory. Opposers of the Christian Endeavor society may cry out against the wickedness of organizing any society not specially provided for by name in the New Testament, but the fact remains that the Christian Endeavor idea has enlisted in Christian work thousands of young men and women who formerly stood idle, and, as you may have noa theory, the theory has to be laid by for repairs. - Young People's Weekly.

Our Gifts Multiplied.

The beautiful law of Christian love, life and truth is that the more we give of our own capital the more that capital increases. The widow's cruse of oil and barrel of meal increased as she distributed them, and a Christian's sunshine and happiness, faith and hope will be invigorated and multiplied in proportion as he tries to make others hopeful, trustful and happy .- John Cumming.

Christian Endeavor Briefs. A Young People's church in Los Angeles is the aim of the societies among the United Brethren in Christ. The Juniors of the Point St. Charles Congregational society of Montreal are frequently taken in delegations to visit the sick and poor of the city by the district Bible women. Then the Juniors report their experiences to the society. They who count themselves too holy to do common work in the Master's kingdom ought to be disrobed in dis-

An office for the sale of Christian Endeavor literature has been opened in Sydney.

A good name for the Christian Endeavor pledge is "Our Touchstone." If your pastor appreciates your society and has words of commendation for its excellences, and advice for its perplexities, and help in its needs, is it any more than right for your society members to appreciate your pastor, praise his good qualities and help him in every possible way? During the year 1894 the Fourth Presbyterian society of Syracuse gave $132.05 to the cause of missions.

TO FIGHT OPERATIVES.

Providence Mill Owners Combine and a Big Strike Is Expected,

PROVIDENCE, March 23 .- All the textile manufacturers of Providence have agreed to combine their interests. They decided to close any or all of their mills at the first sign of a strike. They also agreed not to communicate with their operatives in the event of a strike, and to make no proposition of any description.

Olneyville is a regular bed of strike sentiment. A general strike is contemplated April 1, but it has been decided instead that the operatives of the Fletcher mills will make a demand Monday for a return to the schedule of 1893. The result of this will be the closing of that mill and probably a general strike soon after.

AN AMAZED INDIAN CHIEF.

Two Stars' Introduction to the Kinetose and the Phonograph.

Probably no Indian who ever vi Washington to counsel with the father returned to his tribe better fied with the results of his trip that Sisseton Sioux Two Star. He not of accomplished the object of his rebut he was entertained in a style that falls to the lot of few of the nat wards. Agent Keller was with well as the interpreter, Joe Brown. T latter, by the way, is a somewhat note figure himself. He is a son of that Ma jor Brown who commanded the troops at the battle of Birch Cooley during his life among these Indians and now keeps a large store on the reservation. Two Star was sent here by his tribe to ask the immediate payment to them of $199,000 of their principal now in the custody of the United States. This sum amounts to $1,699,000. The Indians are in very destitute circumstances this winter, owing to an almost complete failure of their crops, and the in terest due them is not sufficient to carry them over until next fall. The impair ment of the principal is a matter which by law rests entirely with the president. In this case he has promised to follow er of Indian affairs, which is to the effect that the grant be made.

It is a somewhat singular fact that, although Two Star was one of General Silbey's scouts and has always associated with the whites upon terms of the friendliest intimacy, he cannot speak a word of English. His enjoyment of the white man's amusement is, however, none the less keen. Senator Kyle's clerk, Duncan McFarland, took him in to see the kinetoscope. As he looked in upon the picture in motion a look of amaze consternation, crept over his face. He stepped back and looked around, above and below the case to find out what caused the exhibition. It was some time before he could be persuaded to again apply the eye to the aperture, and when the machine stopped with a click the noble red man jumped as if he had heard the warwhoop of some of his tribal enemies. He was equally amazed, but none the less pleased, with the phonograph and insisted upon having a selection by the Marine band repeated. He was taken to an amateur athletic and gymnastic per formance at the Columbia Athletic club and witnessed the exhibition of skill and prowess with a delight that was almost childlike. Just before his departure for the west Two Star said to our correspondent:

"I was here in 1867, but no one paid any attention to me then. I think Washington is a much nicer place now. It will be no use for me to tell my people about the things I have seen and heard (referring to the kinetoscope and phonograph), for no one would believe me. They would say I was not speaking the truth."-Cor. St. Paul Pioneer Press.

A TOUGH PIECE OF HUMANITY

The Animated Old Snag Against Which an Insurance Company Ran. This is the way a man named ( of St. Peter, Minn., got the better of an insurance company: Many years ago Mr. Gaines insured his life for $3,500. After many years of payment of $90 a year premium, at the age of 70 years he asked the officers of the company how much they would pay him to cancel his proposition, "If you will give me $416 a year until death, which is $8 a week, I will cancel the policy." thought it had a cinch in its favor, as he would not live many years. Since that time Mr. Gaines has lived 18 years, and the company has paid him his yearly stipulation of $416, which up to this time has amounted to $7,488. The saving of the $90 premium in the 18 years and the interest make it the snug sum of over $18,000 that the old man gained by his bargain. Mr. Gaines is well preserved at 88 and bids fair to receive many more payments at the hands of the company, which struck a tough piece of human timber upon which to base its calculations. - Chicago Tribune Where Bustles Are Coming to the Fore. The wife of a gentleman who has been conducting an auction store at Lake Crystal recited an amusing incident to us the other day. Among his stock of goods he had 100 ladies' bustles, which he found it impossible to dispose of. A BROOKLYN TRAGEDY.

William and Joseph Anderson Suspected of Having Killed Their Brother. BROOKLYN, March 25 .- The Williams burg section of Brooklyn has added another to its long list of mysterious murders. It was committed yesterday, the victim being James Anderson, an insurance agent. The police have arrested Anderson's two brothers, William and Joseph, on suspicion. According to the story of one of them, the murdered man was on his way home, accompanied by them, when they became involved in a dispute with a stranger. William, who was struck by the stranger, picked up a cobblestone James and Joseph tried to hold him, but he broke away and threw the stone at his assailant. The latter drew a knife and made a rush at William. James tried to stop him and was stabbed in the neck, his windpipe being completely severed. The unknown then ran away. The injured man died in a few minutes.

William, when arrested, had a bad bruise on the side of his left eye, where it is stated the stranger had struck him with his fist. Neither of the brothers would tell how the quarrel began, but both deslared that the man who wielded the knife was unknown to them. Several people living in the vicinity where the murder occurred were certain that four men were engaged in the fight, and that Caused by a Gale Which Swept Over Great Britain.

MANY PERSONS BADLY INJURED.

Property Loss Will Amount to Thousands of Pounds.

London, March 25 .- A terrible gale set in Saturday night and is still prevailing. The storm is general throughout Great Britain. There has been immense damage to property in many of the larger towns. Pinnacles, roofs and chimneys of a number of churches were blown off and many factories were similarly damaged. In many places church services were suspended. A great number of trees were prostrated by the gale and much damage was done to dwelling houses. In many parts of the country the telegraph lines are down. A few minor casualities are reported from along the coast. Many people have been injured by falling debris. A wall collapsed in the East End of London, and three persons were crushed to death beneath it. Three turrets of the pinnacles on the west front of the Peterborough cathedral were blown down. Other buildings in the town were damaged, and a number of persons were injured. The roof of the railway station Stratford-on-Avon was blown off, and a number of monuments in the parish churchyard were damaged.

In Birmingham the gale was felt with exceptional severity. A man and three children were killed there. The property damage in the town is estimated at thou sands of pounds. Two men and a girl in Leicester were struck by falling debris and almost instantly killed. Every house in the Aylestone district was damaged. In Wolverhampton one person was killed and 12 injured.

In Walsall two chimney blown over. They crashed through the roof of a hospital, broke through the flooring and carried nine beds with patients to a room beneath. For a time the excitement in and around the hospital was intense and the wildest sort of rumors were afloat, some having it that a dozen persons had been killed. As quickly possible the work of clearing away the wreckage was commenced, and it soon was found that nobody had been killed. The nine occupants of the beds were ex-tricated alive, but badly injured.

At Kings Lynn immense damage was

THE QUIRK BILL.

Opposition to It Among the Quincy Manufacturers.

AMENDED SINCE THE HEARING

Regarded As an Entering Wedge Which Will be Disastrous.

If the bill known as the Quirk bill be comes a law what effect would it have on the one industry of Quincy, the granite industry?

Very little finished building stone is now furnished to other places within the Commonwealth from Quincy, as most of the granite shipped for building purposes is shipped in its rough state as quarried.

Boston uses the largest amount but Quincy has furnished little or no granite buildings for that city for some time, as closed at pleasure. At the rear of the the larger part comes from quarries at house are the kitchen, back stairs, pantry, Milford and the Cape.

Rare Stamps. BROOKWOOD, Ala., March 25.-In a trunk in the family garret, Miss Grace Myatt of this place has just discovered a Uniontown (Pa.) stamp issued in war time, and quoted at $1000. A number of other valuable stamps were discovered in the same trunk, among them being a Columbus (Ga.) issue, which may turn out to be as big a find as the Uniontown one.

How the Great French Author Writes a Play.

HIS "PHILOSOPHIC EQUATION."

Sardon's First Play Was a Colossal Failure-How He Obtained His First Real Opportunity-He Is Now Rich and Very Popular With the Managers.

Victorien Sardou is usually spoken of as the world's greatest playwright, though why he should be so regarded is a puzzle to students of the drama, for Arthur Wing Pinero is vastly his superior, at least from the standpoint of English speaking theater goers. Sardou, however, easily holds his supremacy in a certain field, into which very few of the authors of reputation have so far dared to intrude. "Cleopatra." "La Tosca" and "Gismonda! are fair types of the Frenchman's specialty. He seems to be at his best in that sort of WEYMOUTH LANDING-W. E. Cun- work, for when he leaves it and ventures into comedy he usually comes down with bang. This, of course, does not apply to "Mme. Sans-Gene," but then it is gen-BOSTON-Old Colony News Stand after erally thought that that is the work of M. Moreau, and that Sardou merely polished the piece up a bit and then put his name on as coauthor.

However that may be, there can be no question of the fact that as a constructionist pure and simple, a man who will get the last atom of theatrical effect out of a good line or a strong situation, Sardou is without a peer. This explains in a great measure the popularity of his plays with most managers, for those gentlemen usually care nothing for the intrinsic merit of drama. Their solicitude is naturally in the direction of the box office, and the piece that is loaded down with theatrical tricks which never fail to "score heavily" is the one that suits them best. Sardou is consequently very popular, for he knows how to write at the audience. He is also very wealthy, for despite his great reputation he seldom refuses an order for a play, and he is altogether the most interesting figure among the writers for the stage. Sardou was born in 1830, and on April 1, 1854, his first composition, "Taverne des Etudiants," a comedy in three acts, produced in the French capital In 1858 he married Mlle. de Brecourt. who was a warm personal friend of Dejazet, the famous actress. At the house of Dejazet, Sardou met Vanderbuch, who had eral plays for the with him he collaborated on a play called | their regular gymnastic exercise. 'Premieres Armes de Figaro,' the leading part in which was "contrived" for Dejazet, who at once accepted it. The actress, being out of an engagement, leased a theater, which she called Theatre Dejazet, where, in 1859, the play was produced and succeeded. Since that time Sardou has been almost perpetually in the

Between 1860 and 1864 Sardou wrote 20 plays and paid the price of his haste with many a failure. But between 1865 and 1871 he sensibly produced but seven, and three of those are still accounted among his best. One of these was "La Patrie. the forerunner of his later historical efforts

Sardou's method of making plays is one that can be easily studied. If one reads his prefaces, he will find that the method siastic about "Rinaldo" before it was prolass. The services were impressive, and a his prefaces, he will find that the method so visible in the plays themselves is delib- duced, and his managers thought that it erate, but he will find, too, that Sardou recognizes that, first of all, a man to be a son. Their enthusiasm has now probably recognizes that, first of all, a man to be a good playmaker must be born with the simmered down. There is nothing like dramatic instinct, as a poet must be with the poetic.

Once only has M. Sardou overreached himself in the marvelous faculty which he has for setting a dramatic picture on the stage, and that was in his historical drama, "La Haine," by men like Dumas considered his masterpiece, and which failed because it was quite smothered in staging and lost sight of behind its own splendid

In the preface of "La Haine" Sardou first told the world how he conceived and worked out a play. "The process is invariable," he said. "It never appeared otherwise than as a sort of philosophic common cough. "It's a little cold," they equation from which the unknown quane, Pope's Hill.

That was written many years ago and before Sardou worked out his greatest suc ess, and while in no way may his formula have changed he has certainly developed it greatly. His first move is still to think out a situation in which a woman would appear effective, to imagine her under the influence of some telling emotion suitable for dramatic presentation. His next is to conceive some incident that would permit of her being in that situation and giving vent to the desired emotion or some complication of emotions that appear to him worth an actress' labor to portray. Almost without exception it will be noted that in developing the play he takes his place by the woman and works from that point. Almost universally it is the woman's character that develops with the plot of the play, men, like the setting, being but a background for her acting or the impulses that bring about the required dramatic emotion which is expected to sorely move the audience. In the selection of his emotion Sardou has a wonderfully fertile imagination, and it must be owned that he is my boy.'

rather than people, he proceeds to select an attractive background for his story. He selects time, place and people, and that done the rest is something like a mathematical problem for him, for he proceeds to open an elaborate ledger account with the play, and in that notes down the material he collects for it. is at work most interesting. In Sardou's plays the dialogues are the very last thing done, and to him evidently the least important, for many men can write a good dialogue who have not the very least skill in constructing a play. The actual writing of "Gismonda" occ pied but three months. It was begun last June and finished in September and was written at his country place, Marly-le-Roi. No wonder Sardou is wealthy. Fanny Davenport alone has paid him in ten years over $75,000 in royalties. Miss Davenport's relations with Sardou are most cordial. They have had long correspondences, and the American actress has made many suggestions that the Frenchman has accepted. The title of 'Gismonda'' is hers, for example. Sardou originally called it "The Duchess of Athens," and Bernhardt liked that title. Miss Davenport is superstitious. She had been very successful with "Fedora," "La Tos-" "Cleopatra," and she wanted to keep to that final A. She wrote Sardou so, and he fell right in with the superstition and changed the name for her.

The attempt to assassinate the representative of the Emperor of China caused the most intense excitement, and on every side there were expressions of deep regret. The would-be murderer was arrested. It is believed that he was prompted to the

The opinion here is that the Japanese will suffer greatly as a consequence of the assault, and that the position of China will be so strengthened that she may be able to secure better terms of peace than she could otherwise have hoped for. The so satisfactorily, or at least may postpone Vivian Burnett, made famous as the further action in this direction until China's envoy and made proper reparation. A recent parallel case was the attack made by Count Fuenettes of the Spanish

So seriously did the Spanish government regard the incident that Prime Minister Sagasta telegraphed a full explanation. coupled with expressions of profound re gret to all the European courts. General Fuenettes barely escaped being shot, and will probably be confined for life in one of the fortresses of the country. The Moorish ambassador took advantage of the incident to press for further delay, and secured it with little trouble.

No news on the subject of the attack upon Li Hung Chang has been received by the Japanese legation here, and Minis ter Kurina was unwilling to discuss the occurrence. The members of the legation realize that it is a serious matter, but hope that the first report may prove to be exaggerated. They say no one will deplore such an affair more than the Japanese themselves. The Chinese legation received prompt

PERILOUS JOURNEY HAS BEGUN

By Canada's Endorsement of Sectarian Schools.

WINNIPEG, March 26.—The remedial order of the governor general in council calling upon the government of Manitoba to restore to the Roman Catholics their parochial or separate schools reached the city yesterday. It was addressed to the lieutenant governor, and by him to the legislature, which was sitting in readiness to receive it. The legislature was crowded with an intensely earnest gathering when the important document was delivered. It was voluminous, and reviewed all the evidence taken before the privy council of England, which body declared that the Catholics of Manitoba had a grievance, and that the governor general in council had the power and the authority to grant redress by a

The tenor and language of the order leave no opening for compromise. It is a mmand to Manitoba to submit, and plainly says that if the legislature does not obey, the governor general, or, more accurately speaking, the Dominion govrument, will enforce its authority.

No definite action was taken last night. After the order had been read it was laid on the table for further consideration. That the order will be rejected may be taken for certain. Of the 40 members of the legislature only four or five will vote against the rejection, these four or five being Catholics and representing purely

The Milk In the Cocoanut, Premier Greenway, being interviewed, said: "We earnestly desire to act with the constitution, but let all people know that this trouble is not of our own mak-ing. We claim the right to make our own laws, and this right we will not give up without a struggle. The governor gen-eral's order will be rejected in its entirety. "A long step will then have to be made in the perilous journey upon which the government at Ottawa has set out. The Dominion parliament will then be armed with to think once, think twice, think thrice, before coercing a loyal and law-abiding

A Successor to Greenway. A sensational feature of the trouble was the announcement that the Dominion cabinet, which has just passed the remedial order, had appointed one of its own members, J. C. Paterson, minister of militia, to take the place of Premier Greenway. This change is believed by the Manitoba government to mean that the Dominion authorities want a man as governor more pliable to their wishes and who will unhesitatingly carry out their mandate.

Manitoba has always contended that its governor should be a Manitoba citizen, and this unlooked for action has only added fury to the flames. Hugh McDon-ald, son of the late Canadian premier, Sir John, publishes an appeal for moderation, and points out the danger of the situation. He pleads that conflicts be avoided and peace restored by some form of compromise. It is the first appeal of the dead premier's son to be unheeded. The temper of the people of Manitoba is now such that only a courageous man would suggest compromise.

The Remedial Order forwarded by the Dominion government requests that the Manitoba government re-enact the school law of 1890, abolishing the Roman Catholic schools, and that they

8. The right of exemption of Roman Catholic schools from all payment or contribution to the support of any other schools.

When He Referred to His "Master," William I.

BERLIN, March 26 .- Three special trains, having on board members of the reichstag and of the Prussian diet, left for Friedrichsruhe yesterday and were re ceived at the railroad station there by Count Herbert Bismarck, Count William Bis-marck, Count von Rantzau, husband of Prince Bismarck's daughter, and Count von Waldersee.

The deputations at once proceeded to Bismarck's castle. Upon reaching the garden the guests proceeded to the rear of the house, where there is a wide, square of the building, which was shadowed by the trees of the Sachenswald, through which the sun was glinting.

Prince Bismarck, accompanied by his sons, his daughter and his son-in-law, all In deep mourning, appeared on the tertace and were received with loud cheers by the visitors massed below.

The prince thanked the deputation for their visit, and said that the Sachenswald had never before seen such a notable com pany. He regarded the demonstration which personally he had not deservedcries of "Yes"-as being made "in behalf

When the cheering had subsided, spokes men from the several branches of the egislature made speeches, briefly conveying their fervent hope that Prince Bis marck would long be spared to enjoy his well-earned repose. Each speaker paid an eloquent tribute to the greatness and en during character of the great German statesman's life work.

Prince Bismarck listened attentively to the speeches, leaning against the gable o the house, and bowing and touching his helmet to each round of applause. When the addresses were over, Prince Bismarck standing close to the stone balustrade spoke for nearly 20 minutes with wonderful animation. The self-deprecatory re marks with which he began were answered with loud cries of "Nein.

A POSTPONEMENT.

Difficulties Prevented th Launching of the Great St. Paul. PHILADELPHIA, March 26. - The big American liner St. Paul was not launched yesterday. At the 11th hour she disappointed her owners and the vast multitude of humanity waiting to witness her initial dip by refusing to budge an inch from the ways. An investigation showed that the tallow with which the ways had been greased had caked to the consistency of flint, and, instead of assisting in sliding the boat off, ather retarded its movements. Before the launch was abandoned, jack were resorted to, but without success.

Then a line of hose was turned on the ways in the hope of loosening the tallow but this, too, failed. Then the St. Pau threw a hawser and the city iceboat took it up. Four tugs got on the other side of the iceboat and they all pulled together. But the big steamer did not move, and every effort failed.

The ship by evening had been rebased and the ways will be rebuilt, when she will again be ready to go off. Everybody seemed to take the disappointment in a good-natured way, and while the expected speeches were not delivered at the luncheon which followed, there was no lack of dvantages and Drawbacks of a Recent Contrivance In a Gotham Building. The new Postal Telegraph building at Broadway and Murray street has a patent revolving storm door, which, the inventor says, is the first of its kind instile. There are four doors, in fact, each of them bound with rubber weather straps. The person entering the building pushes against the wing on the right, and pushes against the wing on the right, and the contrivance begins to revolve. Property of Japanese.

KOBE, March 26.-Li Hung Chang is face, inflicted by Koyama Rokunosuki. The would be assassin is reported to be a ATLANTIC - Brancheid's News Agency lunatic. He has a criminal record and has served a term of imprisonment.

Prince Li's advanced age, and several constitutional disorders which make him almost an invalid, however, may aggravate an otherwise harmless wound. On his arrival at Shimonoseki, Li was too sick to leave the ship that brought him. He has to be carried about, this being a necessity in his case as well as an honor due his rank.

The offender probably will be charged with treason, as the assault is not only against the person of Li Hung Chang, but also against the Japanese government. It is probable also that the trial will be by court-martial. If the martial law existing Hiroshima has been extended to Shimonoseki, conviction by court-martial would mean that the offender would be shot, while hanging would be the penalty if a civil court convicted him, that form of capital punishment having been substi-

bullet, which lies under his left eye. He sleeps well. The Empress of Japan sent two nurses to attend him. Letters and telegrams expressing regret and sympathy are pouring in from all directions. Torpedoes For Japs.

Washington, March 26 -Dr. Guzman, the Nicaraguan minister, was at the state department yesterday, although it was not diplomatic day, and the inference is that he was consulting Secretary Gresham respecting the British ultimatum.

It is evident that the state department is deeply concerned in the matter, and a statement from Ambassador Bayard ex-None of Her Soil Will Become plaining the purposes of Great Britain is anxiously looked for. It is now recalled that when Mr. Bayard last year, at the time of the Bluefields trouble, secured from the British government an assurance that it had no desire to interfere with the politics of Nicaragua, it was distinctly making good progress toward recovery stated that Great Britain reserved the from the effects of the bullet wound in his | right to secure redress for the oppression of British subjects.

Not much heed was given to this qualification last year, but it appears to have assumed an importance as large as the original issue, namely, the right of Great Britain to assert a protectorate over the

As for the British ultimatum, it is not likely that our government can object to the creation of a commission of fair complexion to ascertain and fix damages sustained by British subjects in Nicaragua, and the issue appears to have narrowed lown to the demand of an indemnity of $75,000 for the expulsion of Mr. Hatch, the British consular agent at Bluefields.

NASHUA BANK CLOSED.

stances Crippled Its Business.

Expressed Desire to Go Into Voluntary Liquidation.

Depositors Will Lose Nothing if Leniency Is Shown Toward Bank Officials.

NASHUA, March 27 .- The Nashua Savings bank closed its doors yesterday, an injunction having been issued against it on application of the bank examiner. Several reasons are given for this proceeding, the principal one being the very large falling off in deposits, thereby compelling the bank to sell its securities to meet the calls until a point was reached at which the principal of all other depositors would be imperilled if the forced sale continued. The officials claim to be able to pay all depositors in full.

News of the suspension of the bank spread quickly and caused great excitement throughout the city, although among many financiers something of the sort has been anticipated for some time This feeling extended to the depositors of the bank, and since Jan. 1 more than $150,000 has been paid them, while notices of withdrawal for April amount to $100,000

The treasurer, V. C. Gilman, summed up the situation as follows: "The bank asked the commissioner to consider the question of voluntary liquidation. The reasons for such a course are continued adverse legislation, compelling the banks to reduce the rate of interest to $ per cent, which caused and continues to cause large withdrawals; the panic of '93, which filled all timid depositors with alarm and led to the withdrawal o all they could get under the rules; continued business depression, necessitating withdrawals of large sums for legitimate use and the loss of three successive crops at the west, so that the farmers had nothing to sell, and therefore could not pay the interest on their mortgage loans not their notes at the local banks, and the banks in turn had to suspend unless help was furnished.

Although nearly $3,000,000 is involved, the officials claim that they will be able to pay dollar for dollar, and it is generally elieved that the assets are sufficient to pay the depositors in full, if time is allowed to convert them to best advantage and losses do not occur.

The last statement of the bank Jan. 1, 1895, shows the amount due dedue other banks, $80,000. The market value of the asse s was figured at $2,925,-721.83, with a par value of $3,002,265.28; of he latter amount $616,075.02 was in western investments.

At the Campbell mills the dissatisfied weavers ters of separate schools), while not unexters of separate schools), while not unexpected, has created great excitement in official circles. It is admitted that the situation is pregnant with critical possibilities, and that much depends upon the action of the Dominion government. It is, of course, possible that the Manitoba legislature may shelve the question for a year, in which event the present Dominion government would be relieved of the necessity of action for that length the particulars act as now framed, thus of time, and the federal parliament has no prisdiction till the government of the province acts, or refuses to act, on the remedial order. ### the people of Manitoba. The Feeling In Manitoba.

The first step in the renewed fight over the parochial schools began in the Manitoba legislature yesterday afternoon, when the full message was presented from the Dominion government, ordering the Man-itoba legislature to give the Catholics their rights as they existed before the abolition of the parochial schools in 1890. The reading of the Ottawa message oo cupied over an hour, and all verbiage removed, it amounts to the request as above stated. Mr. Martin, a French Catholic member of the legislature, urged that the government should take immediate action, but Premier Greenway protested, saying that the message should be printed in order that all members might know what they were dealing with. Here the matter rested.

Meanwhile the situation grows more complicated. The Catholics and their friends say that Greenway and his followers-if they reject the order from Ottawa-DOVER, March 27.-Rufus Haley died are rejecting a document ordered and would be equivalent to open rebellion. They say they cannot conceive how the Dominion government could do otherwise than make the formal request they have made, as they are bound to take imme diate action upon the decision of the high est court, and see that the grievances of being urged to go to Bermuda, but he re- Catholic faith in Manitoba received re dress at the earliest possible moment.

TEAMOH'S SOUTHERN TRIP. His Colored Brethren Do Not Regard it Is a Very Complimentary Light

Boston, March 27. - Three hundred members of the Colored National league met last night and adopted resolutions condemning the legislative committee on mercantile affairs, of which Robert T. Teamoh is a member, for its alleged discrimination against Teamoh on account of his color. Teamoh himself was also made the subject of very sharp criticism SRRING AIR BRINGS OUT BUDS for signing a paper exonerating the com-mittee after their treatment of him.

Ex-Representative Smith was one of the principal speakers. He declared that Teamoh was the Judas of his race, and referred to him as a poodle who sneaked along under the wing of the committee, and accepted an insult which retarded the advancement of his race by at least 25 years. The speech created great excite-

Rev. W. H. Scott and Hon. W. H. Walker in impassioned speeches condemned the committee generally, but Teamoh particularly for his acceptance of the insult to their race. Speakers, in at-tempting to defend Teamoh's actions in suffering the alleged insult at Richmond, were loudly hissed.

Teamoh himself appeared toward the close of the meeting, and in a speech stated that the reports of his reception by Governor O'Ferrell sent north were written by a prejudiced reporter to excite contention among the colored people of the north. He referred to his past record, which had often been approved by the league.

Instructions have been given to Li Hung Chang ordering him to oppose any demand for the cession of territory on the Liao-Tung peninsula. As a last resort he may suggest the conversion of the peninsula into a buffer state between Corea

Officer Had to Skedaddle.

VIENNA, March 27 .- In the lower house of the Hungarian diet a returning officer connected with a recent election scandal appeared in the gallery. The members of the Opposition rose in a body and shouted: "Expel him;" "Remove the scoundrel!" "To the gallows with him!" "To the pillory with him!' at the same time beating upon their desks. The uproar was terrific. The president of the chamber tried to pacify the excited members, but found it impossible, until he compelled the obnoxious officer to withdraw.

Another Shortage Discovered.

CHICAGO, March 27 .- Another large shortage in the accounts of the Whisky trust has been discovered. Between $350. 000 and $450,000, which was paid to the old management as rebates on freight was not entered on the books. Positive evidence has been secured that the money found its way into the treasury of the trust, but the experts at work on the books have not been able to find any trace of it on the books.

Young girls are subject to this trouble. It robs them of the buoyancy of youth. It makes all effort distasteful.

It causes retention and suppression of menses, leucorrhœa, severe headache, waxy complexion, depression, weakness, loss of appetite and interest. Certainly mothers ought to know that these are all symptoms of the one cause of nearly all the suffering that comes to women; and to save their daughters ought to begin treatment at once. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the surest and most natural remedy for women ever compounded. It will accomplish its work with certainty.

Two Giants. A mighty giant once there was,

A gentle giant he, Whom all men loved where'er he went, And none was known to flee He lived within a castle fair, And great was he and strong, And those who passed when he and those who passed when he was there Could hear a happy song. His heart was kind, his hand was free, His soul was set to mirth, And all men said, "'Tis joy to live With him upon the earth."

His face was bright with pleasant smiles, His laugh was good to hear, While round about him everywhere 'Twas summer all the year.

Swift flew the time; the giant grew Full old and weak of frame; One day unto his castle fair Another giant came.

And as the gentle giant waned
The other waxed in might;
A man of solemn mien was he, Nor glad unto the sight. The castle old grew silent, cold,

Nor any mirth came out,

And where the summer long had smiled
The winter stalked about. And all men passed another way Whenever that they could; They dreaded him as they had loved

The merry giant good. No song was ever on his lips: His eyes were hollow lights; The castle seemed a haunted pile

And dark and chill o' nights. And round about it rose the wave, And, lo! an island, where

The gloomy giant dwelt alone, The picture of despair. And those who knew the giant twain The truth with tears confess—
"They brothers were, and one was Grief, And one was Happiness."

That evening Bloncourt, the son, was to make his first appearance on the stage in "Chatterton." The piece, TLANTIC - Brancheid's News Agency which, though not forgotten, had dropped out of sight and for some years had filled a narrower sphere in the quiet appreciation of home reading, now excited, on its first night, almost the interest that a great novelty might. Those who were familiar with it without having seen it played were curious to assist at its interpretation-a process in which certain beauties of a work, especially the most subtle points, disappear, are scattered, volatilized, as one may say, in the heat of the footlights, while others burst unexpectedly into view through the medium of voice and gesture.

Those who had been present at former performances of the piece were happy to bring back again two hours of their thought they were going to hiss when youth and to glow once more with the warmth of their first artistic emotion. The ceremonies attending the visit of the emperor to the great chancellor, though marred by showers of rain, were brilliant and imposing. When the emperor arrived at the point of assemblage of the troops from Aumuhle railroad station, he found drawn up ready for his inspection a squadron of the Halberstadt Cuirassiers, a regiment of infantry and a squadron of hussars, all with colors flying, with their regimental bands in attendance, and a battery of the Holstein artillery regiment.

With the emperor at its head, this force was marched to an open space in Prince Bismarck's park, and upon arrival there the troops were deployed in parade order. Owing to the dense foliage of the trees in the park and neighborhood the troops were not seen until they actually emerged

Upon the Parade Ground. The crown prince and his suite had, in the meantime, walked to the parade ground, and as the emperor appeared on one side Prince Bismarck's carriage emerged upon the ground from the other side. The prince wore the uniform of the Halberstadt Cuirassiers.

When the emperor caught sight of the prince he spurred his horse forward, and rode at a fast canter to the carriage of the veteran statesman and soldier and shook hands with him. The emperor then presented the crown prince and his suite to Prince Bismarck. The latter took the young prince into his carriage, and, with the emperor riding behind it, and General von Waldersee walking beside it, the carriage was driven down the lines of soldiers, the officers saluting, the troops pre senting arms and the bands playing patriotic airs, as the prince and emperor

Prince Bismarck, who was deeply moved, then reseated himself in his carriage, and the emperor ordered the troops to march past the prince's carriage, and the great chancellor returned the salutes of the troops with evident pleasure. At the end of this ceremony Prince Bismarck thanked the emperor for his kindness and courtesy Paris. The old comedian was leaning and kissed his majesty's hand. After this the prince returned to the

From that spot, when the signal was given that the emperor proposed the health of Prince Bismarck, the artillery fired a salute. After the review, Prince Bismarck was joined by his sons, Count Herbert and Count William, and by Count and Countess Rantzau, Dr. Schweininger and others of the household who witnessed the presentation. The emperor in his speech spoke loudly and clearly, and when he handed the sword of honor to Prince Bismarck, the latter threw aside his cloak and stood "attention" in the rain. It was then seen that he wore the broad yellow ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle. When the emperor called for cheers for Prince Bismarck at the conclusion of the ceremonies, it was responded to unaninously by the troops and people. The imperial train started from here on ts return to Berlin at 3:27 p. m. # LANGDON WARD DEAD.

Faithful Treasurer of the American Board of Foreign Missions.

Connected With the Organization For Forty Years.

The Better Part of His Life Devoted to Incessant and Arduous Labor.

NEWTON, Merch 28.-Langdon S. Ward, during 80 years the treasurer of the American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions, died at his home here last night. Mr. Ward was born in Sace, Me., May 25, 1828. His father was a lawyer, and for a long time deputy collector and inspector of revenue. In, his early life Mr. Ward was connected with a commercial agency in Boston, and was afterward a clerk in the office of the American Missionary association in New York city.
On Aug. 1, 1854, when James M. Gordon was treasurer of the American board, Mr. Ward became his head clerk, and on Mr. Gordon's retirement in 1865 Mr. Ward was made treasurer, holding the office until the time of his death. He has, therefore, for over 40 years been connected with the American board, fulfilling the duties of his office with great ability and devo-

His labors have been incessant and arduous, calling for great business ability and good judgment. He has so managed the affairs of the board that the conduct of its business has been a subject of universal commendation, and the credit of the organization has stood high in all parts of the world.

Mr. Ward was a deacon of the Mt. Vernon church, Boston, for 25 years, subsequently removing to Brookline and afterward to Newton Center, where he had lived for the past 12 years. At the time of his death he was a deacon in the First church at Newton Center and a teacher in the Sabbath school.

Mr. Ward was twice married. His second wife, who survives him, is the daughter of Rev. Dr. Edwin Bliss, long a missionary of the American board at Constantinople. Nine of his children are still living.

Headed Off by Manufacturers.

PROVIDENCE, March 28 .- All danger of strike in textile industries of Rhode Island is over for the present, owing to a emarkable move on the part of the Rhode Island Manufacturers' club. Operatives in every mill yesterday found a notice posted stating that the manufacturers yould close their factories April 8 for an indefinite period or until the operatives were ready to accept the existing terms. unless they ceased their threatening talk. The notices caused a sensation, and the union officials decided to declare the back. The strike at the Manton mill was also declared off, and Proprietor Kimball's offer was accepted.

Public Spirited Women.

LYNN, March 28 .- By the will of the late Mary Shute the city of Lynn was bequeathed about $100,000 for a new public library building. With its existing indebtedness the city could not legally raise $20,000, the estimated cost of a lot. The foremost women of the city have signified their intention of raising the necessary amount to purchase the lot by public entertainments and private subscription.

They stated that the seaman was John Lowe, aged 85, a resident of Leeds, who had shipped at Cardiff. On the night of March 18, the crew went ashore for a stroll and walked up from where the vessel was lying to the town of St. Jago, a short distance away. The boatswain, Lowe and another seaman were of the party, and, after a walk about the town.

started to return to the ship. When nearly there, Lowe determined to return to the town, and started back in company with a Cuban negro. En route they had to pass a Cuban fort garrisoned by Spanish troops. Suddenly a sentinel sprang out of the darkness as they neared the fort, and in Spanish commanded them to halt. Lowe did not understand the command and started to hurry away. The next instant the sentinel raised his musket and fired. Lowe dropped to his knees and rolled over a corpse. The negro then started to run, when he, too, was shot and mortally wounded. The dead man and the wounded negro were carried inside the fort. At daybreak Captain Gavin of the Laurestina went to the fort and demanded the body of the man. The demand was refused and he has made formal complaint to the British government. An investigation is to be

"I am tired of life because I am suffering from consumption. I would try to work but it is useless while I have no hope of getting better." What a commentary on our boasted civil ization! A poor wretch, suffering from what he supposed was an incurable disease snuffs out his flickering life with a bullet Where did he get the idea that his disease was incurable? From an old-time theory which modern investigation has exploded Many diseases may be considered incurable, but that does not make them so. During the past few years scientists have discovered, in the tuberculosis germs, the cause of consumption. Their investigations have found a cure for the malady, in Ozone and Guaiacol. These agents de stroy the germs which produce the disease Compounded with pure Cod Liver Oil, the form Ozomulsion, which is sold by all Drug gists. This remedy cures consumption and all lung troubles. It first destroys the cause of disease—the poisonous germs which produce it—and then restores the patient to perfect the patient to perfect the patient of the perfect that the perfect the perfect that fect health. The Ozone and Guaiacol kill the germs. The Cod Liver Oil provides the flesh and strength. That is the principle on which this medicine works. of Church and State. WINNIPEG, March 28.-The remedial order on separate schools does not come up in the legislature until tonight. Both the government and Opposition are WOLLASTON-Ross' news stand and holding frequent caucus meetings, and the Manitoban government will resent interference by Ottawa on educational matters. There is every indication that the policy of the Opposition in the legislature will be to advocate some modifications to of compromise. The Opposition of Premier Greenway and the government is clearly outlined. The newspaper organ of the government has this official statement under the heading "Manitoba's Answer."

Plain Language. The remedial order has been read in the legislature. We are asked to restore the school system that was in operation previous to 1890. Let Quebec and Ottawa rest assured that the restoration will never be made. Manitoba has by no means the most worthy.

As a civilized people, attempting to realize in a measure the idols of the 19th century, Manitobans will not silently submit to the preposterous demand that she should turn back the wheels of progress 300 years. She will stubbornly refuse to supplant modern civiliza-tion by mediævalism. This whole question is not a quarrel between Manitoba and the Dominion. It is not even a quarrel between creeds and races. It is a struggle as to whether the ideas of the 19th century or the ideas of the Dark Ages shall prevail.

The act of 1890 was designed to give to every church in the land the benefits of common school education. It recognizes neither class nor creed, but places all on the same level of citizenship. It aimed at development in this noble country, a unity of sentiment, a strong anything be more wise? Could anything be

Yet what was the attitude of the Roman Catholic church? Standing aside, wrapped up in its black mantle of arrogance, it demanded that it should be considered a religious aris tocracy. It refused to have the children of its members receive instructions side by side with the children of those who are their superiors in intelligence and wisdom.

And on what grounds? It said Catholics were promised different treatment from others by the act that called the province into existence Then when shown that even if this were true, which it is not no just citizen would claim a fulfilment of the promise, since it would violate one of the foundation principles of state Equal Rights to All.

It gave a second reason that the public schools are Protestant. If the refusal of a Roman Catholic to act as a member of the de-partment of education and of the archbishop to act as a member of the advisory board could make the schools Protestant, then they are so; otherwise, not a shadow of proof has been ad-

Strongly Endorsed by Representatives of the Bay State.

It Blends Prohibition, Restriction and No License.

A Method Calculated to Extinguish the Present Type of Saloons.

Boston, March 29.-A largely attended meeting in the interest of the Norwegian bill was held at the new Old South church last night. Hon. George F. Hoar presided. Senator Lodge sent his regrets from Washington and a letter strongly endorsing the movement, and letters were read from ex-Governor Brackett, ex-Lieutenant Governor Haile and Robert Treat Paine strongly favoring the bill.

Senator Hoar briefly reviewed the history of the temperance movement from the start; showed how it had failed in the cities, and how Massachusetts is becoming to remove from the drink habit, where it must exist, its siren power to lure men to ruin. He sketched the glory of the ideal city, but said that the city with rum shops at nearly every door, as in parts of Boston, high license system is one of rewards for heavy sales and violations of law. This system sweeps these rewards on. This trial has been successful. He contrasted the authorities for the system with those how neither love (as in that movement) nor law (as since) has succeeded, and showed how this is an experiment mediating between these, and having the chance of saving many persons from drink. Dean Hodges said that present methods attack the drink traffic with open and extended figures, rather than with a compact fist; that this system, in blending prohibition, no license and restriction, constitutes such a fist, and showed how in it and use it for their ends.

Mrs. Mary A. Livermore believed in the system as extinguishing the present type of saloon; deprecated the division of tem-perance forces; said it was, in this case, because people do not get the matter fairly into their heads; showed how, in the same way, earlier, some persons opposed no license as savoring of somelicense, and termines right in this case. Capen's Comparisons.

Samuel B. Capen said that water is to be used to put out this fire, that is, prohibition; but that it keeps burning, notprivate profits is continually put into the fire from behind. This system cuts off the oil and gives the water of prohibition a chance. To turn the hose on those cutting off the oil was a false act.

Rev. J. N. Brandelle said that Scandinavian protests against the system do not represent the best judgment; that the system greatly furthers temperance and

Mrs. Julia W. Howe was impressed by the testimony for the system; felt that its ethics were more just than those of the current methods, and saw in the system a way to overthrow the present saloon sys-

Custis Guild, Jr., likened the refusal to a city like Springfield the privilege of substituting a better license system for the present abominable one to forcing the pium traffic on China by England. George A. Denison of Springfield pleaded for that city being given the chance to exclude saloon politics and to cut down drinking. Dr. Alexander McKenzie said if people would think clearly they would not oppose the bill. It does not set up license; it is not like the Norwegian system; it is was the duty of all friends of temperance.

Forty Years of Service as Teacher Completed Today

BY MISS JULIA E. UNDERWOOD

Many Surprises in Store Yester day for the Successful Teacher.

Thursday was a day of surprises for Miss Julia E. Underwood, Quincy's most successful teacher, the events commemorate ing a remarkable record of forty years service completed today as a primary teacher in the Quincy public schools.

Miss Dearborn and the teachers at the Coddington planned surprise No. 1 and the children have been happy for some days in anticipation of a pleasant occasion. Thursday afternoon all the grades assembled in the connecting rooms of two upper grades resentations were the main feature. Three | week: children presented a beautiful willow rocker, three more a five dollar gold piece and three more a choice bouquet. Penny contributions of the children had secured hall on Saturday evening. Gents, 35 cents; all these and they were so happy over the event, that it was a very enjoyable occasion to all, and Miss Underwood thoroughly appreciated it.

At the Teachers' Mee ing. Thursday evening the regular meeting o the Teachers' association was held, and it parents and the support of the School Board. The Christian Endeavors of Norfolk was a notably gathering. Besides the the teachers of the Woodward Institute, Adams Academy, members of the School

Who was on the School Committee when Miss Underwood was first engaged, was first introduced. He told his old friends and young friends that it gave him great pleasure to be present on this occasion. Little did 1 think 40 years ago that a young slim girl would be so successful. Little did I think that she and I would be here tonight on such an occasion. Little did she think how I pitied her. How so young a girl was to be sacrificed. But she succeeded from the start as a quotation from the first report shows, a report which I wrote and therefore must be true.

Mr. George L. Gill and I are the only survivors of the board of 1855. Little did we think then that we were selecting a teacher for a half century.

In 1855 we feared Miss Underwood was too young, and when Col. Parker came in 1875 some feared she was too old, and doubted if she would adopt the "new fangled ideas." But she did and is as successful as of old, and has the same smiling face as in old lyceum.

Emery L. Crane, Chairman of the School Committee, followed, adding his congratulations and tesostensibly to sing "America" and hold tifying to her merit. He then read and patriotic exercises. Miss Underwood soon presented these resolutions adopted by the learned the import, however, for three School Committee at their meeting this WHEREAS,-Miss Julia E. Underwood has been a teacher in the Coddington school for forty years, therefore the School Committee, being desirous of expressing their approbation and good will after so many years of devoted work, spread upor their records the following resolution: Resolved, -- That the School Committee tender to Miss Underwood their best wishes and esteem and congratulate her

Sub-Committeeman at the Coddington spoke from a personal recollection of Mis-Underwood from childhood. We were old neighbors and I was twelve at the time of her appointment. Quincy has grown from 5,000 to over 20,000, from town to city, but she continued to take each new class with the same interest as ever, and to mould their future, and the pupils remember her as a fine, moral, pleasant woman. Think of it, two thousand pupils sent forth. There was hardly another record like it in the State. We should be proud to think such a woman was still in our schools. He congratulated her on her long service. Col. Francis W. Parker Sent regrets from Englewood, Ill., and

If you examine the records of the School Board you will find this statement: Miss Julia E. Underwood "was examined and found qualified for primary school No. 2." The date is April 3, 1855, and the secretary was Edwin W. Marsh. In the report of 1855-56, Miss Underwood's name appears to the first time with a fact of the first time with the first time with the first time with a fact of the first time with for the first time with a flock of 43 children, the future of the Republic is safe.

> Of all the callings in the world The teachers' is the best And one who's taught for forty years Earns honor from the rest.

And honor she shall have, my friends, In measure full to-night: All honor to her forty years Devotion to the right!

Call not those great who rise to fame By tyrant's cruel art; I call her greatest who best holds The key to childhood's heart.

And she has always held that key So sing her praise tonight! All honor to her forty years Devotion to the right!

Talk not to me of flower or gem. Or stars that flash above,-There is no star, no gem, no flower, So rich as childhood's love.

And she has always had it, friends Ours, too, she has tonight: All honor to her forty years Devotion to the right!

Manitoban Legislature Adiourns Until May 9

That Statesmen May Give Due Consideration to the Vexatious Matter.

WINNIPEG, March 29 .- Sir Charles Tupschools' remedial order is the subject of much comment here. Briefly stated, Sir Charles Tupper's contention was that the Dominion government should have gone to the country on The government has already opened nication with certain eminent constitutional lawyers, and has submitted to them for their advice some of the chief points affecting the jurisdiction of the legislature. The opinions of these gentlemen will doubtless have a bearing on the policy to be adopted by the government before the house reassembles in May. Will Hold Its Ground. Premier Green way made an official statement to the Manitoba legislature late yesterday afternoon on the separate or parochial school question. He stated that his government saw no reason whatever why it should change its position in regard to the school system of Manitoba, viz.: National schools for all and no eparate schools. The receipt of the message from Ottawa, with a copy of the remedial order made by the Dominion government, raised constitutional questions exceeding in gravity and importance, to his mind, any constitutional question that has heretofore arisen in any legislative assembly in Canada since the day the Canadian provinces were federated. These questions affected not only the province of Manitoba, but every province in the Dominion of Canada. In view of these facts, the government had decided to ask that the legislature adjourn till May 9, in order that ample time may be given for full and deliberate consideration of the whole matter. The premier's remarks were received with cheers, and the motion to adjourn was agreed to.

The Catholics charge that this is an at tempt to shirk the issue, but it is denied by the government. They say that the order from Ottawa is an unprecedented one and must be well weighed, or there is dan-

Disruption of Confederation.

The premier was asked whether the Dominion government would be likely to Christian citizens. take this proposed adjournment of the local house as a refusal on the part of the province to act in the matter of the order. He replied that no such construction could be put upon the adjournment, inasmuch as the provincial government was taking the order into consideration. There was no likelihood that the Dominion government, having a clear three weeks of session before the provincial house meets again and sends its answer, will act in chamber. the matter before hearing from Manitoba.

"You can depend upon it," said another minister, "that the Dominion government is not going to touch this school question any sooner than it has to. The important point in the matter is whether the reply of the provincial house will or will not be | is believed that the intent of the senate final, and whether the action of the Do. has not been balked, and that an early government will or will not be final. Of course, the Dominion government will not act until the reply from Manitoba is received. It is not a question to hurry over."

> Memorial For Rev. Dr. Gordon. At the first meeting after the death of their beloved pastor, Rev. A. J. Gordon, D. D., his Christian Endeavor society decided, upon the recommendation of their foreign missionary committeefor the society has two missionary committees, home and foreign-to attempt to raise $200 as the nucleus of a special memorial fund to Dr. Gordon. This was to be in addition to the $600 already pledged for the support of their missionaries. None but the young people was present in the room, and vet at once more than $400 was raised for this purpose. A debt of $200,000 rests heavily upon the American Baptist Missionary union. It is the splendid purpose of these Endeavorers of the Clarendon Street Baptist church of Boston to arouse the Baptist young people of the land to pay off this debt. They hope their $425, which will doubtless soon become $500, will be added to by every Baptist young people's society in the United States, in proportion as God has blessed the members. In no better way could they honor the memory of the noble Christian minister and missionary worker who has gone. It is not too much to hope that with the earnest and prompt co-operation of all Baptist young people even so large a sum as $200,000 can speedily be raised. Were all the societies to do only a tenth as well as Dr. Gordon's Endeavorers, the Murderer Attempted to Take His Own Life and May Die of Wounds.

SPRINGFIELD, March 30 .- One of the most brutal crimes that has been committed in this vicinity for years occurred yesterday afternoon, when James Mc-Bride, a stonecutter, shot and instantly killed Mrs. Julia Rockford, aged 31, a widow, living with her six small children in a one-story wooden hut at Sixteen Acres, a settlement about four miles north of this city. The murderer sent two shots into his victim's brain, then coolly walked over to his boarding house, half a mile distant, and informed Mrs. Cormey of his deed, saying: "You may have my trunk and what little money I have. I've got three sartridges in my hand, and I'm going out to kill myself."

He left the house, and the next seen of him he was lying unconscious in the rear police were speedily notified, and he was connected with a series of taken to the police station and later to the have occurred here lately.

telegram was yesterday afternoon received by the Japanese legation from the Japan-

"On the opening of the negotiations the Chinese plen potentiary proposed armistice, which the Japanese government was willing to accept on certain conditions. While this negotiation was going on, an untoward event happened on the person of the Chinese plenipotentiary. His majesty, the emperor, in view of this unhappy occurrence, commended the Japanese plen-ipotentiaries to consent to temporary armistice without conditions. This was communicated to the Chinese plenipoten-

China Asked For It First.

The armistice will be effective until the peace negotiations are concluded. After a meeting of the peace ambassadors had been decided on, China requested the declaration of an armistice, but this request had not been acted upon favorably by Japan. Japan had not been inclined to stop warlike operations, except on cer-tain conditions. These conditions are not known, but it is suggested that probably the occupation of Taku might have been one, Japan wishing this as a guarantee of the willingness and earnestness of the Chinese for an amicable settlement of the China evidently could not arrive at a conclusion to agree to the stipulations demanded by Japan, and the attempt on the life of the Chinese peace ambassador solved the problem for the time being, and hostilities will be suspended. There will be no withdrawal of the Japanese troops from Chinese territory, however. Military May Not Submit

The power of the Japanese government to execute the armistice will now be put to a critical test. The military power of Japan, in the judgment of intelligent observers, has almost outstripped the civil power during the war. This has caused serious concern, as it has been feared that the military element, backed by the war spirit among the people, would not submit to an armistice, even if the civil authorities ordered one. To meet this emergency a change of army commanders was recently made. There had been three army corps operating in different campaigns, and each under a general of supreme authority over his particular campaign. About thre weeks ago, in anticipation of the armis-tice, Prince Komatsee was created commander in chief of all the armies. The purpose of this step was to concentrate all the authority in one man in close touch with the imperial household, who could thus execute an armistice by a simultane ous cessation of hostilities by the three

It now remains to be seen whether Prince Komatsee can execute the imperial commission given to him. The splendid discipline shown by the army during the war gives assurance that there will be immediate acquiescence by the military, and Prince Komatsee has to content him self against a war spirit inflamed by many victories. It has been said that an armitice would be unpopular among the people and soldiery, and that it would assure the political retirement of Japan's two chie statesmen-Count Ito and Mr. Matsinwho have served as peace envoys.

The Chinese End of It. The declaration of an armistice wa most welcome news to the Chinese legation, although it was accepted with the stolid and passive dignity which is char acteristic of the race. The numerous suit of the legation, comprising many secreta Boston, March 30.—Thomas R. Two babes were born in the selfsame town On the very same bright day.

They laughed and cried in their mothers' arms In the very selfsame way.

And both were pure and innocent

As falling flakes of snow, But one of them lived in the terraced house And one in the street below. And the children both were fair,

But one had curls brushed smooth and ro The other had tangled hair. The children both grew up apace. As other children grow, But one of them lived in the terraced house And one in the street below.

Two maidens wrought in the selfsame town. And one was wedded and loved; The other saw through the curtains' part The world where her sister moved And one was smiling, a happy bride; The other knew care and woe, For one of them lived in the terraced house And one in the street below

Two women lay dead in the selfsame town And one had tender care; The other was left to die alone On her pallet all thin and bare And one had many to mourn her loss.

For the other few tears would flow. For one had lived in the terraced house And one in the street below

If Jesus, who died for the rich and poor, In wondrous holy love, Took both the sisters in his arms And carried them above, Then all the difference vanished quite,

For in heaven none would know Which of them lived in the terraced house And which in the street below.

Daily Dying.

The maple does not shed its leaves In one tempestuous scarlet rain, But softly, when the south wind grieves, Slow, wandering over wood and plain. One by one they waver through The Indian summer's hazy blue And drop at last on the forest mold, Coral and ruby and burning gold.

Our death is gradual like these: We die with every waning day. There is no waft of sorrow's breeze But bears some heart leaf slow away! Up and on to the vast To Be, Our life is going eternally! Less of life than we had last year

But the way to heaven is growing clear, And the gates of the city fairer shine, And the day that our latest treasures flee

Dun's Review. R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Hoisting of prices from the bottom seems measurably successful in leather and shoes. The combination of leather producers has been strong enough to resist prolonged delay in buying by shoe jobbers, and most of them have made contracts at part of the advance in prices demanded by shoe manufacturers, though their orders are as yet smaller than usual, while some heavy orders have been taken at old prices. Raw cotton has been hoisted until a stronger market for goods resulted with some advances in price.

$3.00 25c. a Number. For Sale Everywhere. immmi THE FORUM will take up for discussion, during 1895, an unusually wide range of timely and important topics by the most eminent writers in the fields of Politics, Finance, Sociology Literature, Religion, Art, and Science.

o read The Forum is to keep in touch with the best thought of the day.

To be without the Forum is to miss the best help to clear thinking.

A catalogue of the writers who have contributed articles to THE FORUM in the past would embrace practically every man of eminence in America, and in of those in Europe. A list of subjects treated would cover in the widest degree a topics of contemporaneous interest. THE FORUM is therefore of inestimable value to any one who desires to keep closely in touch with the best of current thought
